TEDDY'S MESSAGE LACKING IN RESPECT

Perkins Committee Will Ask That Portion be Laid on Table as It Reflects on Integrity of Members of House.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7.—As disrespectful and unresponsive to the enquiry of the house, the Perkins committee, when it reports to-morrow, will recommend that President Roosevelt's secret service message of Jan. 4 be laid on the table.

A similar request will be made for the tabling of that portion of the president's annual message relating to the secret service on the ground that it reflects upon the integrity of the members of the house.

The special committee concluded its consideration of the message to-day and drafted its report, which will be presented by Representative Perkins of New York. The unusual and extreme course advised by the committee—that of declining to consider any communication from any source which, in the judgment of the house, is not respectful—is likely to cause a sensation when it is read.

After setting forth the statement of the president that the house had failed to understand his message the report of the special committee says that the language is not respectful according to the accepted interpretation of the English language.

That the house is charged only with its responsibility to the people and to preserve its own dignity will be asserted with great force and if the report is adopted the house will be on its own capacity to understand the import of the president's language.

It will be asserted that the language in question was unparliamentary and without basis of fact, and that it constituted a breach of the privileges of the house.

For that reason the special committee will ask to be discharged from further consideration of that portion of the president's message which refers to the secret service and will recommend that it, together with the subsequent message of the president in reply to the house, be laid on the table as being unresponsive and constituting an evasion of the privileges of the house by questioning the motives and intelligence of members.

MILL OWNER VOTED "DRY" WATER SUPPLY CUT OFF

Knitting Company Compelled to Close Down When Hotelman Stopped Source of Power.

GLENCOE, Jan. 7.—(Special.)—The town of Glencoe failed to go "dry" as far as local option is concerned by the vote on Monday it went so "dry" as far as the Lewett Knitting Company is concerned that that industry had to cease running for a day or so and thereby hangs a tale which has caused considerable amusement in Glencoe.

The Lewett Company is an industry employing about 15 or 20 hands, which came to the town recently on the understanding that it was to be provided with free water. This stipulation was easily made good, for one of the hotelmen had a splendid well running a couple of hundred thousand gallons a day, and he offered water for milling purposes without money and without price.

The knitting company was running riotously when local option came on. The manager of the knitting company is a staunch temperance advocate and supported the "dry" vote, regardless of the fact that his factory was receiving its water supply from one of the men whom local option would put out of business. The hotelman took it as a joke at first, but finally told the knitting mill man that he would have to stop the water supply. The latter did look elsewhere, but looked in vain, and in the end the factory had to shut down.

By this time the town council got interested and sought to effect a settlement. Their efforts at first were futile, but the hotelman being of a genial and forgiving disposition, they succeeded in making an agreement whereby the water would again be supplied to the factory, which is once more running as usual.

Clear Case of Suicide.

THE LITTLE PATRIOT

The Makers of Canada. William Lyon Mackenzie, by Charles Lindsey, edited with numerous additions by G. G. S. Lindsey. Toronto, Morang & Co., Ltd., 1908.

The story of the Upper Canada Rebellion, largely derived from original sources and documents by John Charles Dent, Toronto, C. B. Robinson, 1885.

The Other Side of the Story, being some reviews criticising "The Story of the Upper Canada Rebellion." Also the letters in the Mackenzie-Rolph controversy and a critique on "the new story" by John King, Barrister. Toronto, 1886.

We have read Mr. George Lindsey's revision of his father's life of William Lyon Mackenzie, now published as the concluding volume of Makers of Canada, with a great deal of pleasure. We have also read Mr. Dent's story of the same period with little satisfaction; and we have glanced over Mr. King's pamphlet in reply to Mr. Dent with still less satisfaction, inasmuch as we believe that Mr. Dent, critical as he was; and energetic as he was in hunting up a lot of new material, altogether missed the historical value of Mackenzie in judging of him by details rather than by mass, and if that is true, it follows also that the criticism of his story by Mr. King only added to the irrelevant.

Every Canadian has read or heard more or less of the rebellion in the Province of Upper Canada in 1837, and which had its headquarters in this City of Toronto, then, as now, the capital; but ever since that event there have been two or more stories of it: one which describes Mackenzie and his associates as rebels, traitors, and lacking in every kind of moral and political virtue; and another side which more or less justified the rebellion and certainly justified the results that came from it.

The more we read of these events, the more inclined are we to consider William Lyon Mackenzie, what he describes himself to be, a patriot, and the more we read of it, the more do we regret that that rebellion of which he was the chief actor, ended in failure.

Reading the history of Canada since that event, and having regard to present conditions in this ninth year of the twentieth century, and some 70 years distant from the rebellion, we have no hesitation in saying again that we regret that the rebellion did not attain its end of overthrowing the government then existing, and more and more do we regret that an entirely new government and system was not then created.

What might have followed had a change of government been brought about, no one can now determine; but we have just as much reason for saying as anyone else can say to the contrary, that it would not have eventually severed British connection as most of the enemies of Mackenzie constantly charge, but it would have done what has never yet been done, and what must yet be done in some way, and that is to give the Canadian people that spirit of independence and resourcefulness which we believe they still lack in regard to the matter of national virility.

A people in the process of organization into a state must be "blooded" as puppies are blooded before they can be a nation. There is a baptism of fire.

Only the other day, Prof. Hutton, in an article in The University Magazine on Canada, brings the present-day condition of Canada under the criticism of that great master mind of politics, Plato, and in a fine burst of satire, he makes Plato speak of Canada in these terms:

This state of yours, as I understand your description, is still a colony: fidelity, patience, loyalty;—but you cannot have everything; you cannot have the passive and gentle virtues of a colony with the masculine and aggressive virtues of an independent state; you cannot be like these Americans of whom you speak, who resent British dictation, and yet retain also the virtues of your "Loyalists" who submitted there; a colony which is still a colony, and an independent state have anti-thetic virtues.

To our mind, if the rebellion of seventy years ago had succeeded Canada would have then attained those "masculine and aggressive virtues" (Continued on Page Eight).

HERE'S WHERE WE FREEZE CANADA IN FROSTY GRIP

Cold Wave Most Pronounced of Season and is Felt From Coast to Coast.

Intense cold prevailed yesterday in all parts of Canada. In Ontario it was down about zero, generally, and in many places several degrees below.

It was felt keenly because there was nowhere much wind, but that kind of still, sharp, penetrating cold that be-numbs.

The widespread nature of the frost was especially marked in southern British Columbia, in which district they only get skating once or twice a winter. They are now having from 20 to 30 degrees of frost; (2 to 12 above zero).

In the western provinces the thermometer registered considerably below zero, but this territory is a favorite stamping ground of the frost king. Manitoba experienced 24 to 30 degrees less than nothing, Saskatchewan got nipped with 24 to 40, and Alberta shivered with 28 to 30 below.

Coming over to Ontario it was 14 above at Port Stanley, 14 below at Rockville, and about the same up the Ottawa Valley.

Through Quebec it was generally 6 above, while down in the Maritimes it was quite consistently around zero.

GUILD OF CIVIC ART-PLAN EDUCATION CAMPAIGN

Copies of Scheme for Beautification of Toronto Will Be Distributed.

Copies of the lithographed plan prepared by the Guild of Civic Art, as the result of prolonged enquiry, and under the advice of Sir Astor Webb, the eminent English authority on the planning and laying out of cities, will be distributed by the secretary according to action resolved upon at the meeting held last night. This is the plan which appeared in the last Sunday World.

The meeting took a hopeful view of the work being done by Rogers, who is crossing from St. Alban's-street into Wellesley, when it struck the street car in charge of Motorman Bennett.

The auto, driven by Rogers, was crossing from St. Alban's-street into Wellesley, when it slid on the slippery pavement and struck the street car in charge of Motorman Bennett.

The front wheels of the auto were crushed and the occupants severely shaken up. The damage was $250.

FIND STOLEN GOODS.

Police Search House of James Hunt and Arrest Occupant.

Once more a find of stolen property has been made at Barrowcourt, County Constance, McMillen and County Constable Lloyd executed a search warrant at a shack occupied by James Hunt, 24 years, who was taken into custody.

The officers found a quantity of stolen property, much of this was taken from the store of John Feit on St. Clair-avenue Monday night. This was moved in a wagon to Magistrate Henderson's house at Broadville.

Then the constables waited for Hunt, who arrived at 11 o'clock Wednesday night, and he was lodged in the Kingston-avenue police station. Yesterday morning McMillen went to 214 Wallace-avenue and found Gordon Schultz, 18 years, in bed. He also was arrested and charged with theft of the goods. Stolen property was also found hidden there.

It is thought that still more property will be unearthed and further arrests may follow.

GLEDGYMAN MAY BE MURDERER NOT VICTIM

Michigan Authorities Scouring Western Ontario for Carmichael, Who Crossed River at Court-right To-Day.

ST. THOMAS, Jan. 7.—(Special.)—That Rev. J. H. Carmichael, who it was thought had been murdered and his body dismembered and incinerated in two heating stoves of one of his churches in Columbus Township, Mich., on Wednesday, is the murderer and Gledeon Browning the victim of the affair, is now the belief of the Michigan officials, who are scouring Western Ontario for the missing clergyman.

W. B. Moore, deputy sheriff of St. Clair County, is here to-day following a clue picked up at Sarnia. There it was learned that a man answering the description of Rev. Mr. Carmichael crossed the river at Court-right on Wednesday, in a row boat to-day. Provincial Officer Sarvius saw the customs officer at Court-right and got from him a description of the man which tallies exactly with that of Mr. Carmichael, who is a man of 260 pounds, standing 6 feet 2 inches, with a long, long-waisted, dark complexion and wearing a dark brown beard.

If Carmichael turns out to be the murderer instead of the victim, the authorities are completely at a loss to supply a motive for his act. They do not think there is a woman in the case. It has been learned from Mrs. Carmichael that when the minister left his home he carried a suit case, but Mrs. Carmichael has furnished very little information beyond this that would assist the police.

The identification of the body as that of Rev. Mr. Carmichael was largely based upon the fact that hooded clothing belonging to the victim, including his spectacles, were found in the church. The authorities say that so far as they know there had never been any serious trouble between Browning and the minister.

On the contrary, they were apparently quite friendly, frequently driving about together. Tuesday afternoon Browning-it is alleged-left a Grand Trunk train at St. Thomas, and took the Hickey and enquired the way to the Methodist Church in Columbus Township. He is alleged to have met two different men that he had an appointment with, a man, C. O. Conat, a rural mail carrier, and Thom Galvin, who walked part of the way to Mrs. Carmichael's house. They left him a mile from the building. He has not been seen since.

No reason is known why Rev. Mr. Carmichael should have gone to the church unless he had an appointment there.

It has been learned that Rev. Mr. Carmichael had but four false teeth, while Browning recently bought a full set for the upper jaw. It is now intended to sift thoroughly the ashes in the stove where the mutilated body was burned in an attempt to discover teeth, which might clear up the situation.

FRENCH TO BLAME.

For Structure Which Caused Death of Miss LeBlanche.

"That Marie LeBlanche came to her death by the collapse of an improperly erected structure on the exhibition grounds at Toronto; that had her directions been obeyed the result would have been responsible for the accident, but that when Mr. French, an employe of the exhibition company undertook the direction of the work it was his responsibility for the death of Miss LeBlanche at the exhibition last fall.

Coroner Johnston strongly criticized this class of accident and said that the exhibition was quite attractive enough without having such performances where accidents were likely to happen.
