

THE REVENUE

of the congregation, as will be seen from the Treasurer's Statement, is derived from three sources, viz. : weekly collections, weekly offerings, and quarterly subscriptions.

No pew rent is asked from any one, but, in place of this, members and adherents are expected to contribute voluntarily for the support of ordinances, and to the best of their ability. Some accordingly place what they may have to give on the collection plate, others give a sum enclosed in an envelope on Sabbath, and some give a subscription quarterly.

The weekly offering system has been adopted by many in the congregation, and during the last few years the greatest part of the revenue has been obtained from this source.

The managers prefer that the mode of giving should be by weekly offerings.

Those taking this means of giving are expected to fix on an amount they can afford to give, and, having done so, are expected to give it regularly, as far as their circumstances will permit. The amount of any omission, through oversight or absence, may be ascertained at any time from the Treasurer.

Special collections for missionary purposes, or for any of the schemes of the Church, are supposed to be given over and above this amount, and are not to be placed in the envelope, but on the collection plate.

All who wish to adopt this plan, and who have not been furnished with the envelopes used for the purpose, are re-
