While the volume of taxation has increased, the rate had been materially reduced; the increase in volume was due to the increase in trade, for while during the eighteen years of Tory rule, trade had only increased $64,000,000 or about $3,500,000 or year, in three years of Liberal rule it had nerrased $42 0000 or over $27,000,000 year. The percentage of taxation to the total 'rade averaged sixteen per cent under the Tories but it had been only thirteen and AS TO COMMISSIONS AND SUBSIDIES. Answering the Opposition leader's re ference to the money spent on commissions, Mr. Fielding pointed out that the Torics had spent nearly as much on the Liquor commission alone from which nothing prac tical resulted, as the present Government has expended on all the inquiries it has intituted, for most of which tangible result have accrued. Of the railway subsidies Mr. Fielding reminded the House that while the Oddfellows' Band will furnish a delightful programe at the lawn social on the beautiful programe at the lawn sold to like for the subridies in the way of free mail treatment of settlers and Indians which the country a substantial return for the assistance readered.
