

Washington, 82 McCaul Street, Toronto." Although said Noble was in fact obviously in the last stages of consumption.

The second charge your committee find that the said Washington does advertise by handbills and causes them to be distributed in the public streets.

As the third charge your committee find that the said Washington has been guilty of disgraceful conduct in a professional respect, in publishing broadcast the symptoms of a disease, namely catarrh, and that such advertisements are detrimental to the public, as charged. Signed on behalf of the above committee.

HENRY W. DAY, Chairman of committee.

TORONTO, June 13th, 1890.

DR. DAY, Chairman of the Committee on Discipline, Medical Council Chambers, Toronto.

Dear Sir.—In pursuance of our conversations of yesterday and prior conversations, and after consultation with Dr. Washington, I beg to submit through you, to the Committee on Discipline, and to the Medical Council, the following propositions on behalf of Dr. Washington.

First,—Dr. Washington admits that advertisements such as those referred to in the charges against him are contrary to the code of ethics laid down by the Medical Association, and are unprofessional.

Second—Dr. Washington considers that an advertisement such as the following, would be sufficient for the purposes of his practice, that is to say: "Nelson Washington, M. D., etc. Specialist, will attend at on the day of for consultation in and treatment of diseases." In the event of the Medical Council deeming this letter satisfactory and not pursuing the charges against him, if he carries out the terms of this letter, Dr. Washington promises to confine himself in his future practice to the code of ethics now established, or as may be established, by the Ontario Medical Association.

This letter is without prejudice to matters now pending.

Yours truly,

JAMES S. FULLERTON.

This letter is sent with my approval.

N. WASHINGTON, M. D.
