PRINCESS CHARLOTTE ATTAINS 20-KNOT SPEED

Satisfactory Results of Trials on Clyde—Description of Palatial Vessel.

Glasgow, Oct. 1.-The twin-screw steamer Princess Charlotte, built by the Fairfield Shipbuilding and Engineering Company, Limited, Govan, for the Canadian Pacific Railway Company's service between Victoria, B. C., and Seattle, Wash., has just completed her trials on the Firth. After adjusting compasses at the Tail of the Bank the vessel proceeded to the measured mile, where a series of progressive trials, varying in speeds from 12 knots to a maximum, was run. She was then put on a six hours' trial at full speed, which proved most satisfactory, a mean speed of over 20 knots being easily attained. The Canadian Pacific Railway Company were represented on board during the trials b Captain Mowatt, marine superintendent, and the Fairfield Company by Alex. Gracie, managing director; A. W. Sampson, and Mr. Cleghorn.

The Princess Charlotte is of about 3, 600 tons gross, and has accommodation for a large number of passengers in beautifully fitted up state rooms and saloons. She has five decks—the orlop, main, shelter, promenade and shade decks—and is divided into seven water-tight compartments, the orlop decks also being water tight to ensure additional safety to the vessel. The metallic safety to the vessel is through entrance to the vessel is through water-tight doors in the ship's side on the shelter deck forward, which lead to a spacious entrance hall, tastefully panelled in polished teak, the floor being laid with terra cotta and white interlocking rubber tiles. Aft of the main entrance is a large central hall fitted up with handsome lounge seats upholstered in crimson velvet. There is accommodation on the shelter deck for 176 first class passengers in two and three berth staterooms. There are also 12 special three-berth rooms and four rooms fitted as bridal chambers, two in beautifully figured mahogany and two in St. Domingo satinwood. At the after-end of the shelter deck At the after-end of the shelter deck is a central hall similar to the one forward, and also a ladies' tea-room, which is panelled in light Austrian oak, with tulip wood inlay in panels and blue and cream furnishings. On the promenade deck forward and aft are two spacious halls with open wells, which give light to shelter deck halls, and also accommodation for 104 first class passengers in two-berth rooms seating 133 persons. It is framed in mahogany, white enamelled, and tastefully relieved, with gold. Forward on the main and shelter decks is accommodation for 48 second class passengers, with smoking room, bar, and din-ing accommodation. The space amidships on main deck may be utilized for cargo or cattle as required. The propelling machinery consists of two sets of inverted direct-acting tripleexpansion engines, each set having four cylinders and four cranks, balanced on the Yarrow-Schlick and Tweedy systems.
