Frauley Bros. are making a very attractive display of furs. Our readers attention is called to their ads. in this issue. Prices being so reasonable everyone can keep themselves warm by calling on this enterprising firm and selecting anything in the fur line from the huge stock shown.

Several items appeared in our last issue, in L'Etang correspondence, which were not furnished by our regular correspondent. We deeply regret any reflection that may have been made on any person mentioned, and would advise a little discretion when far-fetched jokes are to be perpetrated.

The Weymouth, N. S., Gazette says: More than $22,000 was paid out by the Weymouth branch of the Royal Bank of Canada to the fishermen of Tiverton last week—more than $100 for every man, woman and child in the village. This amount is for sale of fish made in Halifax during the past few weeks.

Calais, Me., Oct. 26 (Special).—Mrs. Samuel B. Rapley, wife of the former street commissioner of Calais, suicided by drowning in the river at Milltown this morning. Dependency on account of ill-health was the cause. She was fifty years old. The body was recovered hours afterwards.

A very pleasant time was spent at the home of Jas. Watt Wednesday evening. A number of his young friends arrived quite unexpectedly, but "Jim" was equal to the occasion, and the evening was most pleasantly spent with games, music and social chat. A tempting collation was served and the gathering broke up at a late hour.

When one remembers the excessive rainy weather of the past summer it is interesting to read the prophecy given below made as far back as 1837, the year of Queen Victoria's coronation. Word of the prediction was made public in an Associated press despatch sent out from Washington, Pa., on June 12th last which read as follows:—"John C. Markey today received from a daughter in Anderson, Indiana, a clipping from an almanac published in 1837, in which the prediction was made that the year 1907 would have no summer. The almanac was found among some old papers."

It seems to us, though, that there's not much credit due anyone for being mixed up in any way with a summer such as the last one proved to be.

Persons with any faith in weather prophecies may be interested in an extract from the Campbellton Events. The extract is as below:

There is an old Indian living down Carleton way who enjoys a high reputation in his own country as a weather prophet. Early last spring he came out of the woods and predicted that there would be no summer. His prediction was fulfilled. The other day he reappeared in Carleton. He had just come out of the woods where he had spent some days in getting a line on the coming winter. He said there will be little snow this winter. He advances as his reason for predicting this, the fact that the flies and insects in the woods are preparing to hibernate not higher than a foot above the base of the trees. Whenever there is a winter of deep snow they always prepare to hibernate much higher so as to be above the level of the snow.

The I. O. F. speaks of insurance in this issue. It would take much space to tell of the good work done by this order. The Society is flourishing and its special offer for next two months will undoubtedly increase the membership.

John M. Duffins who worked here when the granite industry was first established died recently in Palo Alto, Cal. The Montpelier Journal, in an extended notice of his death speaks of him "As a man of much intelligence and of many fine qualities. As an employer he was highly esteemed, and among his fellow craftsmen he was thoroughly respected and beloved. Honest, kindly, gentlemanly, frank, he could hardly fail to have the sincere good will and respect of his fellow citizens. He leaves a wife, two sons and a daughter. His sons are students at the Leland Stanford University."

Wedding Bells.

A very pretty wedding took place at the Baptist church here, on Thursday, Oct. 24th, when Miss Phoebe Lavina, second daughter of the late Edw. O'Brien became the bride of Mr. Alnah Canfield Toy, of Sandy Hill, N. Y. The ceremony was performed by Rev. E. B. Buchanan. The bride, who was unattended, was dressed in a beautiful white silk dress, hand embroidered with battenburg trimmings, and carried a bouquet of white chrysanthemums. She was given away by her uncle, Mr. James O'Brien. The church was prettily decorated for the occasion with potted plants and evergreens. The ushers were Misses Fannie and Edna O'Brien. Helen Clark, and Carrie Gullmor. After the ceremony luncheon was served at the home of the bride's mother, after which, amid showers of rice, the young couple left by the N. B. Southern for a short wedding trip. The bride's travelling suit was of brown broadcloth with hat to match. Many beautiful and costly presents received, showed the popularity of both.
