Fve watched it oft through valleys fair, With sweetest murmurs gluting; Or where the proud rock seeks the sir Above its rampart riding.

I've seen the wave with heedless force
The enger chase pursue,
Yet pause upon its downward course,
The bending flower to woo.

I've linger'd by the stfeamlet's side When silent stars were shining. And seen upon the silvery tide The peaceful moon reclining.

Oh! deep in memory's holiest cell Enshrined the moment lies. When first upon my spirit fell Its gentle melodies.

Beside my mother's grave I stood, With my young sisters three; And I wonder done so fair and good In that cold place could be.

But they told me that her spirit soar'd The starry heavens above,
And that her holy thoughts were poured in songs of joy and love.

The seriow of my heart was hush'd,
I dried the trickling tear;
And a longing through my bosom rush'd
That voice again to hear.

Upon my car a scothing sound
Of sweetest music stole—
And the plaintive notes an echo found
Within my weary soul.

"Twas but the Esk, which pass'd along To mingle with the sea.; Yet I thought the river's gentle song A setaph's includy." Oh woll I love the zephyr's mirth,
That wakes the cheefful more;
But a melody more pure than earth
Seems in the streamlets born.

RILEY'S DENTIFRICE.

As an essential point of beauty the Terry must ever stand pre-eminent. No regularity of feature in brilliancy of complexion, 69 spatking eyes, or siken bar, can render that hady beautiful who, when she opens her fips, (though they be of coral) discloses a set of discolorated Teeth. On the contrary, even homely features and sallow tumplexion are embelished and rendered agreeable by a set of white Teath. On the other hand, the effects of decay, the accumulation of tariat, the black teeth, and tainted breath, which are invariable accompaniumous of a bad state of the mouth, will always prove leadnessme and dignisting.

Among the various discretes of the mouth, there is time as destructive as seniety—which on first entering the grims causes then to bleed on the most trifling occasions, and produces the most effencient and particle discretes than from all others.

Could persons allocted with it see for a moment the state of their mouth, or each the door of their conflictions of their mouth, or each the door of their conflictions of each of the mouth of the most finding a remedy so cheap and simple, and yet so efficacious, as the own of the most first in the state of the mouth, or each the door of their conflictions of the most finding a remedy so cheap and simple, and yet so efficacious, as the own ordered.

To professional men, shop keepers, and tradesment generally, who have much intercurres with this festimaths world, a good state of the mouth must be of the atmost importance.

Resides, is not an official vehicular to the mouth from the of the atmost importance of the happiness of the married state grievously interrupted from the same of meaning mounts and meaning means of the married state grievously interrupted from the same instried state grievously interrupted from the same cause.

To insist on the importance of these things must be a waste of words were it not obvious that there are many persons who never give themselves the trouble to think upon the subject—who seem scarce. It waster that they possess Teeth at all, while their gross and cutpable negligence renders the fact two apparent to their fromed and associates.

Another cause of the rapid decay of Teath, which it remarkable on the whole continent of North America, is a peculiarity in the climate—the rapid and sudden changes from one attreme to another which are of about daily occurrence.

This source of decay, as well as the scurry, is annihilated by using

Which wakes the Teoth heathfully white, eradicates the activy, preserves and rectores the enamed where injuted, sweetens the breath, preserves the Teeth cound and handcome until the most advanced age, and by constantly neigh will prevent the Inothache. It was used and most highly approved of by his late Majesty George rule Fourtri. (He most perfect gentleman of the age he lived in.) and by the principal mobility of his Court; and has mever failed to give the most unqualified satisfaction. In several missances the inventor has received considerable presents from parises, as a mark of gratitude for the templit their Teeth had received from the use of it.
