Celebrate Fiftieth Wedding Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Calvert of 169 Millidge Avenue at Home to Their Numerous Friends Today—An Old British Soldier.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Calvert as They Look Today. Their Fiftieth Wedding Anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Calvert, of 169 Millidge Avenue are today celebrating the fiftieth anniversary of their marriage and are receiving the hearty congratulations of their numerous friends.

Last evening when a Standard reporter made a friendly call at the cozy home of the Calverts he met about as happy a couple as any person would meet in a life time. Although they had reached the half century mark of wedded life, they were just as happy as they were fifty years ago. Both Mr. and Mrs. Calvert are in excellent health and they greatly enjoyed talking about the old days.

On June 30th, 1864 Charles Calvert became a regular in the British army, and his rank at that time was assistant school master of the 15th regiment, then doing duty right here in St. John, and on that date Miss Susan Ann Grant of Grand Lake, Queen's County, became his bride. They were married by Rev. Samuel Robinson of the Brussels street Baptist church.

Before coming to St. John with the gallant 15th, Charles Calvert had been a militiaman and was doing duty during the Crimean war, and he does not tire talking about the good old days when he and the other young soldiers were ambitious and looking forward to a fight for the good old Union Jack.

In fact when he gets warmed up to the subject of serving his King and Country he appears to be quite ready to go into the ranks again, and fight providing he was eligible, but those days have passed into history for him as he is now 75 years of age, but for a man of that age he, like his good wife, is most active and industrious.

Mr. Calvert was in the service of the British army for 21 years and 22 days. After remaining in St. John for four years with the 15th Regiment he left with the corps for Bermuda where he was stationed for a number of years. He was then sent to Ireland and later on went to Chatham, England.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Calvert as They Looked on Their Wedding Day, Fifty Years Ago.

Mr. Calvert said last evening that he had been looking forward to the fiftieth anniversary of his marriage for some time past, and his comfortable home will be wide open today and to night when he and Mrs. Calvert will be pleased to meet all of their friends.

The Standard joins in extending congratulations, and it is to be hoped that Mr. and Mrs. Calvert will live many more years to enjoy the happiness that they have been blessed with during the past fifty years.

ASSAULT BY EX-CONVICT

James Fitzgerald Attacks Thomas McAndrews With Axe.

BELIEVED RESULT OF A DRUNKEN ROW

Victim, covered with blood staggers up Harrigan's Alley and falls on sidewalk—Spectators horrified.

Persons who happened along Brussels street last evening, about seven o'clock, were horrified when they saw Thomas McAndrews, a man about 60 years of age, stagger up from Harrigan's alley and fall in a semi-conscious state on the sidewalk. Blood was streaming from wounds on his head, and face and his clothing was covered. It was thought by those who were first on the scene that McAndrews was dead and that he had been murdered.

The night and day squads of policemen had just been sent from the central police station by Deputy Chief Jenkins when a telephone call came to headquarters that a man was lying on Brussels street sidewalk covered with blood. The Deputy Chief, with Patrolman James McNamee, hastened to the scene and as the distance from the station to Harrigan's Alley is only a few blocks, the officers arrived there quickly and found McAndrews being cared for by some men. The ambulance was summoned and Policeman McNamee took the injured man to the general Public Hospital for treatment.

Inform Police

Before being placed in the ambulance McAndrews rallied enough to tell the officers that he had been injured by James Fitzgerald, a man who he said was looking for a fight. Deputy Chief Jenkins then visited the apartment in the alley where Fitzgerald had made a quick getaway after committing the assault, and Deputy Jenkins then sent word to all the officers on the beats to keep a sharp lookout for him, and if seen to place him under arrest.

Sickening Sight

When the Deputy entered the place where Fitzgerald had lived, the sight that met his view was almost sickening. Where the man lived was but one room situated at the far end of the long alley. There was a stove and a table with a couple of chairs on one side of the room. In one corner was a sort of a cot, and in another corner was a kind of a bed made up on the floor. There was blood all about the room and to use the words of the police officer, "It looked more like a slaughter house than a place where any person resided."

The Deputy made a thorough search and found standing up against one of the walls a short handled axe, the blade of which was covered with blood and it was with this weapon that Fitzgerald cut McAndrews. After cleaning all the information he could, the Deputy had the room closed up and took the axe along to central police station for evidence.

Fitzgerald Arrested

At eight o'clock last night Detective Fred Lucas came across Fitzgerald on King street, near the McAvity stores, and placed him under arrest. He was taken to the central police station where he was charged with wounding and causing bodily harm to Thomas McAndrews by striking him with an axe.

Fitzgerald had very little to say regarding the affair and appeared to have been drinking. When the doctors found McAndrews was quite weak from the loss of blood, and that he had received three large scalp wounds, and a deep cut in the forehead. It was necessary to use stitches to close the wounds. It was reported last night that the victim was feeling pretty well and it is not thought that his injuries will prove very serious.

Story of Victim

McAndrews stated that he was living with Fitzgerald and was lying down on the bed in the room when Fitzgerald attacked him with the axe. He could not defend himself, and after being struck with the axe several times he was dashed with the blood streaming in his eyes he managed to get out of the room and grope his way up the alley to the sidewalk where he collapsed.

Other residents about the alley, many of whom are colored people, appeared to know very little about the assault when questioned last night. They said that the two men were together in the room and that no person bothered with them, the first that they knew of any assault was when McAndrews reached the sidewalk and fell down. It was thought by some that very likely there had been some liquor going in the Fitzgerald room, and the assault was the outcome of a row between the two men.

McAndrews, who is 60 years of age, is a carpenter by trade, while his assailant is a laborer who gives his age as 43 years.
