HISTORY/AS389

AN INTRODUCTION TO THE MODERN HISTORY OF THE MIDDLE EAST

The modern history as defined in the context of this course will cover the period between Napoleon's conquest of Egypt in 1798 and the emergence of the independent nation-states after World War II.

The course will concern itself with a number of major themes, whose impact on the history of the region in the modern era are of paramount importance. Roughly, the first semester will be devoted to the period up to the dissolution of the Ottoman Empire after World War I, while the second semester will deal with the mandatory regimes and the emergence of the nation-states after World War II.

The Major themes which will be discussed in the course are the following:

1. The impact of the 19th Century European penetration in the Middle East.
2. Islamic reactions to the West.
3. The tanzimat (reforms) in the Ottoman Empire.
4. Islam and nationalism.
5. Unity versus separatism in the Arab World.
6. The major powers in the Middle East.
7. The failure of parliamentarism and the advent of military regimes.
8. "Arab Socialism" and communism.
9. The Arab-Israeli conflict.
