

METEGHAN RIVER, DIGBY CO., N. S.

Digby, while primarily a summer town, by reason of its favorable transportation facilities, both by water and rail, could establish with profit, woodworking, footwear, and other industries, employing both men and women, which if found worthy, would be suitably encouraged. Rents are low and the cost of living is greatly reduced to householders, by their being able to raise in their own gardens, the fruits and vegetables for the family table. As a result wages are lower, making it possible to conduct an industry at smaller expense than in the cities and larger towns.

NOTE—For further information write to the Town Clerk or the Secretary of the Board of Trade, Digby, N. S.
