Liberal candidates :	Votes
Ames Friar	· · · · · · 522 · · · · · · 809
Jones	· · · · · · · · · · 344 · · · · · · · · 425
- Total
Labour candidates :	Votes
Brown	····· 1,204 ····· 691
Total	1,895
Conservative candidates : Dare Good	Votes
Tota1
The successful candidates w	vere as follows
Labour : Brown representing Casey representing	Voters 1,000 895
Total Labour vote	e1,805
Liberal : Friar representing	Voters
Conservative : Dare	Voters

Improper Representation

Liberal voters were in excess of the Labour voters to the extent of 205 votes on the first count (2,100 minus $1,895 equals 205). It is therefore obvious that two Liberal candidates should have been elected and only one Labour candidate. Labour was only entitied to one representative on the basis of its voting strength. The Liberal voters lost one-half of their representation because a number of them "plumped." 821 votes were lost in this way, all of them being Liberal ballots at the beginning. If those 821 ballots had been marked so that they could have been transferred to Ames, he

-13-