Soap suds is a valuable manure for vegetables. It contains the aliment for plants which acts immediately. When it cannot be applied to plants in irrigation, it can be preserved by being absorbed in a manure heap. Where there is a garden, soap suds should never be wasted.

Flies and Cattle.

The past two wet seasons have caused a great increase in the pest of flies that trouble our Cows, and they have become so numerous and troublesome, and the bites have been so frequent as to cause drowsiness. A few cattle have died from a kind of disease caused by the fly bites, and some have called it a cattle disease, but we have heard of nothing to justify us in pronouncing it such. A little tar, coal oil, or tanner's oil, applied on the legs—which is the principal place of attack—will be found to relieve the animal and stop the flies: and the cow will soon be all-right.

A Lament.

Oh! weary heart, be still—
Why watch and wait? he cometh not,
He never will.

Oh! hope no more, poor heart,
Why hope and wait? for evermore
Thou art apart.

Oh! woman's heart so fond—
Why love and wait? another's arms
Hold him in bond.

Oh steadfast heart and true,
For death now wait—sad heart, 'tis all
That thou canst do.

The city of Boston owns ninety seven pianos, valued at $33,000. They are in the public schools.

—They have invented a machine for killing dogs in Boston. It acts upon the principle of the Cuban garrote.

—There is a woman in Bartholomew county, Indiana, who has worked in the fields all summer, wearing male attire.

—A Boston journal says that Christine Nilsson has promised to sing first in America at the rooms of the Lotus Club of New York. This club is largely composed of journalists.

—A curious freak of nature may be seen in front of a house in Norwich. A willow tree has overgrown a small elm tree in such a manner as to droop entirely over it, producing a natural umbrella.

RUST IN WHEAT.—A correspondent of the Southern Cultivator imputes rust to excessive moisture in the soil, as he has never known it to occur on wheat or sand hills, or on that grown on clay land well underdrained. We have frequently observed that wheat bordered by a forest on the south side of the field, and thus measurably excluded from the rays of the sun, would show a strip of rusted wheat, while that on the north side of the same field would be exempt from it.—Rochester American Farmer.

THE SUBMERGED
DOUBLE-ACTING, NON-FREEZING
FORCE PUMP.

THE SIMPLEST and most powerful in use. It is proved to be the Cheapest, most Effective and Reliable Pump.

It is the Cheapest, its first cost being one-third less than any other Force Pump, of the same capacity, and never gets out of order. It is the most effective, because it never fails. It is the most durable, being composed of five simple parts, all of metal, has no leather packing but a very strong piston. It never freezes, since no water remains in the pipe when not in action. It furnishes the purest and coldest water, as it is placed in the bottom of the well, and being galvanised does not impart any unpleasant taste to the water.

This Pump is most useful in case of Fire, or for watering Gardens, as it throws the water a great height. Farmers, mechanics, and others would do well to have one of these Pumps on their premises.

Price of Pump alone, $16.00, pipe, hose, &c., &c., additional.
