"We'd have more prayers answered," said Bishop Hoss, of Muskogee, "if we had more faith."

"Too many of us are like Willie. Willie, on a visit to his uncle's in the country, admired a fine colt.

"Uncle, give me that colt, will you?" he asked.

"Why, no, Willie," said his uncle. "That's a very valuable colt, and I couldn't afford to give him to you. Do you want a colt so very badly?"

"I'd rather have a colt than anything else in the world," said Willie.

"Then," said his uncle, "I'll tell you what you ought to do. Since you want a colt that much, you ought to pray for one. Whenever I want a thing I always pray for it, and then it is sure to come to me."

"Is that so, uncle?" said Willie, eagerly. "Won't you please give me this colt, then, and pray for one for yourself?"

Why He Kept Moving.

A Richmond darkey called upon an old friend, who received him in a rocking chair. The visitor at once observed not only that his host did not rise, but that he continued to rock himself to and fro in a most curious way, similar to that of a person suffering from a colic.

"You ain't sick, is you, Harrison?" asked the caller anxiously.

"No, I ain't sick, Mose," said Harrison.

A moment's silence, during which the caller gazed wide-eyed at the rocking figure. "Den," continued Mose, "why in goodness does you rock yo'self dat way all de time?"

Harrison paused not in his oscillations, as he explained: "Yo' know dat good-for-nothin' Bill Blott? Well, he done sold me a silver watch fo' five dollars, an' ef I stops movin' like dis dat watch don't go!"

A Home for Life.

After being pestered all day long Tommy succeeded in locating a persistent "cootie" under his shirt, near his heart. As he bent his head in removing the offender a bullet whizzed past where his head had been. He held the mite between his fingers and ruminated: "I can't give you the Victoria Cross, but I'll do the next best thing. I'll give you a home for life."

And he replaced the cootie beneath his shirt.
