C. P. R. IS LIABLE FOR BUSINESS TAX

Minister of Finance Expresses Opinion on Point in Dispute.

Ottawa, March 18— A number of clauses in the resolutions giving effect to the war tax on business profits were passed by the House in committee yesterday. The discussion was lengthy and detailed, but fair progress was made and the resolutions will go through early next week.

Most of the afternoon was taken up with argument as to whether the proceeds of the special war stamp tax were going towards war expenditures or were being used to pay deficits in the Post Office Department. Mr. E. M. Macdonald and Mr. J. G. Turiff repeated a Liberal argument that had been heard before to the effect that the latter was the case. Mr. Macdonald bolstered up his contention with figures from the Auditor General's report, showing a $3,000,000 deficit in the Post Office Department.

The Pictou member was caught napping in this as the Finance Minister was instantly on his feet to point out that the report in question covered the period down to March 31, 1915, a month before the new taxes went into effect at all. Sir Thomas White went on to point out that the proceeds of all special taxes went into consolidated revenue fund of Canada. As there was being paid for war purposes from this fund a greater amount than the aggregate of these taxes, there was, therefore, no force in Mr. Macdonald's claim.

During the evening discussion the Finance Minister gave it as his opinion that the Canadian Pacific Railway was liable to the business tax, thus settling a point which has been a subject of newspaper dispute.

Corporal Smith, M.P., for Northampton, now serving in the R. A. M. C., had a rather amusing experience recently whilst corporal in charge of the divisional baths. In a letter describing the incident he writes: "The authorities have found by experience that when men get into a bath their spirits rise, splashing matches take place, and a general mess is made; and I have been installed to damp down any excessive exuberance and preserve order. As a matter of fact, the London Scottish bath has all the solemnity of the parade ground, and my duty is so light that I am taking the opportunity to continue these notes. Two army service corps men put four pence on the bench near me a few minutes ago. I did not know before that privates tipped corporals. They were so embarrassed when I did not take it that it will evidently be more comfortable for everyone if I take the next perquisite which is offered me without any compunction."

A CLEAR BRAIN and healthy body are essential for success. Business men, teachers, students, housewives and other workers say Hood's Sarsaparilla gives them appetite and strength, and makes their work seem easy. It overcomes that tired feeling.

Mrs. Louise C. Thomas, 73, reputed to be one of the South's wealthiest women, has adopted as her son and heir, Father Peter Scotti, formerly chancellor of the Catholic diocese of New Orleans.
