WHERE PRETTY SYRIAN GIRLS WED IRISHMEN

Washington Street, New York, Most Cosmopolitan Thoroughfare in World

The New York Sun says: Some call it the most cosmopolitan city in the world, others call it the Gateway of the United States. On the map of New York it is merely as Washington street.

On a fine afternoon, when you want to take a little trip abroad, return home in time for dinner, start at Washington Market and ramble down Washington street to the Battery. You will catch intimate glimpses of Syria, Turkey, Armenia, Roumanian Greece, Italy, Austria-Hungary Ireland fresh from the Old South and some twenty other countries. You will hear a babel of tongues. To feel at home in the street, one must speak Greek, Turkish, Polish, Slavok, Magyar, Yiddish, Latin, French and mixed German.

Here is the haunt of the persistent person who comes with an old fashioned telescope bag and introduces the housewife to the handiwork of Armenia. Here are the wholesale rooms where he buys his stock of laces and embroidery. At night the stock of the wholesale houses is locked in huge safes. It is not unusual for one of these safes to contain $100,000 worth of hand-made lace.

Here also is the home of the pushcart pedler. When he goes forth in the morning the entire family gather around to admire his rolling stock. They take as much pride in the rows of crimson checked pears, the mounds of wine colored grapes, the apples polished to a shining brightness, as any Fifth avenue merchant feels in his smart wares.

When he returns at night an empty cart calls for sympathy. The light from his family and congratulatory remarks from his neighbors. An empty cart means a good day, and a good day means plenty of baby eggplants and fresh chopped meat, a plentiful lamb stew with okra.

"Lamb is about the only meat we sell down here," explained a brown skinned butcher of Slavonic extraction whose name can be guessed, but not pronounced. "Where our people come from it is the same, all they want is lamb. We don't like so much the other meats, isn't it?"

The women of Washington street are not so social as the men. They work. On the other side it was in the fields. Here it is in the office building that tower above them higher than their native mountains. Once they were in the fields, they work. Now it is the mop, the broom, the vacuum cleaner, the dust cloth.

In the evenings when the lights are lit the passerby is treated to the sight of swartly eyed men with fierce black moustaches sitting in the tiny cafes sipping Turkish coffee, smoking Turkish pipes and ogling.

"A very unusual event in our life down here is a wedding," said the father professor, big brother and general guardian of a "neighborhood."

"The Syrians are a remarkable people. They are clean, and they rarely stop here long. A year or so and then they move on to better surroundings."

"The Syrian girls are as a rule pretty. It is an excellent combination. The two peoples seem to amalgamate well. Some of the prettiest and healthiest looking girls in the district are children of Syrian mothers and Irish fathers."

For quaint child faces no block in New York is as prolific as the one on the Bowling Green Association has converted into a playground. Every type is there, from the burnish, black eyes, blue black hair, sun baked skin of the Orient to the azure, flax, milk and rose combination of Norway and Sweden.

"WARFORBIG MEN" SOCIALISTS SAY

Germany Views With Alarm Discontented Spirit Which is Spreading

(Associated Press.)

Berlin, Nov. 10.—Significant as to the spirit that prevails in some circles in Germany is the latest issue of the Koelnische Volkszeitung, always a supporter of the claim that the German people are behind the annexationists and want no peace but one bought with the sword. It says: "If one rides on German railroads, if one goes to the cafes and public places of the big cities where one meets our soldiers coming from the front, one can hear again and again words and sentences from the socialistic press that actually are a great danger for the determination to hold out, for the unity and unanimity in the army and behind the front, for the desire to be victorious and to see it through."

"In all these phrases of the social democratic press there recurs over and over again the one that the war is being conducted 'only for the big fellows,' that those who wish for our fatherland an honorable peace that shall assure future development are 'paid by the big industrialists' or 'are serving capitalist interests' that the 'annexationists alone are responsible for the third year of war and possibly the coming war winter. All the slanders circulated to superfluous about 'war marketers' and 'annexationists' are bobbing up again."

COAL GAS USED

(Associated Press)

London, Nov. 10.—As the Ministry of Munitions does not classify coal gas as a "petrol substitute," there is an increased demand for it for driving automobiles. A few motor vans were running some time ago in the provinces with a huge gas bag on top from which the motive power was drawn but now it is in request for taxi-cabs, delivery carts and private motors.

YOUNG WOMEN MAY AVOID PAIN

Need Only Trust to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, says Mrs. Kurtzweg.

Buffalo, N.Y.—"My daughter, whose picture is herewith, was much troubled with pains in her back and sides every month and they would sometimes be so bad that it would seem like acute inflammation of some organ. She read your advertisement in the newspapers and tried Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. She praises it highly as she has been relieved of all these pains by its use. All mothers should know of this remedy, and all young girls who suffer should try it."—Mrs. MATTILDA KURTZWEIG, 529 High St., Buffalo, N. Y.

Young women who are troubled with painful or irregular periods, backache, headache, dragging-down sensations, fainting spells or indigestion, should take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Thousands have been restored to health by this root and herb remedy.

If you know of any young woman who is sick and needs help, advise her to write to the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass. Only women will receive her letter, and it will be held in strictest confidence.
