

AMHERST GAZETTE.

Ait and Humor.

A gentleman, in search of a man to do some work, met on his way a lady not as young as she once was, and asked her: "Can you tell me where I can find a man?" "No, I cannot," she replied, "for I have been looking these twenty years for one myself."

Major Boyd sold his running Horse, Red Jacket, to a member of the Royal Commission. The purchaser wrote for the pedigree of the animal. Major Boyd's answer was characteristic: "He was sold by his father and died by the man who last owned him."

A preacher took up a collection on Sunday and found, when his hat was returned, that there wasn't a penny in it. "I think my God," said he, turning the hat upside down, and tapping the crown of it with his hand, "that I have got my hat back from this congregation."

"Now, Johnny," said a venerable lady to her six-year-old nephew, who was persistently denying all off-ice of which she accused him, "I know you are not telling the truth; I see it in your eye." Pulling down the lower lid of the organ that had so nearly betrayed his word of veracity, Johnny exultingly replied: "You can't tell anything about it, aunt; that eye was always a little streaked."
