F. T. CONGDON, K. C., LEAVING YUKON.

(Vancouver Province.)
Mr. F. T. Congdon, K. C., one of the best known lawyers and politicians of Canada, has decided to settle in Vancouver and in future will be at the head of the law firm of Congdon, Campbell & Meredith. Since 1900 Mr. Congdon has visited Vancouver at least once a year, and has argued cases in the Court of Appeal of the province. Born in Nova Scotia, he can trace his Canadian ancestry back to 1635, when his forefathers came to Rhode Island. In 1755 they settled in Nova Scotia. Mr. Congdon graduated at Toronto University. He is a member of the bars of Saskatchewan, Alberta, Nova Scotia and the Yukon. From 1903 to 1904 he was governor of Yukon Territory, and from 1908 to 1911 a member of the House of Commons of Canada. Amongst the literary work to his credit is the First Digest of Nova Scotia cases. (Mr. Congdon is a brother of Mrs. S. G. Chambers, Truro.)

MILITARY CROSS.

The London Gazette has the following official notice in regard to the Military Cross won by a gallant New Brunswick officer:
"Lt. F. W. Benn, 26th Bn., Can. Inf., New Brunswick R.—For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. This officer started as junior subaltern of his company in this action. When his platoon was checked by a machine-gun nest he went to a flank and sniped the gunner, and then with his men rushed the post, capturing eight prisoners. The next day he was in command of the company, and when held up consolidated the line and obtained touch on both flanks by patrol. He then collected stragglers and prepared an attack. His work was excellent throughout."

The Canadian Lumbermen's association, with nearly one hundred delegates present, met at St. John on February 5th.

Eleven veteran ministers of the Church of Scotland attain their jubilee this year. Six also will be celebrated in connection with the United Free Church. Two in Nova Scotia, if spared during 1919, will have spent fifty years in the ministry. The Rev. Robert Cumming, D. D., New Glasgow, who was ordained in P. E. Island, on the 14th day, 1869, and Rev. A. B. Dickie, ordained at Sheet Harbor on the 22nd Dec. 1869, in a church built by the Rev. John Spratt.

CHARLES H. HYDE ENTERS COPPER MINING INDUSTRY

Charles H. Hyde, who was City Chamberlain in the administration of Mayor Gaynor, has entered the copper mining industry and has become president of the Pinar Copper Company, whose properties are in Cuba. Mr. Hyde will devote his time to the management and development of the properties of the corporation.

The properties of the corporation, known as the "El Mono Group," Cuba, province of Pinar del Rio, Cuba, within 100 miles of Havana and five miles from the coast. They adjoin the Matahambre mine, a producer of rich copper ore, yielding $25,000,000 pounds in 1918.

There are more than fifteen properties now being developed in the new fields, but the Mathambre mine is the only one that has been developed to an extensive depth. The Pinar company has also acquired several thousand acres of land adjoining its present properties.—New York Herald.

We all wish "Charlie" Hyde success in this new venture; and the opportunities here look extra good.

BASS RIVER, COL. CO.

As Seen By A Transient Visitor—Right From The Truro News.

One cannot travel over a country made famous in song and story by a poet, without having to some degree at least the same feelings which animated the author. Such was the case with a representative of the "Truro News" who found himself alone with nature and in the very heart of a country made famous by the immortal Longfellow.

Come with me, then, along the Cobequid Bay within a stones throw of the beach, overlooking the bar; where the swift outward rush of the Minas Basin meets the curling rollers from the open sea, pause and you will discern through the mist that high rocky bluff Cape Blomidon:

"Blomidon rose, and the forests old, and aloft on the mountains Sea-fogs pitched their tents, and mists from the mighty Atlantic Looked on the happy valley."

The noise of the beating surf, the hoarse, shrieking notes of the seabird are left behind and the road leads on through a rich farming country until our destination, Bass River is reached.

The houses in Bass River are all painted white. As the key-note to a song pre-dominates, so the color white, the emblem of purity let us say, clarifies the atmosphere in and around this happy village. In peaceful slumber here it lies, removed from noise and vanity. Here is the panacea for our ills. Here lies the cure for a jaded mind.

Naturally a stranger's attention is at once directed to the Factory and Store which stand for so much in the life of the Village, both in the past and the present. It was the writer's privilege, under the skilled guidance of a man who had been with the Company since early boyhood, to inspect the manufacture of a chair from the raw material, through the different stages until the finished product was reached, and, incidentally the "Truro News" clasped hands (figuratively speaking) with the Dominion Chair Company and exchanged greetings, for it was my pleasure to clasp the hand of each employee at his machine that day. It was twelve years since I had the privilege of inspecting the old Factory, but the man who guided my steps at that time has been sleeping in the church-yard many years and the factory itself has joined the elements.

I noted many improvements in this new factory over the old one. New and more modern machinery have taken the place of the old and the cleanliness of the building should be a pride to the share-holders.

Sitting in a well-made chair one can hardly conceive of so much expensive machinery being used in their make-up. Each man understands his own machine and each machine has its own work to do until the whole is fitted together into one perfect unit. It is interesting to note how carefully the workman uses only the best of the lumber discarding the broken and faulty pieces. Some of the chairs are dipped into large reservoirs of varnish whilst others are hand painted. The embossing on the back of chairs is an interesting process, especially to a printer, who knows the worry of building up a die with sealing wax, Plaster of Paris, Alabastine, rock candy and all the rest of the paraphernalia, recommended by tramp printers who have seen it done by someone else up in Toronto or over in the old country; but here the process was simplified. The expensive circular copper die was placed in position, a little heat and the power applied to the machine. The chair back, which had previously been steamed and formed to the proper curve was fed into the machine—a slight crunching sound—and behold the beautiful scrolls which we so much admire on our favorite rocker were printed indelible.

The heat from the dryers fairly staggered me, and I involuntarily clutched my hat. The fires are fed from the refuse lumber which is brought to the fireman by automatic chain carriers.

Then I beheld in the store room the finished product—beautiful rockers, cradles, kitchen chairs, packed in order, all ready for shipment. Friend, have you met the Company's team with its piled up load on the way to Londonderry Station?

After you pass from the Factory and enter the village a welcome awaits you. Here let us rest awhile. Its evening. The wind is laid. The restless fir trees are quiet now. We pass down the village. On every hand, you, a stranger are greeted with the hand-clasp and a hearty "Good-night, sir."—"Good-night" One dear old lady said—"I feel as if I had known you all my life because the "Truro News" has been a regular visitor in my home all my life."

The chief topic of conversation is the war and logging. A man with shaggy brows but a keen mind will tell you how much lumber a certain mill cuts and you are forced to look wise, and agree with him or show your ignorance by a foolish reply.

In the homes I noted that the papers were read and saved in files in proper order. But I also noted another little thing which means very much in the life of a community—the spectacles resting on a book—not the dust-covered book on the parlor table which the preacher likes to flaunt before his audience and carefully wipe the dust off—no; but a worn, well-gusted book—the Book of Books. It does not require a very vivid imagination to see that the book has recently been read and the glasses laid on the book.

I wander through the church-yard over-looking the main street of the village where the children coast and play; and I read many names there which are woven into the very fibre of the country. Methinks these men are dead, but, when I look into the eyes of a little child—(those great wells of undefined thought)—and enquire his name he re-echoes the name I have read on the tombstone then I feel that the name at least still lives.

Bass River possess two churches under two earnest, capable men. Recently they walk among their people. To hear a choir singing from Excell's Anthem Book ever brings back fond memories. Other forms, long since passed from the scenes of this life, take their place beside the singer and "the easement then becomes a glimmering square." The tenor you remember, takes the solo and the bass who vied with you for the seat next the organ rumbles out the bass part. The Church itself, stands as a monument to the contractor and builder, a personal friend of the writer.

"He rests from his labors And his works do follow him." The prayer-meeting was another phase in the life of this village, and the red-hot stove with its length of pipe recalled visions of just such another meeting place in the dear homeland.

A well-filled book-store and a bank has been established in Bass River and we hope to see the day when a railroad will pass near this oasis in the heart of a lumbering and farming country.

MRS. WILLIAM HENNIGAR, ELM STREET, RECEIVES A LETTER FROM CORPORAL E. C. HENNIGAR, R. C. R.

Mrs. William Hennigar, Elm Street, Truro, received a letter recently from her brother-in-law, Cpl. E. C. Hennigar, R. C. R. written on January 17, from Estenburg, Germany.

Cpl. Hennigar states that all regiments and battalions, who have fought in France are coming back in units.

At the time of writing he expected to leave for the base in a few days, and then go direct to Bramshott, where the whole Division expect to be stationed by February 15th.

General Currie told the men they would leave for Canada by the first of March.

SILVER SHOWER FOR PRINCESS PAT.

Government House, Halifax, N. S.

Dear Miss Archibald, I am writing to ask if you would through your Chapter of the I.O.D.E. make the appeal for the Princess Patricia Silver Shower more widely known.

Perhaps the people of your town would contribute through the Scotia Chapter, sums from 10 cts. upward will be received and the subscription list kept open until February 20th I am taking for granted that you have seen the notices in the Halifax papers.

I Am, Yours sincerely, LAURA McG. GRANT.

Anyone wishing to contribute to the Princess Patricia Silver Shower through the Scotia Chapter please leave their donations with Miss Hilda Blomqvist.

A BRAVE AND HEROIC NURSE, BORN IN CANADA.

Went Back to Duty After Eye was Shot Away.

New York, Feb. 3.—One of the women whose courageous conduct under fire is part forward as an argument for the governments of Europe in decorating women who have distinguished themselves in war activities is Miss Beatrice Mary McDonald.

Miss McDonald, who was formerly an office secretary here, went to France as a nurse in 1915, and in 1917 became a member of the Presbyterian Hospital unit of the American Red Cross. She was born in Canada.

In August, 1917, while in a casualty clearing station, Miss McDonald was struck by a German air bomb, which took away part of her right eye, destroying the sight. She had recovered from this and the consequent nervous shock, she was asked to return to this country. She refused, saying she could still work for the wounded, even though she had but one eye.

Miss McDonald is now head of

Look at the Child's Tongue when Feverish And Sick.

Take No Chances! Move Poisons from Liver and Bowels at Once.

Mothers can rest easy after giving "California Syrup of Figs" because in a few hours all the clogged-up waste, sour bile and fermenting food gently moves out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again. Children simply will not take the time from play to empty their bowels, and they become tightly packed, liver gets sluggish and stomach disordered.

When cross, feverish, restless, see if tongue is coated, then give this delicious "fruit laxative." Children love it, and it can not cause injury. No difference what ails your little one—fall to cold, or a sore throat, diarrhoea, stomach-ache, bad breath, remember, a gentle "inside cleansing" should always be the first treatment given. Full directions for babies, children, of all ages and grown-ups are printed on each bottle.

Beware of counterfeit fig syrups. Ask your druggist for a bottle of "California Syrup of Figs" then look carefully and see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company." We make no smaller size. Hand back with contempt any other fig syrup.

Evacuation Hospital No. 2, in France. She has been awarded the Royal Red Cross Decoration by the British authorities for 'courageous conduct under fire' and has been cited by General Pershing.

NOTES FROM EASTVILLE AND VICINITY.

On Saturday January 25, a large number assembled to welcome home brave soldiers. Charles Fulton, Allie and Chester Graham and Mac and Ralph Johnson. After addresses of welcome from Councillor Cox, Rev. Mr. MacKenzie, David Fisher and James Creelman, of Johnson, gave a brief speech of trench life; but as the soldiers do not care to talk of War deeds the people did not press them.

Vlin and auto harp rendered music for the evening by Messrs. W. J. Cox, and J. J. McCool; a lunch was served by the ladies.

Mr. and Mrs. Leo Ward are living on their old homestead for the winter.

Miss Jennie Brown, Mrs. Brown, and Mrs. Graham were visiting Mr. Walter Fulton's camp, Feb. 1st. They spent a very enjoyable day.

Mrs. Everett Cox, Dean, is cooking for Mr. Fulton.

Miss Bessie MacQuarrie, is spending the winter months with Mrs. Austin MacCoul.

Our school is progressing under the management of Miss C. Dillman.

Miss Jennie Brown is engaged teaching at Burnside this term.

Mr. J. W. Cox is employed with Walter Fulton.

You Can't Find Any Dandruff, and Hair Stops Coming Out

Save your hair! Make it thick, wavy, glossy and beautiful at once.

Try as you will after an application of Danderine, you can not find a single trace of dandruff or falling hair and your scalp will not itch, but what will please you most, will be after a few weeks use, when you see new hair, fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair—growing all over the scalp.

A little Danderine immediately doubles the beauty of your hair. No difference how dull, faded, brittle and scraggy, just moisten a cloth with Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. The effect is immediate and amazing—your hair will be light, fluffy and wavy, and have an appearance of abundance; an incomparable lustre, softness and luxuriance, the beauty and shimmer of true hair health.

Get a 5-cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter and prove that your hair is as pretty and soft as any—that it has been neglected or injured. It will double the beauty of your hair.
