Tupperville—D. T. Heffernan, Tupperville House.

Big Point—Joseph Brown, refused.

In the case of the new proprietors who have been granted three month extensions, the commissioners want to see how they carry on their hotels.

If they find them competent hotel men full licenses will be granted.

TILBURY.

April 21.—Robt. McWilliams, for many years an employee of the Handle factory, leaves next week for Blythe, Ont., where he has been engaged as foreman of the Handle works here. The popular "Bob" has also been chief of the fire company here for the past two years, and this many Tilbury friends will learn with regret of his departure.

Judgment has been rendered in the case of Kippen and Scarff, bankers, Tilbury, against Collector Duquette and Bailiff Marion, of Tilbury north, in favor of the plaintiff. Kippen & Scarff held a chattel mortgage against the goods, chattels, etc., of one Henry Marshall, of Tilbury North, and the collector and bailiff seized for taxes F. E. Nelles, Tilbury, for plaintiffs; Clark & Co., Windsor, for defendants.

Mrs. Alexander, of Staples, is visiting friends in town.

Rev. Mr. Tolmie, of Windsor, will conduct service in the Presbyterian Church here to-morrow. The holy communion will be administered at the morning service.

The Daily Planet is on sale at Johnson's Drug Store.

OPPORTUNITIES FOR BUSINESS.

At towns on the new lines of the Chicago & North-Western Railway are summarized in a pamphlet that may be obtained upon application to W. B. Kniskern, General Passenger and Ticket Agent, 22 Fifth Ave., Chicago, Ill. we 21, 22ms

Human Nature is Public Everywhere.

We sometimes put on a long face, remarks an exchange, and look as though we hadn't a friend in the world, just because some person has found fault with something he saw in our paper. But why feel so badly over "spilled milk"? The merchant doesn't please all his customers; the postmaster, too, is kicked and cursed because he made mistakes; the station agent is frequently backed up in the corner by some old woman, and given to understand this and that and numerous other things; the barber is censured for his dull razor; the baker is accused of fraud—some people declare that he puts too much wind in his bread; the butcher is forever reminded of his tough meat; the grocer charges poor accounts to good customers so as to "even up," and even the preacher finds it hard work to please all his congregation with his best sermon. The only good person is the one who is doing the kicking.

To Keep Brushes Clean.

The best way to clean hair brushes is with spirits of ammonia, as its effect is immediate. No rubbing is required, and cold or tepid water can be used as successfully as warm. Take a tablespoonful of ammonia to a quart of water; dip the bristles without wetting the back, and in a moment the grease is removed; then rinse in cold water, shake well and dry in the air, but not in the sun. Soap and soda soften the bristles and do not get them so thoroughly clean.

Not a Confiding Nature.

Mr. Johnson—I don't like that Farmer Jones. He's too 'spicious.

Mr. Jackson—What's he done now?

Mr. Johnson—He's done gone and put a six-foot bamboo fence around his melon patch.

THE PARTIES WHO HAVE BEEN HELPING themselves to the corn and chickens belonging to Wm. Manning, are advised to keep away from the farm in future, as each member of the gang is known and will be punished to the fullest extent of the law if seen on the premises again.

Major Coogan to-day sent a photograph of his grandson, Tommy, who lives with him to the latter's father and the Major's son, who is serving in the second Canadian contingent in South Africa. Little Tommy wanted to go out to South Africa, but when the Major saw the photograph of the boy's photograph instead the child became reconciled to his fate.

A sign in the mud-hole in the middle of Sixth St., opposite the front entrance to the Hotel Garner, told all who desired to be informed and even those who didn't care anything about it but were indifferent enough to stop and read, that the swamp was a medical lake and the region was the Hot Springs. Foreman Lethbridge happened along. He first put the sign out of business and then he proceeded to do the same thing with the hole.

Mr. Fox, of Wheatley, reeve of Romney, was in the city to-day. Mr. Fox reports that the most of the wheat around Wheatley is looking well but some on the low clay land is winter killed. Mersea has suffered more than Romney. Mr. Fox accounts for this by the excellent and extensive drainage works of Romney, whereas Mersea doesn't possess any such system.

How Coal is Made.

Did you know that coal is made from plants? Not one child in a hundred knows that! The very heat it gives out is what the plant first took in.

What is there more valuable than coal, that warms our houses so nicely and gives us such beautiful gas-light to sit by on cold winter nights? All kinds of machinery are worked by it, from the factory to the engine. Even the oil that we use in our lamps comes from coal and the remains of plants. If you were to take a piece in your hands, you could see the impression of leaves like those you gather in the country lanes.

Many have stomas, too. They are very, very hard, and even have the marks where the roots grew!

Many kinds of ferns and huge trees of the forest often make coal, for every coal mine has more or less of these even the roots of the pine have been found in the coal.

Peat is the beginning of a bed of coal before it grows hard. You know what a nice fire it makes. Coke, which you often see burning so brightly in the grate, is made by driving out all the oil and gases from the coal—the very gas that we burn.

Tar often oozes out of the lumps of coal on a fire, making little black bubbles, which burst and burn. Paraffin oil is made from this very tar, benzoline, too. Aniline comes from benzoline, which makes some of our most beautiful dyes. Essences, that are put in cakes, you buy, and taste so good, comes from tar. So you see that from coal we get nearly all our heat and light, colors and pleasant flavors. Isn't it useful, though?

Photographing by Heat.

A sensitive plate exposed to dark heat waves will ultimately become affected. With the plate still covered the same result would occur from light waves, such as proceed from the sunlight. A fair test is to expose an aluminum disk to their action. X rays penetrate this metal, and it is probable that heat waves and others can affect a photographic plate.

We Make Boys' Clothing

There's a single exception in the manufacturing of our clothing and that should be understood for we want to be known for just what we are.

We manufacture clothing for boys, but not for boys under—say ten years. Two-piece suits, fancy vestee-suits and sailor suits designed for the littler chaps we buy.

Either Serge or Tweed

Three-piece Boys' Suits from $2.75 to $7.00.

Two-piece Boys' Suits from $1.50 to $5.00

But it took us a good long time to find a specially equipped factory where we could get the goods we wanted,—goods that we were willing to put alongside the suits we made for the older and larger boys, and stand sponsor for with our guarantee.

We want the mothers to have a look—a close inspection of these suits and note the little points of excellence so apt to be slighted in clothing for Boys. They are there and don't add a penny to the cost of the garment.
