DOGGEDNESS WILL DO IT!

After the long, weary and grim holding of the trenches during the winter, and at a time when expectation had held out hopes of a great forward movement on the west-ern front and in Hungary, on a secgreat forward movement on the western front and in Hungary, on a section of the line near Ypres and also in Western Galicia, our soldiers are faced with set-backs. The set-back near Ypres had served to draw out the splendid qualities of the Canadian contingent, and has led to the contingent, and has led to the pouring of Russian reserves into Galicia. Although it portends a longer duration of the war than some scribes expected, it will bring out the determined and dogged qualities of the British character. Britons are used to set-backs in the earlier stages of war, due usually to the lack of of war, due usually to the lack of preparation for extensive military resources at the beginning of last August, a veritable miracle has already been worked. Every part of the Empire has been safeguarded by land as well as by sea. German possessions have been taken over in the Pacific. India is safe and frontier attacks repulsed. The lower basin of the Euphrates and Tigris in Asiatic Turkey has been invaded. The Turkish expedition against Feynt has been ish expedition against Egypt has been driven back. A large invading army has been landed in the Gallipoli Pen-insula, and at Enos in European Turkey. British expeditions have operated in Togoland, the Cameroons and German East Africa, and Botha has not only put down a rebellion in South Africa, but is gradually taking possession of the important military posts in German South West Africa. In Belgium we have gained as much as we have lost the past few weeks, and while the advance we anticipated is still delayed, we can feel assured that the future is with us as our resources are brought to bear in future fights. The gains by the Germans by the unexpected use of asphyxicating gases can be but temporary. We can retaliate in kind and their temporary success will disaptheir temporary success will disappear. For the present we must stiffen the sinews of war, summon up the blood, and shout as our fathers did before Agincourt for "Harry, England and St. Coeres" did before Agincourt for England and St. George."

NEW PICTURE HOUSE,

It is expected that the British Theatre will open for business on Monday night next, with a right up to the minute programme. The ball-room has been thoroughly renovated, hav-ing been painted from top to bottom; electric lights have been installed and tastefully distributed around the walls and ceiling. The screen for the pictures is something that will we think, take very well with the pa-trons of the Theatre, as it is the most up-to-date thing in screens, now in vogue in America and Canada. The screen is built of plaster, being thor oughly opaque and rigid, will not be disturbed by atmospheric conditions, and will show a picture perfectly life-like and distinct. The seating plan of he hall is arranged according to the New York style of seating, the seats being regular opera tip seats, with hat racks underneath; the seats are very comfortable, with just enough ncline to adjust itself to the persons back quite easy and restful. A sing-er from New York, Miss Lottie Ellsmore, is expected to arrive by the ex-press on Saturday, a very versatile nd talented young lady, who is sure o make a hit with our music-loving people. The project is under the auspices of the British Society, the pro-aim of the promoters to have local help as much as possible. The pian-ist is Miss Kitty Devine, who comes quite some experience as a teacher and public performer in our city. Mr . Bussey is the operator who is weil known in our midst as a machinist and skillful maniuplator of picture machines. We bespeak for the old Society a fair share of the patronas of the friends and supporters amusement-loving concerns in
