Athletic Exhibition.

A MOST AMUSING SHOW.

The athletic exhibition given by the C.L.B. gymnasts assisted by Superintendent Holmes of the Seamen's Institute during Brigade Week, was repeated at the Methodist College Hall last night. The show was a very fine one, and some extraordinary feats of agility and endurance were performed. Mr. Holmes did particularly well and the entire audience was amazed at the perfect control he exercised over his muscles in "stunts" of the utmost difficulty. He was ably seconded by C.S. M's Rendell and Hammond, and the C.L.B. Pyramid Squad. Fitz, Spitz and Gasp, the three Crazy Clowns, kept the audience in a constant fit of laughter, but whilst their various "stunts" were funny, they were by no means easy to do, and the performance was therefore all the more creditable. Early in the New Year, a further exhibition will take place and this time the John Bull Pierrot Troupe will lend its assistance. Lieut. W. Moty, Mr. Holmes and all others who helped to organize last night's show deserve great credit.

Our line of Overcoatings have to be sold, made in the most stylish manner, or any style you want, at practically your own prices. SPURRELL the Tailor. eod.11

Esquimaux Here Seeking Work.

Two fur-clad Esquimaux, who arrived on the last northern boat, waited on the Prime Minister this morning. They explained that they had come for the purpose of seeking employment and urged that under the present extraordinary conditions the Newfoundland Government would be justified in undertaking the construction of the much-mooted dam on the Labrador for the purpose of diverting the Arctic current. They particularly requested positions as timekeepers in the event of the work going ahead, pointing out that if the men were to "lie down" on the job they would probably sleep through the entire Arctic Night, a long-distance slumber of about six months. They intend remaining over to witness the Quaker Girl opera, having read of the wonderful costumes which will be exhibited from which they hope to glean some hints which may be useful to their better halves in connection with the Easter Sunday parade on the boardwalk at Makovik.

Protests Discrimination.

Editor Evening Telegram.

Dear Sir,—May I have a portion of your valuable space to address a few words to those members of the L.S.P.U. who like myself are wondering just why the heads of that organization have not taken steps to cope with the unprecedented conditions that the outrageous practice of discrimination has brought within their ranks; and to see that they are accorded better treatment than they are now receiving at the hands of employers. When conditions like those existing at present arise, naturally they expect the executive of their Union to interest themselves and endeavor to discover some means whereby those less favored than others would be afforded an opportunity of obtaining a share equal to other members. Surely they realize that during these days of stringent conditions, when the industrial equilibrium of the country has given place to commercial chaos, it is imperative that something should be done to see that fair play is given to all, and I would suggest that a meeting be convened at once to find some way of bringing this about. The letter of Mr. J. Carroll published in Telegram recently—he being only one of the many suffering under similar conditions—emphasizes the necessity for immediate action in this respect. The prevailing depression has manifested its dire consequences in the homes of this city, and already many are experiencing the poignant pangs of want. Therefore let the L.S.P.U. get busy and see that at least every member gets his rights.

Yours truly,

THOS. BRADBURY.

Health Nuggets.

The opening of wards in general hospitals to tuberculous patients will, says the U.S. Public Health Service, be of enormous benefit not only to the two million declared victims of the disease in the United States but also to thousands of others in whom the disease is still easily suppressible. Many of these fear the stigma of an avowed tuberculosis hospital, and put off going to it until recovery has become long and difficult. In a general hospital they could be easily placed in separate wards so as to protect other patients and the diagnosis of their disease kept private.

A concerted effort is being made by the U.S. Public Health Service and the National Park Service to make the National Parks of the United States safe and sanitary for the vast numbers of Americans who have recently taken to touring them. Before the war, when tourists were fewer and most of them travelled on stage lines and stayed at park hotels, the sanitary problem was simple. Since the war, however, the great majority travel in automobiles and camp out, enormously complicating all health matters.

The high price of arsenamine (salvarsan) is a constant incentive to marketing useless fake substitutes, says the U.S. Public Health Service. Large quantities of such have recently been detected in New York City and elsewhere. These products should not be bought from unknown persons. The Public Health Service also renews its advice against the use of any arsenamine not licensed and regularly tested by the Hygienic Laboratory of the Service.

Bro. O'Hurley's Memorial.

Yesterday at 11 a.m. a number of friends and ex-pupils of the Late Rev. Brother O'Hurley assembled at St. Patrick's Hall for the purpose of handing over to the Schools the furniture and equipment for the Brother O'Hurley Memorial Room. The dedicatory speech was delivered by Mr. James Harris, Chairman of the Memorial Committee; his eloquent remarks bore ample testimony to the affectionate esteem in which the memory of Bro. O'Hurley is treasured by all those who came under his kindly influence. Rev. Bro. Ahern in acknowledgement spoke of the virtues of the deceased Brother, and complimented all concerned on the successful finish of the memorial.

Rev. Fr. Pippy, Messrs. F. W. Bradshaw, W. J. Higgins, J. M. Walsh and T. Kelly also spoke and referred in glowing terms to the work of Brother O'Hurley in their childhood's days. Rev. Brothers Ryan and Pennessy of St. Bonaventure's College, who had been for a long time associated with Brother O'Hurley in St. Patrick's Hall, complimented the Committee on the dedication of their purpose and paid a tribute of regard to the memory of their deceased Brother and friend.

Rev. Brother Ennis, Superior of Mt. Cashel referred to Bro. O'Hurley's influence as a Religious teacher and his love for little children. All the speakers referred to the happy synchronizing of the apparent good work done in Ireland with the occasion of the opening of the Memorial. In commemoration of the event the pupils of the Establishment were given a free afternoon. Amongst those present were Messrs. J. J. Rossiter, J. J. Murphy, Berrigan, W. B. Comerford, P. Berrigan and E. J. Cahill.
