The Assembly Eustain the Appeal of the Prosecution.

Washington, May 31.—In Presbyterian Assembly, shortly before noon, when Kansas had been reached in the call of synods, the moderator aross and said: "Dr. Briggs is very weary of this proceeding and has saked that he be excused by the moderator from further attendance as a party. I cheerfully grant his request."

Dr. Briggs then left the church amid a buzz from the galleries. He looked tired and sad and seemed glad to get away.

The appeal of the prosecution from the verdict of the New York Presbytery acquiting Dr. Briggs was finally sustained by the General Assembly, the vote being as follows: Number of votes cast, 499; to sustain the appeal, 298; to sustain in part, 85; total to sustain, 383; not to sustain, 116.

After the result had been announced, After the result had been announced, Rev. J. T. Smith, of Balsimore, moved the appointment of a committee of fifteen commissioners, of which the Rev. Thomas A. Hoyt, D.D., of Philadelphia, shall be chairman, to bring in an explanatory minute. This was carried and the moderator was authorized to appoint the committee. He will announce the committee to-morrow. The assembly then adjourned.

CHICAGO, May 31.—The number of paid admissions at the World's Fair yesterday was 123,097, the largest since the opening. The awards matter, it is thought, is about to be amicably adjusted, John Boyd Thacher, chairman of the committee on awards, has addressed a letter to th on awards, has addressed a letter to the president of the foreign commissioners, in which he states he is now acting and will continue to act in conformity with the law of Congress providing for the one-man system. Mr. Thacher will, however, allow one, three, five, or any number of men to accompany this judgethrough the exhibit and give explanations and make recomand give explanations and make recom accompany this judge through the exhibit and give explanations and make recommendations and suggestions. The letter, it is understood, has favorably impressed the foreign exhibitors, and it is thought an understanding will be reached between the foreign exhibitors and the awards committee.

The Duke de Veragua, when he first came here, was presented with the freedom of the city by Mayor Harrison. In addition he was given a beautifully-engraved silver plate, the size of an ordinary visiting card, with the family seal engraved in colors in the upper right-hand corner. Upon the card was also engraved the following:

'This will admit Don Cristobal Colon de la Cerdo, Duke of Veragua, and whoever may accompany him, to the grounds and buildings of the Werld's Columbian Exposition at any time. Thos. W. Palmer, president; H. N. Higinbotham, president; Geo. R. Davis, director-general."

Two similarly engraved plates were given to the duke's daughter, Miss Colombus, and to his brother, the Marquis de Barboles.

The duke decided to go to the exposition The duke decided to go to the exposition the other day, accompanied by his brother, Marquis de Bartoles, and his daughter, Miss Colombus. They went to the Fifty-ninth street entrance and started to past through the turnstile.

Gateman Gilbert stopped the duke and demanded his ticket. The duke began hunting for his card case. A reporter for a Chicago German newspaper, who was standing near, recognized the distinguished party and rushed up to the gate with.

party and rushed up to the gate with: "That's Duke de Veragua. Let him in quick."
"I don't care who he is; he must have a After a two minutes' hunt the duke found his silver card and showed it to the guard, who bowed and stammered an apol-

"The rules demand that deadheads must place a card with their name on it in the box," said the guard.

After another hunt the duke produced one of his own cards and dropped it into the box. His brother produced his silver card and wrote his name on a card the gateman gave him.

Miss Columbus had left her silver card at home. The gateman would not allow her to pass the turnstile. The duke looked astonished and the German reporter was frantic.

astonished and the defrantic.

The duke called attention to the claus on his silver card, "and whoever accompanies him." The gateman smiled and said another card would be satisfactory but the duke had no more cards, his torther had none and the gentleman's supply had run out.

Then came another hunt for a bland card. The duke looked surprised, his daughter hung her head in mortification and the Marquis de Barboles appeared disgusted.
