RODE IN ENGINE TANK

Man Going to His Dying Mother—Had No Money for Fare.

Kansas City, Mo., Sept. 8.—The fireman on the fast Chicago and Alton train, out of Kansas City, found a white man in the water tank of the locomotive when the train stopped at Blackburn, 80 miles from Kansas City, Tuesday night.

The traveler, who gave his name as James P. Hitchens, had climbed into the tank just before the train left Kansas City. His head was barely out of the water when the fireman found him. He explained that he had received word that his mother was dying in St. Louis. He had no money and had taken this method of getting to his destination.

The man was allowed to dry out his clothes in the engine cab and permitted to complete the journey to St. Louis.

FREIGHT RATES ON GRAIN SHIPMENTS

Action of Railway Commission—New Set of Groupings and Percentages.

Ottawa, Sept. 8.—The railway commission has refused to accede to the request of the American Cereal Company of Peterboro for the establishment of a basis of freight rates on ex-lake grain originating in Chicago, Milwaukee, Duluth, Fort William and Port Arthur by way of Georgian Bay to be milled at the company's mills at Peterboro, and then shipped via the ports of Montreal, Portland, Boston or West St. John, that should not exceed the grain rate from these upper lake ports to the Atlantic seaboard. The cereal company will get the advantage of the reduction on railway freight from their mills to the seaboard that the board has granted to the request of the Dominion Millers' Association.

The board has changed its order of July 25 fixing railway rates on grain and grain products for export from Ontario points to the seaboard. In that order it was provided that certain station groupings and percentages of the Chicago to New York route should be substituted for those previously adopted by the Canadian Pacific and Grand Trunk export traffic from Ontario. It was pointed out by the railways that this worked an injustice upon them in respect of traffic to New York and ports south.

The board has fixed a new set of station groupings and percentages in line with the railways' request and which are nevertheless lower than those in force up till this morning. The new set of station groupings and percentages of the Chicago-New York route, are as follows:

1—Niagara Falls to Paris, Brantford, Jarvis and the Niagara Peninsula, 70 per cent.

2—East of Hamilton to Toronto, inclusive thence west along the G. T. R. main line to Berlin and Watertown and points south thereof not included in group 1, 75 per cent.

3—East of Toronto to Port Hope and Peterboro, inclusive thence west along the Grand Trunk to Lindsay through Manilla and Blackwater Junction to Peterboro and Watertown, and stations within that group also north of Watertown, Guelph, Georgetown and Brantford, inclusive the line of the C. P. R. from Brantford to Elora, and north of Port Hope to Peterboro and intermediate stations, 77 per cent.

4—East of Port Hope and Peterboro to Kingston and Sharbot Lake, inclusive and intermediate territory Madoc branch west of Kleinburg to Grand Valley, Shelburne, both inclusive; also intermediate points north of Inglewood and Cataract, north of Inglewood to Alliston and Allandale, north of King to Barrie, north of Stratford to Jackton's Point, north of Blackwater Junction to Lorneville Junction, and west of Lindsay to Lorneville Junction, north of Lindsay to Fenelon Falls and Lakefield, 78 per cent.

5—North of Alliston to Collingwood, north of Barrie to Atherley Junction, Midland Penetang, Collingwood, north of Fenelon Falls to Hallsburg, north of Lorneville Junction to Cobocook, west of Lorneville Junction to Orillia, 82 per cent.

West of Collingwood to Meaford, 85 per cent.

The Guelph and Goderich Railway is given the right to use certain lands of the Grand Trunk that it had applied for in Guelph. The Hamilton, Galt and Guelph Railway and the way are both given the right to operate their lines along certain streets in Hamilton to which the city council has already consented. The C. P. R. has been given the right to cross the Galt and Water streets in Toronto with an additional track.

KNOCKED OUT BY A LOON

Man Met With Odd Accident in Heavy Fog.

St. Albans, Vt., Sept. 8.—The only loon ever taken alive in this section of the state was captured recently by Jerry Warner under peculiar circumstances. The bird was extremely difficult to shoot, to say nothing of taking him alive, and Mr. Warner's catch is considered wonderful.

Mr. Warner left the slip about 4 o'clock one morning on a bicycle with the intention of joining a campaign against the Georgia Bay, eight miles south of here. The road runs along the edge of Lake Champlain and in several places is bound by thickets and second growth. It was a bright morning, when about four miles from town the wheelman ran into a dense fog drifting in from the lake. In spite of this he kept up a good gait and at the top of the hill let the machine out.

He was over the brow he heard a shot in the direction of the lake and about a minute later a form loomed up just ahead of him in the fog, and he was struck by the impact, but by a heavy body. He remembers pitching off his wheel and then he lost consciousness. Ten minutes later he came to and found himself lying in the ditch, covered with dirt and damp sand. In the middle of the road lay his bicycle, and by the side of that an old male loon. The bird, frightened by the shot, and being out of from the water, had flown across the road, and struck Warner with enough force to unseat him.

Thinking that the bird was dead, Mr. Warner picked it up and he found it was examining it, when the loon came to life and struck at him viciously with its spoon-shaped bill. It, too, had been stunned by the impact, but was still in fighting trim.

Mr. Warner threw the big bird to the ground and set up its bill and he found his pocket handkerchief about its bill and pinion its wings with cord. He mounted his wheel and continued on to camp. The loon soon recovered from the collision and is now as good as ever.

PROUD DAY FOR THE PRESIDENT

The Jap and Russian Envoys Express Gratitude for His Services.

Oyster Bay, Sept. 8.—Baron Komura and Minister Takahira, Japanese peace plenipotentiaries, are to lunch with the President next Saturday. The same evening M. Witte and Baron Rosen will dine at Sagamore Hill.

The following were the telegrams received by the President from Baron Rosen, announcing the peace treaty: "To the President: I hasten to inform you that the treaty of peace has just been signed. Humanity is under a lasting debt of gratitude to you for the initiation and successful conclusion of the peace conference. I beg to be permitted to add my own thanks and sincere acknowledgment. (Signed) Komura."

Baron Rosen said: "We have the honor to inform you that we have this day signed the treaty of peace with Japan. It is not for us to thank you for what you have done, but the cause of peace, as your noble and generous efforts have been fittingly acknowledged by our august sovereign. We can only express to you, President, and to the people of the United States, our personal sentiment of profound gratitude for the cordial reception you have extended to us, and which we have met with at the hands of the people in this country. (Signed) Witte, Rosen."

THE EMBARGO ON CANADIAN CATTLE

Its Removal Advocated by the Liberal Candidate for Edinburgh.

London, Sept. 8.—Mr. John Sutherland, Liberal candidate for Edinburgh, addressed a meeting at Kinross Tuesday night. At the close of his speech, Mr. B. Smith questioned Mr. Sutherland as to his views on the importation of Canadian cattle.

It was stated by members of the audience that the removal of the restrictions would adversely affect small crofters.

Mr. Sutherland favored the removal on the principle of the greatest good for the greatest number, and thought one consequence of the admission of Canadian cattle would be that people would get cheaper beef.

Mr. William Henderson, of Coupar Angus, has received a letter from Robert Bickerdike, M. P., of Montreal, in reference to the exclusion of Canadian cattle. "You can hardly imagine," writes Bickerdike, "what a hard feeling this cattle embargo question has engendered in this country against the British Government, and, while your Government may think it great fun and a good joke to play on the Canadians by shutting out our cattle under false pretenses, if they only knew the bad effect it has on loyal Canada they would hesitate before continuing it."

SWEET SINGER, BUT MISERLY

Some Stories of Francisco Tamagno, Once World's Greatest Tenor.

Varese, Italy, Sept. 8.—Francisco Tamagno, the most famous tenor in the world two decades ago, died here on Thursday.

Tamagno was born in Turin in 1855, his father being an innkeeper, and began his musical career when 16 years old as a chorus singer in the opera house of his native city. He made his first appearance as a star in Palermo, Sicily, in 1878, in "Lilla um Maschera." Several years later he went to Buenos Ayres, returning to Turin in 1884, where he immediately achieved continental fame, wealthy admirers offering gifts upon him at every performance.

He was chosen to create the title role in Tamagno's earnings upon the operatic stage won him a fortune of $150,000. He received $2,000 a night when ever he sang in America. His parsimonious habits, so directly contrary to the extravagance of his colleagues, was notorious. His greed of gain became an eccentricity, and is said to have been the result of his early training, when he received tips as a waiter in his father's inn.

The "closeness" with which the singer scrutinized every item of expenditure is illustrated by an incident while he was singing at the Metropolitan Opera House in New York. He gave a boy 25 cents to get him some beer. When the boy returned with a bottle and 10 cents change he made the boy return it and exchange it for a pitcher filled from the spigot, for which he paid but 5 cents.

Besides receiving $1,000 to $2,000 a night for singing, Tamagno always insisted on being given complimentary tickets, which he was supposed to be given to his friends. Instead it is said, he sold them to ticket speculators. On one occasion, when the tickets failed to arrive he paid 22 francs for a cab and drove to the theater to get them himself. At the end of the week he added the 22 francs to his expense account and collected them from the management.

Tamagno's American contracts provided that the management should pay not only the traveling expenses of the singer, but of four other people. Tamagno made money by taking only his valet with him, and leaving his personal agent back in New York. He is even alleged to have sold his seats in the dressing-room car, and when the seats actually bought back from him the privilege of using his seats.

PLUNGERS ONCE BUT PIKERS NOW

Smathers, Lewisohn and Hudson Agree to Bet Only $100 On a Horse Hereafter.

New York, Sept. 8.—"Betting on race horses is a delusion and a snare, and to win a fortune from the bookmakers next to impossible," so say E. E. Smathers, Jesse Lewisohn and A. B. Hudson, three of the greatest plungers in America. Full of this belief, these men—who have frequently bet from $5,000 to $25,000 on a race—agreed to limit their wagers to $100 hereafter.

The resolve to bet only $100 on a race is the outcome of bantering on the part of the trio of plungers, and three days ago they entered into an agreement that this sum should be the limit of their speculations. In order to make the agreement binding and to provide a penalty for the one who should break it, it was expressly stipulated that if the agreement was broken the guilty man should pay to each of his fellow-plungers a forfeit of $5,000.

Smathers, Lewisohn and Hudson last Tuesday were in the club house comparing notes on their turf fortunes of the season. All agreed that in the long run the chances were against them. Each man in turn said that he had frequently won large amounts, but hastened to add that, all in all, from season to season, he had lost heavily. "Then why should we continue to bet heavily?" said Smathers. "It is a losing game, as we know, and we are simply enriching the bookmakers. For my part I'm through with it and will limit my bets in the future to $100."

At this declaration Lewisohn and Hudson began to chaff Smathers. "You can't stop," they declared. "You may think you can, and for a few days you will go along just betting $100 on a horse. But wait until a 'good thing,' a 'clinch,' crops up; you will be in the ring in the same old way placing $10,000 on it."

"Just to prove I'm sincere in this matter," retorted Smathers, "I'll make a 'swoosh' if you'll both join. You say that you are both big losers, and are willing to quit, or bet only small other men $5,000 apiece." They agreed, but only $100 a race until the end of the season. "I'll do likewise, and the man who fails to live up to his agreement pays a forfeit to the two amounts. Now, if you will agree to do so the matter stands."

THE TUNNEL AT WINDSOR

Plan for Windsor Side Issued, and Options Being Secured.

Windsor, Sept. 8.—The Michigan Central Tunnel Company is losing no time in starting operations on the proposed new tunnel beneath the Detroit River. A plan of the tunnel on this side has been issued, and the company has instructed its agent here to secure options on property south of the river. It appears that the yards will be removed outside the city when the tunnel is completed. It is proposed to purchase property on either side of the present line as far east as the gravel road and north to the Tecumseh road. This will carry the yards three miles from the river.

If all the property desired is secured the railway will have sufficient ground for the four lines of railways, and railroad men believe that it is the intention to have a union station south of the city.
