LONDON WON BOTH GAMES
FROM BERLIN ON HOLIDAYHiggins Held Joe Keenan's Team Safe in Morning Game and Shut Them Out—Afternoon Game Was Tight
Affair but London's Rally in Seventh Won.

[BY JINX.]

If ever a citizen of London had a right to complain of the treatment accorded him during his sojourn here it is Joe Keenan, of West London, that Dayton-like section of this fair city, which is liable to be wiped out at any minute by a naughty cloudburst, in one loud splash, as it were. Joe and his Berlin ball club spent the last three days of the past week in our midst, and during that time they were deprived of four perfectly good ball games. They lost one on Thursday, and another on Friday, and on Saturday they were defeated in both morning and afternoon games. It is these latter two with which we are about to deal.

WE NEEDED THESE.

Mr. Keenan's standing in the league at the present time is such that a ball game or so in the win column is decidedly welcome. So to take two from him on Saturday after depriving him of two previous to that, was nothing less than robbery. But Mr. Deneau, who pilots the local hired help, is also in need of a few games, so to the victor go the spoils.

The morning game on the holiday was much the same as on the day previous. The score was 4 to 0 on Friday, and the teams played much the same kind of ball. The afternoon contest was a great deal closer and more closely played, but it provided excitement for over three thousand fans, and may lose work on the part of the local team was made up for by the fact that the game was won after an uphill fight, and a great rally in the seventh. The final score was 7 to 6.

Morning Game Dragg.

The morning game was a draggish sort of affair. "Hop-Ball" Higgins, the gent who was laced all over the lot at Brantford on Tuesday, was on the hill for the locals, and judging from his performance he has quite recovered from his Brantford experience. He had the Dutchmen hitting the ball every place but the right place and only six scattered hits were made off his delivery. Now six hits is no small margin and many a game has been won on just that number, as the London total of hits in the same game will testify. But when one considers that no two of these hits were made off Higgins in any one inning, it will be realized that the former Alliance had was having the pill over in grand style.

Auld Looked Good.

Joe Keenan called on Pitcher Auld, the Toronto City League pitcher, to break the Berlin losing streak. Auld pitched a nice game and would have won only for errors made behind him and the hits that were made in front of him when his own team got a little shaky at that particular time. He held the Deneau tribe to five bingles, but every one of those five hits figured in the run scoring.

Neither team scored a run until the fourth. London broke in at this stage and garnered a tally after two were out. Ernie Dinsmore paying the way when he booted Clickenger's grounders, and let that gentleman get safe. Click's stole second and Stewart's single to right scored him. In the fifth, a double by Rube Deneau with two gone and a small hit by Myers scored Deneau. The final two runs of the game came in the seventh. Myers started it by getting safe on Miller's boot. He advanced a peg when Eddie Linneborn singled, and both runners scored on a single by Matteson.

The second game was exciting. The two as far as excitement went. It looked for a time as if the Keenan Kut-Ups would walk off the Berlin pastime, but one of those rallies which result in a pile of runs and stir up a barrel of excitement was pulled off in the seventh by Manager Deneau and his henchmen, and after the smoke had cleared the score-board showed a one-run margin favoring the locals. After that there wasn't much to the game. Bobby Heck, whose offerings had been backed by the Berlin hitters in the early sessions, gave way to Jack Fitzpatrick, and not a Berlin man reached second base while Fitz was on the hill.

Bradshaw Had Hard Luck. Bill Bradshaw, Berlin's kid pitcher, was on the mound for the visitors, and he pitched a nice game. No team in the league has any license to beat Bradshaw when he is good, and he was very lucky, and it was only the youth of Bradshaw and his inexperience under fire that lost him the game. The Berlin errors were costly, too. Although the Dutchmen only slipped up four times while the Deneau crowd had six bingles during the afternoon, the visitors' errors came at a time when they had the lead.

London Scored First. Heck only permitted Berlin one hit up to the fourth inning. In the first inning Biddy Burns got to first on a scratchy single, the ball bounding bad and hitting Bierbauer on the shoulder. The other three batters were easy outs, however. Bradshaw let London down in order in the first, but in the second, three hits, one a scratchy one, resulted in one run. Stewart started with a double to left after Clickenger had been thrown out. Dunlop went out on

Pelkey a Canadian;
Born Near Chatham

Chatham, Ont., May 25.—Arthur Pelkey, the pugilist who took part in the fatal bout for the world's heavyweight championship with Luther McCarty, at Calgary, on Saturday, was born in the village of Patricourt, in Dover Township, near this city. He is the son of Andrew Pelkey, of that place, and is 30 years of age. He has been boxing for three years, and has performed in many matches in Chicopee Falls, Mass., and other parts of the New England States. In boxing trim he weighed 205 pounds. He is popular here, and widespread sympathy has been expressed at the outcome of the contest, which resulted in the death of McCarty. Pelkey stands six feet, two inches in height. He was in Chatham on a visit with relatives in the spring before leaving for the west.

DENEAU RELEASES
TWO MORE PLAYERSPitcher Higgins and Catcher
Prozeller Were Let Out on Saturday Night.

Charley Higgins and Joe Prozeller, pitcher and catcher, respectively, were released on Saturday evening by Manager Deneau, of the London Club. Manager Deneau also intends to release another pitcher before Wednesday, the Canadian League teams having to cut down to the salary limit by that date. Prozeller was found not fast enough for the Canadian League, while Higgins asked to be released. Higgins pitched a couple of good games while with the club, but he was not a reliable pitcher, and he did not exhibit much fire in the box. Manager Deneau intended to keep him for a time, however, but he has a chance to go to the Zanesville Club, and the local manager decided to let him go.

BOLT WORKS BADLY
USED AT CHATHAMLondon's Good Soccer Team Was Winning. So Chatham Started to Rough It.

Chatham, May 24.—In one of the roughest football games ever seen in this city, the London Bolt Works team and the Chatham soccer team battled to a tie here today. The Bolt Works team was easily the best, and at half-time the score was 1 to 0 in their favor. They scored another in the second half, and then the Chatham players started to rough it. Their lighter opponents were pretty badly beaten up, and just before full time the locals evened up the score. The game was played for a shield donated by the Maccaebes.

NEW WESTMINSTER WON.
[Canadian Press.]

New Westminster, B. C., May 26.—New Westminster's Minto cup team is away in front in the 1913 professional lacrosse series on the coast. Ten thousand spectators turned out Victoria Day at Queen's Park and watched the world's champions outplay the Vancouver team in three out of the four quarters and win by a score of 8 to 3. Only three penalties were handed out and these were for unnecessarily hard checking.

LUTHER McCARTY, HEAVYWEIGHT
CHAMPION OF AMERICA, KILLED
IN PELKEY FIGHT AT CALGARYWeak Heart, Greatly Affected by Excitement and Right Hook Which Pelkey Landed Two Inches
Below His Heart, Said To Be Responsible for His Death—Tommy Burns and Pelkey Are Under Arrest.

Calgary, Alta., May 26.—Burns' Arena, the scene of Saturday's tragic event, was fatally destroyed by fire at an early hour this morning. The origin of the fire is a mystery. Wesley Benson, his wife and two children were asleep in the corner of the building, and escaped just as the flames commenced to lick up that portion of the building, which they occupied. The building is covered by insurance.

Calgary, Alta., May 26.—Dramatic in the extreme was the finish that attended the boxing championship bout at the Manchester arena today at one minute past 1 o'clock, when Luther McCarty, recognized white heavyweight champion, went down before Arthur Pelkey, was slowly counted out by Referee Smith, and then, while doctors worked desperately over him, expired outside the arena just 22 minutes later.

It was a weak heart which was largely responsible for the death of McCarty. The doctors stated that McCarty had been greatly affected by the excitement and the rather light right hook which Pelkey landed two inches below the heart caused death.

BOXED LESS THAN TWO MINUTES.

The men had been boxing but one minute and 45 seconds when Luther went to the canvas. There was consternation on the face of everyone present when the curly-headed fellow stretched his long limbs on the floor. Referee Smith was plainly flabbergasted as he started the count of 10. Billy McCarthy stood with his mouth open, while Pelkey's arms dropped to his sides and he simply stared, unable to believe what his eyes told him.

McCarty raced around the ring and yelled for a doctor and soon half a dozen were in the ring working over the prostrate champion, while the crowd fought its way over seats, benches and tables and struggled to get into the ring. The arena was cleared by the mounted police.

Blow Was Light One. McCarty hit lightly and then he started to reel backward. He kept his feet moving so he did not go over on his back, not falling until he was about halfway across the ring. Pelkey was standing position he turned to his right and landed a hard blow at the opponent's arm over on his back and stretching out his arms. His mouth went open and he breathed in the dust.

The crowd yelled, though all retained their seats, expecting the champion would get up. Pelkey's guard, planted a driving blow just under McCarty's heart. The impact sent McCarty reeling to the ropes. Not a sound issued from the stricken heavyweight as he slowly sunk to the canvas, and was counted out by Referee Smith.

They Clinched. They clinched and on the break-away Pelkey got in the first blow, an uppercut to McCarty's jaw. McCarty followed with a swinging right that just missed Pelkey's ear, and followed this with a left to the body. Pelkey's mouth. It was after this stinging attack that Pelkey, feinting to unbalance McCarty's guard, planted a driving blow just under McCarty's heart. The impact sent McCarty reeling to the ropes. Not a sound issued from the stricken heavyweight as he slowly sunk to the canvas, and was counted out by Referee Smith.

Believes Heart Was Weak. Dr. J. H. Birch, one of the doctors in attendance, stated after the fight that McCarty was not examined by a physician before entering the ring, so it was difficult to state what the real reason was. He thought, however, that McCarty must have had a weak heart, and that the excitement was the cause of its giving way.

From a number of other sources "It is hearted so it seems that that was the cause of death." The excitement coupled with the physical strain of the first blow struck must have taxed his heart. Dr. Auld states McCarty must have had a valvular heart trouble or the blow struck would have hurt no healthy man.

Enter Ring at 1:45. McCarty and Pelkey entered the ring at 1:45 p.m. (mountain time) and were cheered vociferously by the thousands of spectators. For twenty minutes they were the targets of admiring shouts from their practice.

McCarty, the local goalkeeper, played a star game, and only his good work prevented a much closer score.
