

TIME'S CHANGES.
Time's changes—oh! Times changes,
We can bear to see them come,
And crumble down the cottage roof,
Or rend the palace dome.

We bear to see the flower we nursed,
And cherished in the spring,
Turn withering from autumn's wind,
A dead and sapless thing.

The playground of our childish days
May wear so strange a face,
That not one olden haecment
Is left for us to trace.

The beams that light life's morning up
May set in misty shade,
The stars of pleasure's fairy sky
May glitter but to fade.

Time's changes—oh! Times changes—
They may work what'er they will,
Turn all our sunshine into storm,
And all our good to ill.

The cheek we like to look upon,
May lose its downy red,
And only carry wrinkled lines,
Where once fair dimples spread.

The form that's dearest to our arms
May wane from easy grace,
The raven tresses shine no more,
And grey hairs take their place.

But we can lightly smile at all Time's changes till we find
Some well known voice grows harshly cold,
That once was warmly kind.

Till hands and eyes that used to be The first our own to greet,
Can calmly take a long farewell,
And just as calmly meet.

Till gentle words are passed away,
And promised faith forgot,
Teaching us sadly that we love
The one who loveth not.

Oh! better, then, to die, and give
The grave its kindred dust,
Than live to see Time's bitter change
In hearts we love and trust.

The North British Review (Free Church)
The Westminster Review (Liberal) Blackwood's Edinburgh Magazine (Tory).

ALTHOUGH these works are distinguished by the political shades above indicated, yet but a small portion of their contents is devoted to political subjects. It is their Literary character which gives them their chief value;
and in that they stand confessedly far above all other journals of their class. Blackwood, still under the fatherly care of Christopher North, maintains its ancient celebrity, and is, at this time, unusually attractive, from the serial works of Bulwer and other literary notables, written for that Magazine, and first appearing in its columns both in Great Britain and the United States. Such works as "The Caxtons" and "My New Novel" (both by Bulwer), "The Green Hand" "Katie Stewart" and other admirals, of which numerous rival editions are issued by the leading publishers from the pages of Blackwood, after it has been issued by Messrs Scott & Co., so that the subscriber to the reprint of that Magazine may always rely on having the earliest reading of these fascinating tales.

Terms, per anm.
