

and mercantile pursuits, and to matriculate in Arts, Law and Medicine. Being affiliated to McGill University, Montreal, young men can take two years of the Arts' course, in the College should they desire to do so.

The Quebec City Schools.—The following changes have taken place in the teaching staff of the Quebec schools. The Rev. R. Ker, Rector of Trinity Church, has been appointed Vice-Rector of the Quebec High School. Mr. A. D. McQuarrie has succeeded Mr. Emslie in the Artillery Street Commissioners' School. Miss Minnie Moore has succeeded Miss Campbell in the Junior Department and Miss Maggie Moore takes the place of her sister in the primary class. Miss Mackie has been appointed to fill the Vacancy in the Girls' High School caused by the resignation of Miss Clarke. Miss Lloyd has resigned her position in the D'Aiguillon St. Commissioners' School. All the Schools, under control in the City have opened with a very fair number of pupils.

The Sherbrooke Schools.—The Young Ladies Academy opens for the year under Miss Kate Wilson, holding an Academy Diploma from the McGill Normal School, and having an excellent record as a teacher. Miss Wilson takes the place of Miss Garraty, who, after a long and very successful career as a teacher, has entered another sphere. The Central School (4 departments,) is fortunate in again coming under the charge of Miss Rodgers,—who resigned the position three years ago—assisted in the junior departments, by Miss A. Wilson, Miss Hogue and Miss Bottom. The school opens with a good attendance. The North Sherbrooke School opens in an excellent new building finely situated on Prospect St. under the charge of Miss Sutton and Miss Stevens,—the rooms being well filled. The East Sherbrooke School is still taught by Miss Steere: this school has not got a suitable building, but it is hoped that the want will not long continue. With this exception, all the school buildings are excellent and are well furnished. The Young Men's Academy re-opens under the charge of C. W. Parker, with Miss Mitchell as teacher of the junior department, and an increased attendance.

The St. Johns Schools.—The English schools in St. Johns, we hear, have been centralized and placed under the supervision of the School Board. This we believe, is decidedly a move in the right direction, and one calculated to be of benefit alike to pupils and teachers. Mr. Curtis, the principal, and Miss Tyler the assistant, will continue to occupy the upper portion of the school building, and still use the main entrance at the north end. Each of these departments is divided into three forms, as heretofore. On the first flat is Miss Nichols' Private children's school, and a young ladies' Model School opened by Miss K. Caulfield, each in separate rooms with their own entrance at the southwestern entrance of the building. We hear that the services