McLaughlin Motor Ambulances

At the Front and on the Way

General Ryerson, Head of the Canadian Red Cross Society recently stated that: "No more useful donation could be made than a Motor Ambulance to carry the Canadian wounded."

The Motor Ambulance has been, without question, the means of saving many lives in this great war, by effectively enabling prompt attention to be given to wounds.

The powerful McLaughlin ambulances that are now being turned out, are exceptionally convenient. They accommodate four men lying down, leaving an aisle down the centre for attendants or twelve people sitting, or six sitting and two lying down, and the driver and necessary attendants also.

They are equipped to carry three days' rations, a full supply of bandages—medical supplies—medicines—thermos bottles, etc.—motor tools and extra equipment, also the rifles and kits of the wounded.

The Ambulances are painted the regular service green with the standard Red Cross lettering.

These are being made at a special price, $1575, boxed ready for shipment, f.o.b. Oshawa.

See list of the individuals and organizations, who have already donated one or more of these ambulances.
