

REFERENCE PAPERS

CANADIAN INFORMATION SERVICE

DEPARTMENT OF EXTERNAL AFFAIRS

OTTAWA, CANADA

THE GOVERNMENT OF CANADA

The Government of Canada is the representative of the people of Canada and is responsible to the Parliament of Canada. It is the duty of the Government to ensure that the laws of Canada are faithfully executed and that the public interest is protected.

The Government of Canada is committed to the principles of democracy and the rule of law. It is the duty of the Government to ensure that the rights and freedoms of all Canadians are protected and that the public interest is protected.

The Government of Canada is committed to the principles of democracy and the rule of law. It is the duty of the Government to ensure that the rights and freedoms of all Canadians are protected and that the public interest is protected.

The Government of Canada is committed to the principles of democracy and the rule of law. It is the duty of the Government to ensure that the rights and freedoms of all Canadians are protected and that the public interest is protected.

The Government of Canada is committed to the principles of democracy and the rule of law. It is the duty of the Government to ensure that the rights and freedoms of all Canadians are protected and that the public interest is protected.

The Government of Canada is committed to the principles of democracy and the rule of law. It is the duty of the Government to ensure that the rights and freedoms of all Canadians are protected and that the public interest is protected.