

Focus Groups

Data analysis is not computerized for qualitative research.

Note:

Please note that Environics also has an extensive nationwide network of supervisors and interviewers who conduct large scale personal in-home interviews according to high standards of professional conduct. However, since we have not recommended this particular methodology for this study, we have not discussed this segment of Environics' capabilities in the preceding pages.