NOW FOR THE JUDGMENT

IN THE SUIT TO UNSEAT A. E. A. MACDONALD.

The Aqueduct Company's Cash Books and Ledger ordered by the Court to be produced. Verdict for the Plaintiff.

The case in which Relator Long is seeking to have A. E. A. Macdonald unseated on the ground of insufficient property qualification has been brought to a conclusion.

The petition has been submitted in evidence intended to prove that the Relator can qualify on neither freehold nor leasehold property; that his equity in the Wilson-avenue property does not amount to anything like the $2000 required by statute; and that he holds no lease of office in the Freehold Loan Building on which he can qualify.

In his oath of office, Macdonald qualified on the freehold office, and his lease of the Freehold Loan office was submitted as an alternative qualification.

The case, which had been adjourned from Wednesday, was resumed at 2:45 yesterday afternoon, with E. A. Macdonald in the box.

Books Not forthcoming.

A small sensation was created when Mr. J. A. Macdonald, a partner in the Aqueduct Company, was named as the Relator in the case.

Mr. Ryan testified that, though he was not now a director of the Aqueduct Company, he understood the company was a sub-tenant of E. A. Macdonald's in the Freehold Loan Building.
