Rew 10rg, Dec. 10rd with a street has been alive with rumors of a Brazil ports. Were Chief Officer Hooper, Second Mate Bentiey and three seamen of the American barque Marion S. Harriss of Philadelphia, which went ashore Nov. 16 of the railroads and their mining companies designed to increase the profits of the American loss. The vessel safled from New York on Oct. 9, bound for Rio Janeiro, laden with case oil and lumber. All went well until Nov. 16, lat. 7, long. 32, when the wind became baffling and a licavy rain set in, with a strong set of current from the northwest at 8.30 p.m. The weather being very thick, the vessel struck a coral reef about six miles off shore, where she remained hard and fast with the sea breaking over her. Capt. Dasey launched the lifeboat and proceeded to Natal in search of assistance. Mean while the vessel was strounded by a swarm of piratical natives from the coast. The crew with the greatest difficulty managed to keep them from boarding and looting the vessel of her stores and cargo. On the 17th the vessel combenced to break up. Toward night Capt. Dasey returned to the vessel will be allowed and here they were taken care of by the American Consul, who, after eight days, forwarded them to Pernambuco, where they took passage home by the steamer they look passage home by the steamer theyelius. Capt. Dasey remained at Natal in order to attend to the owners' interests.

ter, Florence Bliss, fears she has met death in the frozen Northwest. Mrs. Fleming vanished from sight last summer. Three short letters were all that told the rest of the story. One of these came from Seattle in September, the other from St. Michael and it told that she was then starting up the Yukon River. The third and last was from Dawson City and contained these lines: 'All the money I took with me has been swallowed up. Send me help; I am in peril.'

"A few days ago came a despatch telling the story of a slightly built, delicate woman, with sharp features, and black eyes, who had been recognized as Mrs. Fleming, who, with only her son and one follower, had moved out of the city Into the heart of the mining camps."

"Wall-street Stuation.

New York, Dec. 22.—The Evening Post says: No attempt was made by the speculators in either direction on to-day's stock market except in the coal shares and in the local transportation stocks. In the apitare is excitive securities people who confide excitoring the reconstruction of the sidewalk, are busy distributing their "tips." In the Elevated and Surface Railway shares, the now familiar argument of the rapid transit decision is employed, while there is some reason to suppose That our future city magistrates and administrators are still hanging about the private offices of Wall-street Generally, the market closed dull and little changed, with a business quite, as small as yesterday's.

pleasant reception yesterday actions. They were accompanied by Major Denison, and were received by the Hon. G. W. Allan, Mr. W. B. McMurrich, Q.C., and Mr. Edward Fisher, the musical director of the Conservatory. All the pupils were assembled in the music hall, the immediate front seats being reserved for Their Excellencies, while those behind were occupied by the directors and their wives and the large staff of teachers. Here they were welcomed with much cordiality by the Hon. G.W. Allan, who reviewed slightly the work of the Conservatory, past and present, and said that the presence of Their Excellencies within the walls of the Conservatory would be a much-prized honor in its history. A charming little program of music and recitation was then begun and much appreciated. Miss Mabel Thomsou contributed a lovely song, "It Was a Dream," by Cowen, and Miss Loule Fallon, a violin solo, while a humorous reading by Miss Blauche Sibblit created much merriment. The plano solos were a very fine bit of work, deserving especial mention.

Two lads, about 12 or 16 years of age, entered the store of H. E. Coupland, 467 Dundas-street, Saturday afternoon, and purchased 40 cents worth of groceries. They gave Mrs. Coupland a Central Bank $10 bill, and she, not knowing the bank to be defunet, returned to them $9.60. Nothing has been heard of them since. Mrs. Coupland, on enquiring, however, learned that they tried to pass it at several other stores on Dundas-street, but failed.) Mr. Eaton, a grocer on Dundas-street, states that he warned the boys not to use the bill, as it was worthless.

THE OLD LADY WAS BURNED.

Burning Building, But Not Quite. New York, Dec. 22 .- Mrs. Fred A. Schlintz New York, Dec. 22.—Mrs. Fred A. Schlintz, aged and crippled, was overcome by smoke and died when within a few feet of safety, during a fire which broke out in the house in which she lived on East Ninety-fifth street, before daylight to-day. Every effort was made to save her life by her two daughters, but their strength gave out and they were forced to abandon their mother, and barely escaped death themselves. About a score of others were daringly rescued by the police and firemen.

The fire originated among some Christmas decorations.
