WHEAT MARKETS OF A WEEK
 Chicago Market Closed Bearish on Saturday

This Week's Exports From America—World's Shipments—Bullish
 Wheat News From Russia—The Liverpool and Continental Markets—Quotations, Notes and General Gossip.

Saturday Evening, Sept. 17.
 This week's wheat markets have exhibited some irregularity with the tendency of prices to decline. On the Chicago board since Saturday last the market has been decidedly upward. The cause of this has been the failure of receipts to more than meet actual requirements and a consequent appreciation in the value of the cash article in the Northwest. It is generally believed to be stacking their wheat and postponing threshing until better prices arrive. Liverpool has fully responded and at that market spot red winter is today quoted 42 1/2 per cent. The Sept. delivery and the December option is 1 1/2 higher than a week ago.

As for new Ontario wheat the price asked by farmers is still about the same as last week, though they are in a position to sell, though they are likely to be disappointed if they look for higher prices. Millers are paying 60c at north and west points and 55c at Liverpool to-day.

World's Wheat Shipments.
 It is estimated that next Monday's shipments will show this week's world's shipments of wheat to have totalled 6,400,000 bushels.
