

GOOD THINGS COMING TO THEATRES OF ST. JOHN

"OVER THERE" IS TIMELY

Imperial's Monday Feature Just Like Big Drive New On

The big American story "Over There" suggested by George Cohan's irresistible song—which is to be the feature at Imperial Theatre Monday and Tuesday, will strike an entirely new note in war-time stories. It will deal with that type of man who by pre-war influence and therefore natural abhorrence, shuns war and bloodshed. It is not slacking in a sense but just an overwhelming repulse. So Charles Richman as the rich young broker who persists in standing aloof while his friends join up, portrays this kind of a fellow. Finally, however, in a fast fight into which he is forced, he overcomes his disinclination to combat and becomes a regular giant as a soldier.

The society scene, the Red Cross work of the women in the story, the enthusiasm in the homes and in business life in recruiting and then the conflict at the front are unmercifully true to life, and the whole picture is a striking contribution to the history of the war. "Over There" is not objectionable to intelligent men, in fact to anybody, and is not so much a recruiting story as a narrative.

CHARMING LITTLE SONGS

Flower Gilmour, who is opening a singing engagement at the Imperial Theatre, has just completed a popular run of several weeks in the Imperial Theatre, Montreal. She is a delightful little lady and will be heard in a wide selection of those dainty numbers which seem just suited to a person of her vocal abilities and attractive personality. Her opening songs today and for the first of the week are Gounod's "Waltz" and a little Irish strain "Heavenly From Erin." Miss Gilmour has consented to sing for the commercial travellers at their patriotic rally tonight in the Elks Club, between shows.

GEN'S IS ATTRACTIVE

The Gen's new bill tonight starts with the sunshine maid "June Caprice" in "Miss U. S. A." and a sentimental picture dealing with German spies in the States after America joined in the war. Stewart and Quigley furnish comedy musical act and a breezy L-Ko comedy of two reels will send you away smiling.

GLADYS HULETTE IN "OVER THE HILLS"

The attraction at the Star Theatre for Monday and Tuesday is Lois Zellner's romantic comedy-drama, "Over the Hills," featuring charming little Gladys Hulette. Also Molly King in "The Seven Pearls." Only four more weeks for this popular attraction will win her over all the peers!

A big seven-reel programme today at the Nickel, featuring William Russell and Helen Holmes.

DEATH OF N. P. WHELFLEY.

Norville P. Whelfley, a popular young man of the North End, died this morning in the hospital, following an operation for appendicitis. He was a son of the late Daniel J. Whelfley of Carleton Place and was in the 24th year of his age. He is survived by one brother, Cecil M., and one sister, Muriel, both of this city. He was a traveler in the employ of the Swift Canadian Company. He had been sick only a few days.

Children Had Whooping Cough

Deaths

Whooping cough, although specially a disease of childhood, is by no means confined to that period, but may occur at any time of life. It is one of the most dangerous diseases of infancy, and yearly causes more deaths than scarlet fever, typhoid or diphtheria, and is more common in female than male children. Whooping cough starts with sneezing, watering of the eyes, irritation of the throat, feverishness and cough. The coughing attacks occur frequently, but are generally more severe at night. On the first sign of a "whoop" Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup should be administered, as it helps to clear the bronchial tubes of the collected mucus and phlegm. Mrs. George Cooper, Bloomfield, Ont., writes: "It is with pleasure I can write and tell you that there never was a better cough medicine made than Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. Our little chap had whooping cough last winter, and that is the only thing that seemed to help him. It loosened up the phlegm so that they could raise it easily. I will never be without it."

"Dr. Wood's" is 25c and 50c a bottle; put up in a yellow wrapper; three pine leaves the trade mark; manufactured by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

THROUGH MANY FIGHTS; HOME UNSCATHED

Pte. Peter Murray of St. John, A First Contingent Man, Has Had Remarkable Experiences

The members of the Returning Soldiers' Reception Committee were at the discharge depot early this morning and tendered a formal welcome home to soldiers who arrived last evening. Mayor Hayes gave an address of welcome on behalf of the city. Ladies were present and presented bags of candy to the men. Pte. Murray of the 14th, the west coast, a member of the first contingent, was among the party. But few St. John men have seen such service as has Pte. Murray. From the time he reached France until he was granted his three months' leave, three years and change. He crossed with the 12th battalion, and after his arrival in England, was transferred to the 14th. He went to the front and was in the line in practically all the heavy engagements. "Mom," he said, "was at Vimy Ridge. The closest shave I ever had was having my water bottle pierced with a bullet. I had become thirsty and pulled up the bottle to have a drink when I noticed that there was no water in it. On examination I found that the bottle had stopped a German bullet."

In answer to how many times he had been "over the top," he said seven. "The easiest and the slickest scrap we ever had," he said, "was at Vimy Ridge. We caught the Germans hands down. Our artillery had been shelling the German lines for about two weeks. The Germans, when we were piling over the shells, had a fashion of going down in the dug-outs and remaining there until the fire was lifted. The morning of the attack we had been shelling their lines all night, and when daylight broke we got the order to go over. We did and when we landed at their trenches many of them were asleep in the dug-outs, and many of the officers were only partly dressed."

The following night they came back strong and shelled our lines very heavily. Private Murray told of being appointed an escort to three German prisoners who were captured on the Somme. He was walking along beside them when one of the fellows asked him, speaking the best of English, whether or not he was a Canadian. On answering his question, the German prisoner told him that he lived in Canada for ten years. He said that about a month before the war broke out he went home to visit his wife. Private Murray then asked him many questions, which the prisoner answered very readily. He said that while in Canada he had been working with the army and had been with the 14th battalion. He had been with the 14th battalion and had been with the 14th battalion.

AMERICANS BLOW UP ENEMY MUNITIONS

With the American Army in France, Mar. 23.—(By the Associated Press)—The Germans launched a heavy gas attack against a certain line in our lines southwest of Toul last night. No wind came from the shells being fired over the line for several hours. The batteries of Richcourt and our artillery were busy all morning with a retaliatory shelling. The shelling today dropped a number of large shells into the German column, bringing a few minutes' direct fire on the target, causing a tremendous explosion, blowing up a large column of smoke as a big enemy munitions dump blew up.

Great Weight of Infantry and Big Gun Attack Forces the Line

The experiences of the attacking forces in other campaigns show that the resistance of the British more effective. The more deeply they strike to the British lines the farther they must move from their bases, entailing increasing difficulties in providing supplies for their troops. They must move forward over a devastated area, while the British will have the great advantage of good roads and railroads. Perhaps the greatest problem of the Germans will be to bring up their heavy artillery. In every previous campaign of this nature it has been necessary for the advancing forces to halt frequently while bringing up the heavy pieces.

The extent of the British defences has been a subject of much speculation, but it is known they have been vastly improved during the last winter. Earlier in the war, when the offensive rested with the French and British, less attention was paid to positions in the rear. The British in particular were said to scorn elaborate defensive zones such as the Germans constructed. After the defection of Russia and consequent increase of German strength in the west, however, it became necessary for the Allies to consider defensive measures, which were carried out during the winter.

Air Raid by Germans.

Paris, Mar. 23.—At 9 o'clock last night a group of enemy airplanes crossed the lines and bombs were dropped on Compiègne and different towns in that region. Several machines advanced far back by the fire of French artillery. The alarm was immediately given in Paris and a half hour later the "all clear" signal was sounded.

Apparently the Germans had intended a raid upon Paris itself, but French airmen rose to meet the oncomers and not one enemy machine succeeded in reaching the capital.

The operation is so vast in its changing with such kaleidoscopic rapidity as the line surges backward and forward that it is impossible to visualize the scene sufficiently to give a connected and accurate account of it at present. Forty-nine German divisions have been identified thus far on the battle front and prisoners have been taken from the lines and stored in the rear. The number of German divisions engaged as high as 90, but it is impossible to say whether this is accurate.
