It was at this point that Mr. Laurier introduced Sir Charles Hibbert Tupper's not ask any man to surround himself tion had to speak, and at almost every the scandals to-day but for the telegram that he had received from the minister of justice, which he would read, and more of the things that had grated on his feelings. on that question all his legal acumen." Mr. Laurier then brifly reviewed the investigation instituted by Mr. Tarte in 1891, which resulted in establishing the fact that a million dollars had been pilfered from the public treasury by a conspiracy entered into by Sir Hector Langevin with Thomas McGreevy and others, the disclosure of which caused a whole body politic. NORTH WENTWORTH'S MEMBER. Mr. Thomas Bain, M. P., who, it will be remembered, made one of the notable speeches during the budget debate last session, and who has a thorough grasp of trade and other questions, was then introduced to the audience. Mr. Baiu reminded his hearers that the policy of the Liberal party was the result of the deliberations of the greatest political convention that had ever taken place in Canada, and one at which there had been a complete representation of the party. He asked the people if they had ever known the government to hold six ses grand old leader of the Conservative parests and in their attachment to the British crown. He appealed strongly to the with a fence to keep him from falling down, or to tax any other man to make his own business profitable. They pro-posed to take sufficient in taxes to maintain the economically administered public services and the credit of the country. The national policy had promised the farmers a home market, yet Canada had, after supplying the home consumption, to find a market outside for $15,000,000 worth of cheese. Mr. Bain alluded to the financial position of the country, and pointed out that while Sir Richard Cartwright was denounced for having a deficit of $1,900,000 in 1878, Mr. Foster had on June 30th last a deficit of $4.080.-000. After exposing the Curran bridge scandal, he referred to an article which had been published in the Mail and Empire in which Mr. George Taylor, M. P., was credited with having secured the prohibition of the importation and manufacture of oleomargarine so as to prevent it from coming into competition with home-made butter and cheese. Mr. Bain showed, on the authority of the records of parliament, that the credit was not due at all to Mr. Taylor but to Mr. William Patterson, M. P. for Brant, on whose resolution the decision was made to legislate against the oleomargariutrade. What the government had proposed and what Mr. Taylor was willing to accept was that a ten cent custom duty be imposed on oleomargarine and that its manufacture should be permitted here under an inland revenue tax of 8 cents. The article had stated that Sir Richard Cartwright had sneered at the proposal and opposed it. The only statement that Sir Richard had made respecting that matter was that it would injure the reputation of Canadian dairy roducts in England. Mr. Bain said that he despised a man whose position was not strong enough to relieve him of the necessity of misrepresenting a po-
