Dear Sirs,—Please pardon my delay in answering yours of weeks ago. Yes, I have no hesitation in recommending your Invigorating Syrup.

During the fall and winter of '96 and '97 I was greatly distressed with indigestion. I tried several remedies, each of which gave me no relief. I was advised to try your Invigorating Syrup, which I readily did, and have felt grateful ever since to the one who gave such good advice. The very first dose helped me, and before half of the first bottle was used I was completely cured. Have not been troubled with the disease since. I have taken occasion to recommend your medicine publicly upon several occasions, and heartily do so now. You are at liberty to use this in any way you please.

Yours truly,

The Home

The Stay-at-Homes.

A feeling of pity arises now-a-days for people who must be regarded as stay-at-homes. So general is the custom to travel to sea and mountains, in summer especially that those who go wonder how anyone can habitually remain quietly at home. We cannot help believing that comparatively few stay in the same spot year after year from choice. But there are many, very many women who simply cannot go away, various reasons combining to prevent it. And, are they generally discontented and unhappy? By no means; that is where the adaptability of women comes in. This does not mean that there has been no desire, or longing, for the change that would be enjoyed as a welcome respite from the wheels of every-day duties, but it does mean that the faithful wife and mother is willing to stay in her lot and place and make the best of what is plainly her appointed way. Said one lady, whose face was the picture of satisfaction and content, as she sat on the beach at the seaside resort: "Yes, it is all doubly pleasant to me, the fresh air and the sojourn among strangers, because there were many years during which it made no difference how many went or came, I simply had to be the one to remain at my post. But while it was necessary for me to remain in just one place and go over and over the same routine of daily duties, I never thought of repining; it was my appointed way, and cares brought their compensation, and anxiety even wrought out its needed lesson."

"After all," said a good mother, who is frequently the one to stay while others go, "home is a good place to stay in, especially in hot weather." And so it is, for many easily satisfied souls. But for those who must look on the departure of others when it would be a great pleasure to venture forth themselves we would whisper a word of comfort. Your time may come. It will come, if in the providence of God it is best it should. Meantime do not let the heart grow discontented, but keep it loyal to the clear ordering of duty. Think of Longfellow's sweet words, "Stay, stay at home, my heart, and rest; Home-keeping hearts are happiest, * * * To stay at home is best."

That is, while home is the appointed place.—Selected.

Coffee Custards.

Coffee is a stimulating, delicious flavor, especially in summer, and it is strange that it is not more generally used for flavoring custards, ice creams and other delicate desserts. To make six cups of coffee custard put a quart of rich new milk over the stove to boil. When it boils take it up, add a cup of strong, clear, freshly made coffee; pour the mixture slowly over the yolks of five eggs beaten with four tablespoonfuls of sugar, beating it all the time. Add a half teaspoonful of salt and beat it in thoroughly. Fill six cups with the custard and set them in a steamer and steam them for fifteen minutes; or, if you wish to bake them, set them in a pan of hot water and put them in a hot oven. When they are firm in the centre and delicately browned they are done. Set them on the ice.

Delmonico's coffee ice cream used to be famous among habitués of that well known restaurant. The delicious flavor of coffee was imparted to the cream by freshly ground dry coffee, not by the liquid preparation. Beat five yolks of eggs with a large coffee cup of sugar. After the yolks are well beaten with the sugar add a pint of boiling milk slowly, beating all the time. Meantime put a pint of cream over the fire; when it is boiling add two large tablespoonfuls of strong coffee ground fine. Beat the coffee and cream for two minutes, add the custard, mixing the two thoroughly together, and cover it tightly, letting it set at the back of the stove where it will cook for half an hour. At the end of this time strain the mixture through a fine strainer, fine enough to exclude all grounds of coffee, and freeze the cream. This is delicious to serve with a fruit ice.

Notes on Washing.

Wash black lace with rain water, to which a teaspoonful of borax and a tablespoonful of alcohol has been added to every pint. Sew cotton on a bottle smoothly and wind the lace over it. Pull out the edge and baste it down on the bottle.

Wash white lace with boiling water and borax soap, after first basting it on a bottle covered with white cotton. Let the lace dry on the bottle.

Cream tinted lace should be dipped in weak coffee water.—(For A. A. S.)

Kerosene in Cleaning.

Clean paint smoked by kerosene lamps with kerosene and rub it off with a fresh cloth.

Rub stoves and stovepipes which are set away in summer with kerosene.

Clean grease or rust from plain iron or galvanized iron sinks with kerosene and wash them with boiling hot soap suds.

Clean zinc with boiling suds and polish it off with kerosene.

Rub nickel plate with kerosene.

Raspberry Cream.

This is properly served in little glasses such as "gooseberry fool" and soft custards were so often served in olden times. If one is fortunate enough to possess a service of old fashioned cut glass, containing custard glasses, nothing is prettier to serve in them than raspberry cream. Rub a quart of blackcap or rich ripe red raspberries through a fine wire sieve, removing the seeds. Add sugar enough to sweeten and enough whipped cream to make a rich frothy cream. Chill the whipped cream and raspberry juice before mixing them and serve the raspberry cream heaped in the glasses as soon as possible. It is a delicate, ornamental dessert and a pleasant evening dish.

Gloom and Despair

GIVE WAY TO VIGOR, HEALTH AND HAPPINESS.

An Attack of La Grippe Left the Sufferer Weak, Nervous and Enfeebled—A Victim of Insomnia and Heart Trouble.

Naturally every sick person to whom help is promised will ask, "Has the remedy been successful? Whom has it helped?" We cannot better answer these questions than by publishing testimonials received from grateful people who are anxious that other sufferers may profit by their experience. One of these grateful ones is Mrs. Douglas Kilts, of Perry Station, Ont. Mrs. Kilts says: "Three years ago I had a very severe attack of la grippe, and the disease left me in an extremely worn out, nervous and enfeebled condition. The nervousness was so severe as to have almost resulted in St. Vitus' dance. Sleep forsook me. I had had attacks of heart trouble, and the headaches I endured were something terrible. I had no appetite and was literally fading away. I was not able to work about the house and was so weak that I could scarcely lift a cup of tea. I was treated by a good doctor, but with no benefit. Almost in despair, I resorted to patent medicines, and tried several, one after another, only to be disappointed by each. I lingered in this condition until the winter of 1899, when a friend prevailed upon me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and I began taking them. From the first the pills helped me and I could feel my strength gradually returning. I continued the use of the pills according to directions until I had taken eight boxes, when I was again enjoying perfect health. My strength had entirely returned, my appetite was splendid, the heart trouble and nervousness had ceased, while the blessing of sleep, once denied, had again returned. I had gained over thirty pounds in weight, and was able to do all my household work with ease. In fact I had received a new lease of life. I believe my cure is permanent, as more than a year has since passed and I feel so strong and well that I venture to say there is not a healthier woman in this section; indeed I am enjoying better health than I have for twenty years, and this has been brought about by the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I feel that I cannot say enough in their praise for I believe they saved my life. My son has also received the greatest benefit from the use of these pills in a case of spring fever."
