

J. P. MORGAN UNDER SURGEON'S KNIFE

Financier Operated upon Successfully for mild attack of appendicitis.

New York, Oct. 29.—J. P. Morgan, who has been at his desk a little over two months since recovering from bullet wounds inflicted by Erich Muentzer, the mad professor of languages, who attempted to take his life last July, is again confined to his bed and under the care of specialists, this time from an attack of appendicitis.

Mr. Morgan went under the knife today in an operation which attendant specialists afterwards referred to as successful in every way. The appendix was removed at noon by Drs. Markoe, Lyle and Smith, and the official bulletin, issued by them shortly thereafter, said Mr. Morgan was resting comfortably. Continued progress was reported, unofficially, during the afternoon.

The attack of appendicitis, which necessitated an operation, was mild in character, it was said, and was in no way attributed to the attempted assassination of Mr. Morgan by Muentzer. Apparently the financier has fully recovered from the effects of the two bullets he sustained when, his general health, his doctors said, was so excellent that his prompt recovery from the operation of today was confidently expected.

On Wednesday Mr. Morgan was at his desk as usual. Yesterday, however, he was indisposed, and specialists diagnosed his ailment as a mild attack of appendicitis. Fearing a recurrence of the malady later, with the usual aggravation of conditions commonly expected in such recurrences, his physicians advised him to undergo the operation now, and Mr. Morgan consented to do so.

NO CONSCRIPTION FOR AUSTRALIA PREMIER SAYS

Government Will Not Introduce Compulsory Service Unless the People Vote for It.

Melbourne, Australia, Oct. 29.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press)—When a delegation representing the Trades Hall Council of Melbourne waited upon Premier Fisher a week ago and asked him for a pronouncement as to the attitude of the government toward conscription, Mr. Fisher declared that conscription would not be introduced in Australia, unless the people of the Commonwealth were given an opportunity of voting upon the question. He added that the government had no intention of bringing in a bill dealing with conscription, and for himself he was opposed to it. Throughout the hearing Mr. Fisher showed great impatience over the whole subject of conscription. He said: "So far as the government is concerned it stands exactly as it has always stood. It is pledged under the Defence Act to raise our own men by levies for the defence of the dominion."

When a member of the delegation suggested that the allies of Great Britain might be pressing her to put a conscript army into the field, he replied with some heat, "they would not be allowed any such impertinence."

IN HONOR OF NURSE MARTYRED FOR COUNTRY

Royalty and all classes represented at memorial service for Edith Cavell, in St. Paul's.

London, Oct. 29.—A service in St. Paul's Cathedral today in memory of Miss Edith Cavell, a British nurse who was executed in Brussels, was attended by a throng which recalled the funeral of Lord Roberts almost a year ago. "Conspicuous among the crowd were many wounded soldiers, attended by Red Cross nurses. The only seats reserved were for the Lord Mayor, the diplomatic corps of the Entente Allies, and 600 of Miss Cavell's fellow-nurses. The service was begun with the "Dead March in Saul," played on the organ. Then came "Abide With Me," by the First Life Guards Band. Except for the Lord's Prayer and the reading of one lesson, the service was entirely musical. No sermon was delivered. King George and Queen Mary were represented by Edward W. Wellington, groom-in-waiting to the King. Miss Cavell's mother, other members of the family and a deputation of various Red Cross ambulance and nursing organizations also attended. Although represented by Earl Howe, Queen Mother, Alexandra attended the service in person. "The Ye Steadfast and Unmovable." The congregation then stood, while the band played the Dead March of Saul. The roll of the drums echoed through the vast structure like thunder, and died away into the dirge-like chant of the Liturgy of St. Chrysostom. The service ended with the singing by the congregation of the national anthem.

As the congregation gathered, the Life Guards Band, in khaki, played a number of military dirges, ending with Chopin's funeral march, the hymn "Abide With Me," which was sung by the congregation, had been repeated by Miss Cavell and the English chaplain who visited her on the night before her execution. The Lord's Prayer followed, and then two psalms "Out of the Deep Have I Called Unto Thee" and "The Lord is My Shepherd." The funeral service: "I Am The Resurrection and the Life, Saith the Lord," was sung, after which Dr. William R. Inge, dean of St. Paul's, read the lesson, "Be Ye Steadfast and Unmovable." The congregation then stood, while the band played the Dead March of Saul. The roll of the drums echoed through the vast structure like thunder, and died away into the dirge-like chant of the Liturgy of St. Chrysostom. The service ended with the singing by the congregation of the national anthem.

A GERMAN CHARGE.

Berlin, Oct. 29, via wireless to Tuckerton.—The Overseas News Agency says: "The Dresden Nachrichten reports that a member of the Red Cross named Hellinger, made a prisoner of war by the French, was shot by a French officer because he refused to betray the position of the German staff."

NOT SURPRISING IF GERMANY READY TO TALK PEACE

Have signally failed so far, Lord Sydenham points out, and prospects of success growing dimmer.

London, Oct. 29.—Confessing that he has no information which leads him to feel certain that the current reports regarding peace overtures are true, Lord Sydenham thinks that they are not at all improbable. "I should say," he said in an interview in the House of Commons, "that the overtures were mainly inspired by the now certain impossibility of German success in the west and the growing difficulties of the misceivoted and dangerous advance into Russia. From first to last, the Germans have not won a great military success, and although every effort has been made to maintain confidence of the ultimate result in the minds of the German people and of neutrals, there must be many who realize that the prospects of ultimate victory are growing dimmer. "Without in the least wishing to underrate the tremendous difficulties that lie before us and the great efforts which are still essential on the part of the Allies, it does not seem unreasonable to suppose that the Germans may consider the time has come to try their hand at peace, at least apparently, their desire for immediate peace, although they may have another motive—by this I mean a desire to intimate to neutrals that they have arrived at a reasonable attitude of mind and that the whole responsibility for the further horrors of war must rest with the Allies."

As the congregation gathered, the Life Guards Band, in khaki, played a number of military dirges, ending with Chopin's funeral march, the hymn "Abide With Me," which was sung by the congregation, had been repeated by Miss Cavell and the English chaplain who visited her on the night before her execution. The Lord's Prayer followed, and then two psalms "Out of the Deep Have I Called Unto Thee" and "The Lord is My Shepherd."
