

HUGHES BEATS HEARST 60,000

New York Democrats Knifed Head of Their Ticket Badly

Chandler, for Lieutenant Governor, Got About Two Votes to His Running Mate's One, and Has Good Chance of Winning--'Yellow Peril' Likely to Be Reckoned With in Presidential Struggle Two Years Hence--Roosevelt Hailed as the Savior of His Party and the Nation.

(From Our Own Correspondent.) New York, Nov. 7.—The menace of Hearstism has not been removed by the election. As the Telegraph's readers had been informed by the case, Hughes was elected by a plurality of about 60,000.

At the head-quarters of the Independence League tonight the following statement was issued: "Reports from up-state indicate not only that Mr. Hearst cut down the Republican vote materially, but that the Independence League vote for Mr. Hearst was not counted in many counties.

At the headquarters of the Independence League tonight the following statement was issued: "Reports from up-state indicate not only that Mr. Hearst cut down the Republican vote materially, but that the Independence League vote for Mr. Hearst was not counted in many counties.

But the fact is that, even at this writing, the election is in doubt. For the other state officers are concerned. The road of the Democratic ticket ran away ahead of Hearst. They got in the neighborhood of 140,000 plurality in Greater New York where Hearst got 77,000.

But the fact is that, even at this writing, the election is in doubt. For the other state officers are concerned. The road of the Democratic ticket ran away ahead of Hearst. They got in the neighborhood of 140,000 plurality in Greater New York where Hearst got 77,000.

But the fact is that, even at this writing, the election is in doubt. For the other state officers are concerned. The road of the Democratic ticket ran away ahead of Hearst. They got in the neighborhood of 140,000 plurality in Greater New York where Hearst got 77,000.

But the fact is that, even at this writing, the election is in doubt. For the other state officers are concerned. The road of the Democratic ticket ran away ahead of Hearst. They got in the neighborhood of 140,000 plurality in Greater New York where Hearst got 77,000.

But the fact is that, even at this writing, the election is in doubt. For the other state officers are concerned. The road of the Democratic ticket ran away ahead of Hearst. They got in the neighborhood of 140,000 plurality in Greater New York where Hearst got 77,000.

But the fact is that, even at this writing, the election is in doubt. For the other state officers are concerned. The road of the Democratic ticket ran away ahead of Hearst. They got in the neighborhood of 140,000 plurality in Greater New York where Hearst got 77,000.

But the fact is that, even at this writing, the election is in doubt. For the other state officers are concerned. The road of the Democratic ticket ran away ahead of Hearst. They got in the neighborhood of 140,000 plurality in Greater New York where Hearst got 77,000.

But the fact is that, even at this writing, the election is in doubt. For the other state officers are concerned. The road of the Democratic ticket ran away ahead of Hearst. They got in the neighborhood of 140,000 plurality in Greater New York where Hearst got 77,000.

But the fact is that, even at this writing, the election is in doubt. For the other state officers are concerned. The road of the Democratic ticket ran away ahead of Hearst. They got in the neighborhood of 140,000 plurality in Greater New York where Hearst got 77,000.

REAL ESTATE IS STILL SACRED IN FREDERICTON

tax commission of the State of Maine to show that income taxes teach evasion and fraud.

Continuing, the chairman says: "While I recognize that it would not be prudent and would not meet with the approval of the ratepayers generally to adopt a revolutionary change and abolish all taxes on incomes and intangible personal property, however correct such a method may be in theory, I am fully convinced that a movement should be made along this line and one important step in this direction would be to modify our present system of assessing income and adopt a level rate."

The chairman believes that the effect of the present excessive taxation of income is to deter commercial travelers and other workers from the city, and he is of opinion to consider in any particular case from making their homes here and he favored the exemption altogether of income derived in the city.

Fredericton, N. B., Nov. 6.—The report of the civic tax commission appointed under authority obtained at the last session of the legislature was laid before the city council this evening.

Under the existing assessment law income is taxed on a five to one basis in proportion to real estate and two members of the commission, Sheriff Sterling and John Palmer, favor the continuance of the system with a slight modification.

Under the existing assessment law income is taxed on a five to one basis in proportion to real estate and two members of the commission, Sheriff Sterling and John Palmer, favor the continuance of the system with a slight modification.

Under the existing assessment law income is taxed on a five to one basis in proportion to real estate and two members of the commission, Sheriff Sterling and John Palmer, favor the continuance of the system with a slight modification.

Under the existing assessment law income is taxed on a five to one basis in proportion to real estate and two members of the commission, Sheriff Sterling and John Palmer, favor the continuance of the system with a slight modification.

Under the existing assessment law income is taxed on a five to one basis in proportion to real estate and two members of the commission, Sheriff Sterling and John Palmer, favor the continuance of the system with a slight modification.

Under the existing assessment law income is taxed on a five to one basis in proportion to real estate and two members of the commission, Sheriff Sterling and John Palmer, favor the continuance of the system with a slight modification.

Under the existing assessment law income is taxed on a five to one basis in proportion to real estate and two members of the commission, Sheriff Sterling and John Palmer, favor the continuance of the system with a slight modification.

Under the existing assessment law income is taxed on a five to one basis in proportion to real estate and two members of the commission, Sheriff Sterling and John Palmer, favor the continuance of the system with a slight modification.

Under the existing assessment law income is taxed on a five to one basis in proportion to real estate and two members of the commission, Sheriff Sterling and John Palmer, favor the continuance of the system with a slight modification.

Under the existing assessment law income is taxed on a five to one basis in proportion to real estate and two members of the commission, Sheriff Sterling and John Palmer, favor the continuance of the system with a slight modification.

Under the existing assessment law income is taxed on a five to one basis in proportion to real estate and two members of the commission, Sheriff Sterling and John Palmer, favor the continuance of the system with a slight modification.

Under the existing assessment law income is taxed on a five to one basis in proportion to real estate and two members of the commission, Sheriff Sterling and John Palmer, favor the continuance of the system with a slight modification.

Under the existing assessment law income is taxed on a five to one basis in proportion to real estate and two members of the commission, Sheriff Sterling and John Palmer, favor the continuance of the system with a slight modification.

Under the existing assessment law income is taxed on a five to one basis in proportion to real estate and two members of the commission, Sheriff Sterling and John Palmer, favor the continuance of the system with a slight modification.

Under the existing assessment law income is taxed on a five to one basis in proportion to real estate and two members of the commission, Sheriff Sterling and John Palmer, favor the continuance of the system with a slight modification.

ALL LOST WHEN BOAT UPSET

Believed Now That Whole Crew Made Effort to Leave Bark Aedona

Gale Still Raging and All Attempts to Reach the Stranded Vessel Off Richibucto Bar Have Proved Fruitless--Another Try Today--Norway Seeking Information--Lighthouse Keeper Tells Story of Disaster.

Richibucto, N. B., Nov. 7.—With the fragments of the Norwegian ensign flying at her helm as a signal of distress, the bark Aedona, abandoned in terror by her crew, still holds together on the sand bar at the entrance to this harbor.

As yet but two bodies have been washed ashore, and owing to the continued fury of the gale it has been impossible to approach the ship, but the lighthouse keeper, from his post, a quarter of a mile away and the pilots as they venture with their craft almost to within a few feet of the wreck, report no sign of life on the Aedona's decks and the belief that all have perished is reluctantly becoming a certainty.

The storm sprang up on Wednesday, Oct. 31. The Aedona, having finished her cargo of furs at the wharf at Rexton, higher up the river, was lying at anchor in eight fathoms of water outside of the harbor.

As yet but two bodies have been washed ashore, and owing to the continued fury of the gale it has been impossible to approach the ship, but the lighthouse keeper, from his post, a quarter of a mile away and the pilots as they venture with their craft almost to within a few feet of the wreck, report no sign of life on the Aedona's decks and the belief that all have perished is reluctantly becoming a certainty.

As yet but two bodies have been washed ashore, and owing to the continued fury of the gale it has been impossible to approach the ship, but the lighthouse keeper, from his post, a quarter of a mile away and the pilots as they venture with their craft almost to within a few feet of the wreck, report no sign of life on the Aedona's decks and the belief that all have perished is reluctantly becoming a certainty.

As yet but two bodies have been washed ashore, and owing to the continued fury of the gale it has been impossible to approach the ship, but the lighthouse keeper, from his post, a quarter of a mile away and the pilots as they venture with their craft almost to within a few feet of the wreck, report no sign of life on the Aedona's decks and the belief that all have perished is reluctantly becoming a certainty.

As yet but two bodies have been washed ashore, and owing to the continued fury of the gale it has been impossible to approach the ship, but the lighthouse keeper, from his post, a quarter of a mile away and the pilots as they venture with their craft almost to within a few feet of the wreck, report no sign of life on the Aedona's decks and the belief that all have perished is reluctantly becoming a certainty.

As yet but two bodies have been washed ashore, and owing to the continued fury of the gale it has been impossible to approach the ship, but the lighthouse keeper, from his post, a quarter of a mile away and the pilots as they venture with their craft almost to within a few feet of the wreck, report no sign of life on the Aedona's decks and the belief that all have perished is reluctantly becoming a certainty.

As yet but two bodies have been washed ashore, and owing to the continued fury of the gale it has been impossible to approach the ship, but the lighthouse keeper, from his post, a quarter of a mile away and the pilots as they venture with their craft almost to within a few feet of the wreck, report no sign of life on the Aedona's decks and the belief that all have perished is reluctantly becoming a certainty.

As yet but two bodies have been washed ashore, and owing to the continued fury of the gale it has been impossible to approach the ship, but the lighthouse keeper, from his post, a quarter of a mile away and the pilots as they venture with their craft almost to within a few feet of the wreck, report no sign of life on the Aedona's decks and the belief that all have perished is reluctantly becoming a certainty.

As yet but two bodies have been washed ashore, and owing to the continued fury of the gale it has been impossible to approach the ship, but the lighthouse keeper, from his post, a quarter of a mile away and the pilots as they venture with their craft almost to within a few feet of the wreck, report no sign of life on the Aedona's decks and the belief that all have perished is reluctantly becoming a certainty.

As yet but two bodies have been washed ashore, and owing to the continued fury of the gale it has been impossible to approach the ship, but the lighthouse keeper, from his post, a quarter of a mile away and the pilots as they venture with their craft almost to within a few feet of the wreck, report no sign of life on the Aedona's decks and the belief that all have perished is reluctantly becoming a certainty.

As yet but two bodies have been washed ashore, and owing to the continued fury of the gale it has been impossible to approach the ship, but the lighthouse keeper, from his post, a quarter of a mile away and the pilots as they venture with their craft almost to within a few feet of the wreck, report no sign of life on the Aedona's decks and the belief that all have perished is reluctantly becoming a certainty.

As yet but two bodies have been washed ashore, and owing to the continued fury of the gale it has been impossible to approach the ship, but the lighthouse keeper, from his post, a quarter of a mile away and the pilots as they venture with their craft almost to within a few feet of the wreck, report no sign of life on the Aedona's decks and the belief that all have perished is reluctantly becoming a certainty.

As yet but two bodies have been washed ashore, and owing to the continued fury of the gale it has been impossible to approach the ship, but the lighthouse keeper, from his post, a quarter of a mile away and the pilots as they venture with their craft almost to within a few feet of the wreck, report no sign of life on the Aedona's decks and the belief that all have perished is reluctantly becoming a certainty.

REAL ESTATE IS STILL SACRED IN FREDERICTON

tax commission of the State of Maine to show that income taxes teach evasion and fraud.

Continuing, the chairman says: "While I recognize that it would not be prudent and would not meet with the approval of the ratepayers generally to adopt a revolutionary change and abolish all taxes on incomes and intangible personal property, however correct such a method may be in theory, I am fully convinced that a movement should be made along this line and one important step in this direction would be to modify our present system of assessing income and adopt a level rate."

The chairman believes that the effect of the present excessive taxation of income is to deter commercial travelers and other workers from the city, and he is of opinion to consider in any particular case from making their homes here and he favored the exemption altogether of income derived in the city.

Fredericton, N. B., Nov. 6.—The report of the civic tax commission appointed under authority obtained at the last session of the legislature was laid before the city council this evening.

Under the existing assessment law income is taxed on a five to one basis in proportion to real estate and two members of the commission, Sheriff Sterling and John Palmer, favor the continuance of the system with a slight modification.

Under the existing assessment law income is taxed on a five to one basis in proportion to real estate and two members of the commission, Sheriff Sterling and John Palmer, favor the continuance of the system with a slight modification.

Under the existing assessment law income is taxed on a five to one basis in proportion to real estate and two members of the commission, Sheriff Sterling and John Palmer, favor the continuance of the system with a slight modification.

Under the existing assessment law income is taxed on a five to one basis in proportion to real estate and two members of the commission, Sheriff Sterling and John Palmer, favor the continuance of the system with a slight modification.

Under the existing assessment law income is taxed on a five to one basis in proportion to real estate and two members of the commission, Sheriff Sterling and John Palmer, favor the continuance of the system with a slight modification.

Under the existing assessment law income is taxed on a five to one basis in proportion to real estate and two members of the commission, Sheriff Sterling and John Palmer, favor the continuance of the system with a slight modification.

Under the existing assessment law income is taxed on a five to one basis in proportion to real estate and two members of the commission, Sheriff Sterling and John Palmer, favor the continuance of the system with a slight modification.

Under the existing assessment law income is taxed on a five to one basis in proportion to real estate and two members of the commission, Sheriff Sterling and John Palmer, favor the continuance of the system with a slight modification.

Under the existing assessment law income is taxed on a five to one basis in proportion to real estate and two members of the commission, Sheriff Sterling and John Palmer, favor the continuance of the system with a slight modification.

Under the existing assessment law income is taxed on a five to one basis in proportion to real estate and two members of the commission, Sheriff Sterling and John Palmer, favor the continuance of the system with a slight modification.

Under the existing assessment law income is taxed on a five to one basis in proportion to real estate and two members of the commission, Sheriff Sterling and John Palmer, favor the continuance of the system with a slight modification.

Under the existing assessment law income is taxed on a five to one basis in proportion to real estate and two members of the commission, Sheriff Sterling and John Palmer, favor the continuance of the system with a slight modification.

Under the existing assessment law income is taxed on a five to one basis in proportion to real estate and two members of the commission, Sheriff Sterling and John Palmer, favor the continuance of the system with a slight modification.

Under the existing assessment law income is taxed on a five to one basis in proportion to real estate and two members of the commission, Sheriff Sterling and John Palmer, favor the continuance of the system with a slight modification.

Under the existing assessment law income is taxed on a five to one basis in proportion to real estate and two members of the commission, Sheriff Sterling and John Palmer, favor the continuance of the system with a slight modification.

MORE PAY LIKELY FOR POSTMASTERS

Minister of Railways and Prominent Men Inspecting Quebec's Facilities--Minister of Marine and Shipping Men Look Over St. Lawrence Navigation Aids.

Ottawa, Nov. 6.—Hon. L. P. Bradley, minister of railways, accompanied by a large party of Montreal and Quebec shipping men, visited the St. Lawrence river route tomorrow. The purpose is to let the shipping men see what has been done this season to improve the route as to what further work is required to make the route as deep and narrow as possible.

The minister of railways and his deputy, Mr. Butler, left the city at 11 o'clock in a special car at 11.30 p. m., accompanied by Mr. Morse, Sir Thomas Shaughnessy and representatives of all the railroads, going to Quebec to inspect the St. Lawrence and where a conference will be held relative to Quebec and the minister's office.

The minister of marine and shipping and his deputy, Mr. Butler, left the city at 11 o'clock in a special car at 11.30 p. m., accompanied by Mr. Morse, Sir Thomas Shaughnessy and representatives of all the railroads, going to Quebec to inspect the St. Lawrence and where a conference will be held relative to Quebec and the minister's office.

The minister of marine and shipping and his deputy, Mr. Butler, left the city at 11 o'clock in a special car at 11.30 p. m., accompanied by Mr. Morse, Sir Thomas Shaughnessy and representatives of all the railroads, going to Quebec to inspect the St. Lawrence and where a conference will be held relative to Quebec and the minister's office.

The minister of marine and shipping and his deputy, Mr. Butler, left the city at 11 o'clock in a special car at 11.30 p. m., accompanied by Mr. Morse, Sir Thomas Shaughnessy and representatives of all the railroads, going to Quebec to inspect the St. Lawrence and where a conference will be held relative to Quebec and the minister's office.

The minister of marine and shipping and his deputy, Mr. Butler, left the city at 11 o'clock in a special car at 11.30 p. m., accompanied by Mr. Morse, Sir Thomas Shaughnessy and representatives of all the railroads, going to Quebec to inspect the St. Lawrence and where a conference will be held relative to Quebec and the minister's office.

The minister of marine and shipping and his deputy, Mr. Butler, left the city at 11 o'clock in a special car at 11.30 p. m., accompanied by Mr. Morse, Sir Thomas Shaughnessy and representatives of all the railroads, going to Quebec to inspect the St. Lawrence and where a conference will be held relative to Quebec and the minister's office.

The minister of marine and shipping and his deputy, Mr. Butler, left the city at 11 o'clock in a special car at 11.30 p. m., accompanied by Mr. Morse, Sir Thomas Shaughnessy and representatives of all the railroads, going to Quebec to inspect the St. Lawrence and where a conference will be held relative to Quebec and the minister's office.

The minister of marine and shipping and his deputy, Mr. Butler, left the city at 11 o'clock in a special car at 11.30 p. m., accompanied by Mr. Morse, Sir Thomas Shaughnessy and representatives of all the railroads, going to Quebec to inspect the St. Lawrence and where a conference will be held relative to Quebec and the minister's office.

The minister of marine and shipping and his deputy, Mr. Butler, left the city at 11 o'clock in a special car at 11.30 p. m., accompanied by Mr. Morse, Sir Thomas Shaughnessy and representatives of all the railroads, going to Quebec to inspect the St. Lawrence and where a conference will be held relative to Quebec and the minister's office.

The minister of marine and shipping and his deputy, Mr. Butler, left the city at 11 o'clock in a special car at 11.30 p. m., accompanied by Mr. Morse, Sir Thomas Shaughnessy and representatives of all the railroads, going to Quebec to inspect the St. Lawrence and where a conference will be held relative to Quebec and the minister's office.

The minister of marine and shipping and his deputy, Mr. Butler, left the city at 11 o'clock in a special car at 11.30 p. m., accompanied by Mr. Morse, Sir Thomas Shaughnessy and representatives of all the railroads, going to Quebec to inspect the St. Lawrence and where a conference will be held relative to Quebec and the minister's office.

The minister of marine and shipping and his deputy, Mr. Butler, left the city at 11 o'clock in a special car at 11.30 p. m., accompanied by Mr. Morse, Sir Thomas Shaughnessy and representatives of all the railroads, going to Quebec to inspect the St. Lawrence and where a conference will be held relative to Quebec and the minister's office.

The minister of marine and shipping and his deputy, Mr. Butler, left the city at 11 o'clock in a special car at 11.30 p. m., accompanied by Mr. Morse, Sir Thomas Shaughnessy and representatives of all the railroads, going to Quebec to inspect the St. Lawrence and where a conference will be held relative to Quebec and the minister's office.

Taxation Commission Reports Rate Should Remain One-Fifth of Income

Some argue that it is bad to tax incomes, but the commission does not think so. It says that it is much worse to tax it four times the rate on real estate. If taxes on income are to be fair they should be graduated so as to fall on a man with $1,000 a year and no family to pay a tax on income than it is for a man with the same income and a family to support.

SOME CHANGES RECOMMENDED

Would Make Poll Tax $5, and Let Tenants of Church Property Pay the Taxes--Chairman Allen Submits Minority Report Objecting to Heavy Burden on Salaried Men.

Fredericton, N. B., Nov. 6.—The report of the civic tax commission appointed under authority obtained at the last session of the legislature was laid before the city council this evening. Attached to the report was the draft of an act containing eighty typewritten pages which, if approved by the council, will be submitted to the legislature at the next session.

Under the existing assessment law income is taxed on a five to one basis in proportion to real estate and two members of the commission, Sheriff Sterling and John Palmer, favor the continuance of the system with a slight modification.

Under the existing assessment law income is taxed on a five to one basis in proportion to real estate and two members of the commission, Sheriff Sterling and John Palmer, favor the continuance of the system with a slight modification.

Under the existing assessment law income is taxed on a five to one basis in proportion to real estate and two members of the commission, Sheriff Sterling and John Palmer, favor the continuance of the system with a slight modification.

Under the existing assessment law income is taxed on a five to one basis in proportion to real estate and two members of the commission, Sheriff Sterling and John Palmer, favor the continuance of the system with a slight modification.

Under the existing assessment law income is taxed on a five to one basis in proportion to real estate and two members of the commission, Sheriff Sterling and John Palmer, favor the continuance of the system with a slight modification.

Under the existing assessment law income is taxed on a five to one basis in proportion to real estate and two members of the commission, Sheriff Sterling and John Palmer, favor the continuance of the system with a slight modification.

Under the existing assessment law income is taxed on a five to one basis in proportion to real estate and two members of the commission, Sheriff Sterling and John Palmer, favor the continuance of the system with a slight modification.

Under the existing assessment law income is taxed on a five to one basis in proportion to real estate and two members of the commission, Sheriff Sterling and John Palmer, favor the continuance of the system with a slight modification.

Under the existing assessment law income is taxed on a five to one basis in proportion to real estate and two members of the commission, Sheriff Sterling and John Palmer, favor the continuance of the system with a slight modification.

Under the existing assessment law income is taxed on a five to one basis in proportion to real estate and two members of the commission, Sheriff Sterling and John Palmer, favor the continuance of the system with a slight modification.

Taxation Commission Reports Rate Should Remain One-Fifth of Income

Some argue that it is bad to tax incomes, but the commission does not think so. It says that it is much worse to tax it four times the rate on real estate. If taxes on income are to be fair they should be graduated so as to fall on a man with $1,000 a year and no family to pay a tax on income than it is for a man with the same income and a family to support.

SOME CHANGES RECOMMENDED

Would Make Poll Tax $5, and Let Tenants of Church Property Pay the Taxes--Chairman Allen Submits Minority Report Objecting to Heavy Burden on Salaried Men.

Fredericton, N. B., Nov. 6.—The report of the civic tax commission appointed under authority obtained at the last session of the legislature was laid before the city council this evening. Attached to the report was the draft of an act containing eighty typewritten pages which, if approved by the council, will be submitted to the legislature at the next session.

Under the existing assessment law income is taxed on a five to one basis in proportion to real estate and two members of the commission, Sheriff Sterling and John Palmer, favor the continuance of the system with a slight modification.

Under the existing assessment law income is taxed on a five to one basis in proportion to real estate and two members of the commission, Sheriff Sterling and John Palmer, favor the continuance of the system with a slight modification.

Under the existing assessment law income is taxed on a five to one basis in proportion to real estate and two members of the commission, Sheriff Sterling and John Palmer, favor the continuance of the system with a slight modification.

Under the existing assessment law income is taxed on a five to one basis in proportion to real estate and two members of the commission, Sheriff Sterling and John Palmer, favor the continuance of the system with a slight modification.

Under the existing assessment law income is taxed on a five to one basis in proportion to real estate and two members of the commission, Sheriff Sterling and John Palmer, favor the continuance of the system with a slight modification.

Under the existing assessment law income is taxed on a five to one basis in proportion to real estate and two members of the commission, Sheriff Sterling and John Palmer, favor the continuance of the system with a slight modification.

Under the existing assessment law income is taxed on a five to one basis in proportion to real estate and two members of the commission, Sheriff Sterling and John Palmer, favor the continuance of the system with a slight modification.

Under the existing assessment law income is taxed on a five to one basis in proportion to real estate and two members of the commission, Sheriff Sterling and John Palmer, favor the continuance of the system with a slight modification.

Under the existing assessment law income is taxed on a five to one basis in proportion to real estate and two members of the commission, Sheriff Sterling and John Palmer, favor the continuance of the system with a slight modification.

Under the existing assessment law income is taxed on a five to one basis in proportion to real estate and two members of the commission, Sheriff Sterling and John Palmer, favor the continuance of the system with a slight modification.

MINNESOTA Chooses Democratic Governor.

St. Paul, Nov. 7.—Governor John A. Johnson, Democrat, has been re-elected by a large majority in the state.

Bryan's State Republican.

Lincoln, Neb., Nov. 7.—George L. Sheldon, Republican, elected governor of Nebraska by a plurality of 10,000 to 18,000, and carries with him probably the entire Republican state ticket.

FREE TRIP FOR BOARD OF TRADE DELEGATES TO WEST INDIES

Halifax, N. S., Nov. 6.—Secretary Weldon of the board of trade, is sending invitations to the board of trade, Toronto and St. John, to join with the Halifax board in sending a delegation to the West Indies to inspect the trade route.

CONFESSES TO MANY MURDERS AND ROBBERIES

San Francisco, Nov. 3.—Louis Dabner this afternoon confessed to a Chief of Detectives that he had murdered and robbed a number of men, and had committed a number of robberies.

FIFTY ARE DOWN WITH DIPHTHERIA

A report of fifty cases of diphtheria in the town of St. Basil, Madawaska county, was received by the St. John Telegram Tuesday.

CONFESSES TO MANY MURDERS AND ROBBERIES

San Francisco, Nov. 3.—Louis Dabner this afternoon confessed to a Chief of Detectives that he had murdered and robbed a number of men, and had committed a number of robberies.

THRILLING TALE OF SHIPWRECK

Quebec, Nov. 6.—After enduring terrible sufferings for six days, during which time he did not taste food, Capt. J. L. Langlois, master of the schooner Toronto, which foundered near Cape Gaspe, was brought to port on board the North Shore line steamer King Edward, and subsequently removed to Jeffrey Hall hospital.

HONORS FOR P. E. I. PRIEST

Charlottetown, P. E. I., Nov. 7.—(Special.)—Today Rev. James Phelan, Roman Catholic clergyman at Lons, was elected to the dignity of monsignor, in recognition of fifty years of service.

Advertisement for 'Bone Spavin' medicine, claiming to cure various ailments of horses and dogs.