proposed amendment that class Vice-Presidents should be nominated and voted for by all members of the class.
The War Effort Committee was a target for disapproval, the whole setup was questioned, and it was suggested that the S. R. C. could now handle the duties of this committee. The Class went on record that the War Effort Committee should continue its work under a different name.
Nominations as to whom the Senior Class would approve as Faculty Advisor to the S. R. C. were called for, and Dr. Argus was the choice of the Class. Nominations for a suggested Honorary President of the S. R. C. were enthusiastic. Dr. Percy Burchill and Lord Beaverbrook were nominated. (General MacArthur was also mentioned for the post); but Dr. John Stephens won the approval of the Class by a large majority.
A discussion of class activities followed and it was decided to hold a dance later in this term. Charlie Weyman was nominated as chairman of a committee of his own choice.
Upon adjournment, two enthusiastic members left by way of the window, slightly unorthodox, while the others existed decorously in the usual manner.

Arts Prexy

came to address the group.
This year, as a campus activity, the society plans to put out a history of U. N. B. This will be in an interesting form which every student of the university should and will want to read. We feel that U. N. B. will mean a lot more for a longer time to those who are acquainted with her interesting past. This is an important activity and one that requires the support of every artsman. So let's everybody turn out to the next meeting on Monday as well as all other meetings and make this a bang-up year.
—George E. Boyd

There was a warm discussion and debate, following the question raised by a perturbed member, as to the length of time the pairing-off at the Freshman Reception would last. The meeting at once became animated, and after many helpful suggestions being advanced it was finally decided that the attachment need not last beyond ditching operations on the way home.

Dramatic Society
Betty Brewster gave the report of the reading committee which was that the committee recommended that the Society produce the three act play "Arsenic and Old Lace."
George Robinson moved that the Society undertake this project and the motion was passed almost unanimously.
Professor Smethurst then explained the play and Ted was instructed to send immediately for the play books.
The casting will start this Wednesday at 7:30 and as there is a fairly large cast a large number of students will be needed to try out for the various parts.

than capacity. Debates, and other such activities which did not interfere with the seating arrangement of Memorial Hall could be held at any time during the week.
A survey was made of the number of societies planning to sponsor dances this term, and the heads of these organizations will meet with the Social Committee to decide suitable dates for their dances. The results of this work will be printed in the form of a social calendar which will be co-ordinated as much as possible with an athletic calendar also to be printed.
Dr. Pacey reported on the recent M. I. A. U. conference in Truro. All the Maritime universities are planning increased athletic activities. The M. I. A. U. treasury had on hand $33.75 which was given to U. N. B. to reimburse in part the travelling expenses of our teams. The date set for the provincial playoffs in Rugby is November 3, and the Maritime playoff is to be held November 10. The eligibility rules for playing will be strictly adhered to.
Dr. Pacey also suggested that since there has been in the past some laxity and confusion about gate receipts, the S. R. C. ought to seek the help of Mr. Lewis who is now Assistant in the Bursar's Office.
The chairman, Mr. Owens, then asked for the co-operation of the societies in keeping the notice boards in suitable condition for reading notices. At the close of the meeting, the presidents of societies putting in a budget to the S. R. C. met with the treasurer to discuss this matter.

and Lieutenant-Governor G. L. MacLaren was nominated.
With all matters respecting the Junior Class having been discussed, the meeting was adjourned.

Debaters Meet
representation should be proportionate to the number of students in the class. "The student levy should be lowered this year," and "The University Book Store should reduce the price of textbooks."
To conclude the meeting an impromptu debate was held, the topic for discussion being, "Japanese should be allowed to immigrate to Canada."
Exceptionally good points were raised on both the affirmative and negative sides, and the heated discussion captivated the interest of all who were present. Dennis Benson and Stuart Baxter argued for the affirmative and Doug Rice and Bev Matchett for the negative. The Judges were slow at coming to a decision but finally proclaimed the affirmative victorious.
The president stated he would like to see a good number of the men on the campus come to the next meeting and hear what the debaters have to say about the important questions which are to be raised in this way the new students had next week.

Veterans Meet
A brief talk on the activities of the Club during the previous year was given by Pat Harper, the retiring president, who pointed out that the club though newly formed had established itself and carried out several activities such as the Veterans' Dance and others. It had also donated several books to the Library in honor of those who had paid the supreme sacrifice and had distributed 350 packs of cigarettes to returning Veterans through the Canadian Legion War Services.
The minutes of last year's final meeting were read and approved and the secretary notified the Club that he had sent a letter of sympathy from the society to Hal Robinson's father. Hal had been a very active member the previous year and his services would be greatly missed.
The new constitution of the club was read and approved and a financial statement issued.
The president then pointed out that all members of the U. N. B. organization can join the Canadian Legion as well and thus become eligible for the many benefits of that organization.
Discussion ensued as to the election of committees and officers and it was decided to appoint a three man entertainment committee which had power to call on other members for aid in organizing an entertainment. Members chosen for this committee were: N. J. Smith, Murray Seely and Joe Richards.
A Rehabilitation Committee for looking into matters regarding Veterans Welfare was also appointed and this was comprised of three members — Carlisle Hanson, Elgee Davis and W. Y. Smith.
H. E. Seely was appointed Press Officer of the Club, in charge of publicizing meetings and events.
The following nominations for officers were accepted, the election to be held at the next meeting which will take place at an early date.
The president stressed the need for all Veterans to watch the bulletin boards to see when the next meeting would be called and above all, for every member to be present at the next meeting.

Arts History
The group then discussed the possibility of putting forth a booklet containing the history and traditions of U. N. B. together with the college songs and yells. A motion was passed that they should undertake this work.
It was also decided at the meeting that the society would not put on a dance this term, but should leave this activity for next term. The meeting then adjourned.

Frosh Reception
MacFarlane, President of the Social Committee, welcomed the Frosh and wished them all a pleasant stay at U. N. B. She also explained the purpose of the Reception and the changes that had been made from previous years.
The reception this year was entirely different from all previous ones. Instead of having the S. R. C. and the different Society Presidents give a long list of speeches to acquaint the new-comers with the activities of the different organizations "Up the Hill", it was decided to have all this data printed in the Brunswickan and keep the reception entirely in the form of a dance.
In this way the new students had more opportunity to become acquainted with one another and with the upperclassmen.
Also different from previous years was the fact that no refreshments were served, the necessary funds being kept for the serving of refreshments at the Fall Formal to be held near the middle of this term.
Another novel idea instituted this year was that of having all those present at the dance wear a small red tag with Freshman Reception printed in black. The students wrote their names and faculties on the card and it was then possible to meet one another without a formal introduction.
The Social Committee, headed by Edith MacFarlane deserve a great deal of credit for organizing and conducting a grand Reception for the many new students "Up the Hill."

Pep Rally
points suggested in them were discussed. The purpose of the meeting the president explained was to clean up the main points on the budget before the budget meeting.
Questions concerning the Pep Rally on Friday, October 19 were discussed. Joe Richards was appointed to head a committee to look after the Rally. Particular attention was focused on having a food budget for the occasion.
Sports activities will start as soon as the time table is posted, Professor Ryan announced. There will be tournaments throughout the year.
Basketball starts on October 15 for ladies and on November 12 for men.
There was a discussion about opening the Gymnasium for practice on Sunday. It was suggested that intermural basketball be played on that day.
It was moved and seconded that the A. A. A. approve of having Dr. Pacey as the faculty advisor.
Let us forget and forgive injuries.
