Bog Spavin
Cure the lameness and remove the bunch without scarring the horse—have the part looking just as it did before the blemish came.

Fleming's Spavin Cure (Liquid) is a special remedy for soft and semi-solid blemishes—Bog Spavin, Thoroughpin, Splint, Curb, Capped Hock, etc. It is neither a liniment nor a simple blister, but a remedy unlike any other—doesn't irritate and can't be imitated. Easy to use, only a little required, and your money back if it ever fails.

Fleming's Vest-Pocket Veterinary Adviser describes and illustrates all kinds of blemishes and gives you the information you ought to have before ordering or buying any kind of a remedy. Mailed free if you write.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS. Miscellaneous.

POULTRY HOUSE.

Would you please let me know how much cement and gravel it would take for a henhouse with a nine-foot wall in front and six at back wall, about five inches thick; size of house 16x40? Also, how much lumber it would take and studding for one the same size, to board one thickness with rustic; also how many shingles?
T. D.

Ans.—Do not build a henhouse of cement. As to lumber for a frame one, you can easily figure that out for yourself, with the assistance of a builder or lumber dealer.

LINE FENCING.

A owns a timber lot, which lies along the side of B's lot, which is also timbered. The line was never properly surveyed through, but a fence that was used for a line fence was there. C buys 10 acres from A, which faces that part of fence always maintained by A. What part of fence is C entitled to—the whole 40 rods, or half, or none?
SUB.

Ans.—As the matter stands we should say none. But in view of this recent change in ownership of the B lot, there ought to be a readjustment, among all three, of their mutual obligations for maintenance of such line fence.

WHEAT THIEF.

Plant seen first this season in fall wheat, seeded down with clover about May 13th. Plowed out of clover last summer; no plants seen then. First appeared this spring. What is it, etc.?
D. R.

Ans.—The weed, known as wheat thief or corn growwell (Lithospermum arvense), is a very rough, branching plant, with small narrow leaves, white or yellowish flowers and bony pitted seeds, attached in fours to the flowering branches. It is a biennial or winter annual, so there is no doubt that in this instance the seeds got into the ground last summer or fall. If neglected it will prove a very noxious weed. Fields have been summer-fallowed to get rid of it, but "hoe-cropping" will overcome it.
D.

AMERICAN SILK WORM.

The enclosed moth was picked up near our rural school by some of the scholars. We would like to know its name and habit; also if it will develop into anything injurious?
FOURTH FORM, Middlesex Co., Ont.

Ans.—Telega polyphemus is the scientific name. Polyphemus moth and American silk worm are common names. It comes from a large, light yellow-green larva, which when full grown is as large as one's finger. It is distinguishable from the other large green larva by its diagonal yellowish lines on sides. The larva is fond of plum leaves. It has so many natural enemies that it seldom proves noticeably destructive. The moth itself does not eat. I have read that the attempt has been made to cultivate this moth on a commercial scale for silk, but without success.
