

Caught Cold By Working In Water.

A Distressing, Tickling Sensation In The Throat.

Mr. Albert MacPhee, Chignecto Mines, N.S., writes:—"In Oct., 1908, I caught cold by working in water, and had a very bad cough and that distressing, tickling sensation in my throat so I could not sleep at night, and my lungs were so very sore I had to give up work. Our doctor gave me medicine but it did me no good so I got a bottle of Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup and by the time I had used two bottles I was entirely cured. I am always recommending it to my friends."

Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup combines the potent healing virtues of the Norway pine tree with other absorbent, expectorant and soothing medicines of recognized worth, and is absolutely harmless, prompt and safe for the cure of Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis, Croup, Sore Throat, Pain or Tightness in the Chest, and all Throat and Lung Troubles.

Beware of imitations of Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. Ask for it and insist on getting what you ask for. It is put up in a yellow wrapper, three pine trees the trade mark, and the price 25 cents.

which empty in to it. In line with this policy three survey parties are in the field engaged in hydrographic surveys, investigating the condition of the various streams. They also propose to gather data with regard to the most profitable and economic way of utilizing all the water in sight for domestic and irrigation purposes.

Following upon the success of the ready-made farm on the prairie, the C. P. R. have purchased two tracts of land in the Kootenay which they propose to clear and plant in fruit. This idea has been a popular one in the Okanagan for some years, but this is the first time that it has been applied in the Kootenay to any extent. It would appear that the benefits to be derived would be greater in fruit growing than in general agriculture. In the latter case a pretty definite return can be assured from the start, but with fruit growing the fact that it takes several years for the trees to come into bearing must be reckoned with. Therefore, when a man can buy a farm where the trees have already been planted several years, the proposition should be more attractive.

J. C. Metcalfe, the British Columbia market commissioner, has recently sent in a report re market conditions on the prairie towns. He affirms that the Americans are making strenuous attempts to capture the market. He urges that British Columbia growers be particularly careful of packing and grading, especially in the matter of peaches. The latter promise to be a bountiful crop, and in all probability the price will be low.

Shipments of strawberries have already begun (June 10) to go forward, the growers being promised a minimum of something less than $2.00 a crate with a good deal more if favorable market conditions warrant a larger price being paid.

The fruit crop in the Wenatooee valley this season is said to be a very heavy one, and at this date the growers there are said to have five hundred cars of fruit for sale. They offered one hundred cars to a Calgary firm upon consignment which would indicate that the question of a market has begun to give them some uneasiness. This heavy competition from the American field cannot but tend to reduce prices.

The Dominion government have made an important change in the regulations governing the sale and homesteading of their lands in the railway belt of British Columbia. Instead of each settler being allowed one hundred and sixty acres as heretofore, the land will be classified into two divisions. On the coast where the rainfall is heavy and the timber growth large, a settler is entitled to 40 acres as a pre-emption and homestead. If he is prepared to cultivate more than this amount he is permitted to pre-empt 20 acres more. He must clear ten acres and cultivate a total of six acres before he can get his deed.

In the upper country where the character of the land is somewhat different, a settler is permitted to take up a homestead of forty acres and to pre-empt forty acres more. In the Kamloops division, however, where the land is more of a grazing character the homestead is left at 160 acres.

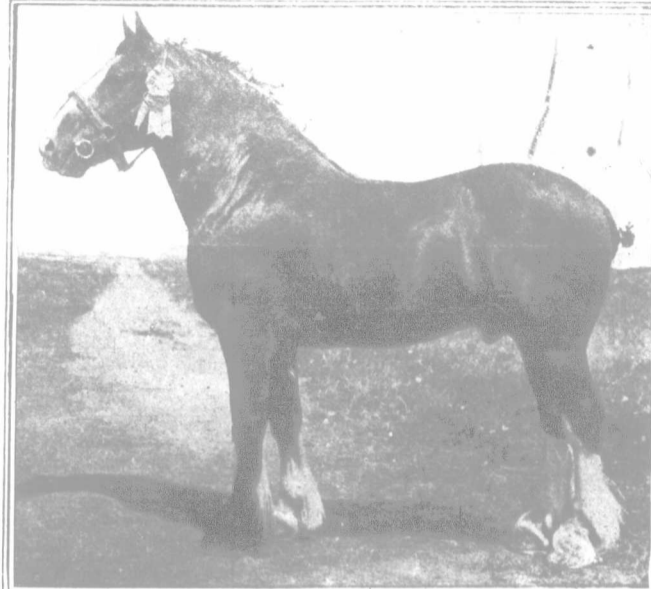

In order to bring their settlements more in touch with each other, the fruit growers in the vicinity of Nelson have induced the British Columbia Telephone Co. to extend their line to Proctor. About thirty-five ranchers will be effected. Outside of the accommodation this new move will afford at all times it will be especially valuable in the shipping season. If anything new develops, each fruit grower can be communicated with by telephone promptly.

EVERGREENS FROM SEED

At the 1909 convention of the Western Horticultural Society, Norman Ross, superintendent of the Forestry Department at Indian Head, gave an interesting talk on the growing of evergreen from seed. The lecture was illustrated by lantern slides. His address follows:

In commencing with the extracting of the seed from the cones, it was shown that artificial heat was generally necessary for this process. Whilst spruces require very little heat to accomplish
