

BOXERS ARE RISING

Giving Much Trouble in China

Ten Thousand of them Are Led by a Woman—Many Fights Have Occurred.

Special to the Daily Nugget.
Washington, Oct. 6.—Advises from China indicate increased Boxerism in Szechuan and Chi Li. In Szechuan Boxers some 10,000 strong attacked Chen Tu, the provincial capital and sanguinary fights followed in the streets. The Boxers were held in check by the Imperial forces and the report being proclaimed that reinforcements were coming for the garrison the Boxers fled and encamped at Shippantan where earthworks had been thrown up. The Boxers of Szechuan are led by a woman, Lio Kuan Yin, who is alleged to be one of three sisters arrested at Tientsin during the rebellion of 1900, it being said they were Boxer Goddeses. Letters from Prince Tuan, Yung Lu and other Boxer leaders were found in their house. This woman is described as being very handsome by Chinese papers and had attached 10,000 Boxers to her standard. The Chung King correspondent of the North China daily News says:—"She is the most powerful rebel chief in Szechuan." It is estimated that 1500 native Christians have been killed in this province. In Chi Li the Boxers secretly drilled every morning before daylight, even in the vicinity of the capital.

PETITION CIRCULATED

By the People of South Dawson

Object to the Presence of Scarlet Women—Want Them Removed.

South Dawson and particularly the thoroughfare known as Dugas street has recently been subjected to an invasion of the demi monde. A score or more of the scarlet women have been in police court during the past week and have paid fines and gone back to the cribs in which they live. The residents of that end of town have now taken the matter in hand and are circulating the following petition which will be presented to the city council:

Dawson, Y.T., Oct. 6th, 1902.
To his worship the Mayor of Dawson and to the honorable body of Aldermen of the City of Dawson in council assembled, we humbly petition:

That we, the undersigned, are citizens of Dawson residing on Dugas street and adjacent thereto in South Dawson.

That we are residents, property owners, tax payers and many are heads of families and have children who are looking up to us for that moral guidance which every child up on earth is entitled to in order to become a welcome citizen in any city or country of the land.

That very recently a very objectionable female element has suddenly come upon us making their abode in our very midst, in some cases next door to, or just across the street from homes where children and young girls live, so that now what was once a quiet neighborhood, through the long night is filled with noisy tramping people who seek these places and fill the air with loud, disgusting talk.

That this is a very bad object lesson indeed for our little children whom we are trying to lead and guide into paths of purity and virtue that they may become welcome citizens of the beautiful city of Dawson.

That Dugas street and all South Dawson is a place of homes and families and its residents would strive to keep it thus.

That we humbly petition your honorable body to have this objectionable element immediately ejected from our midst and neighborhood so that we ourselves may not have to leave our homes to seek moral surroundings in other localities.

To this end do we humbly pray.

ROBBERY LAST NIGHT.

About ten o'clock last night Mr. Reid stepped out of his drug store on First avenue. A few minutes after he stepped back again and found his cash box gone. The box contained $200 in dust and about $300 in silver. The police were notified and Sergeant Smith has arrested Jack Lamont on suspicion. The police are now on the hunt for the box. Mr. Reid says it has a strong lock and the chances are that the thief had not time to open it.

KLONDIKE PIONEERS

New Association of Sour-doughs Organized

To Commemorate the Wild and Woolly Days of '97 on the Trail.

A second meeting was held yesterday afternoon in the A. B. hall for the purpose of forming an association of pioneers of the Yukon watershed. The meeting was called to order by W. H. Welch and George Brimstone was elected temporary chairman and B. H. Moran temporary secretary. The objects of the meeting were stated by these two gentlemen, who said that the year '97 would be a milestone in the history of this territory just as the year '49 was in the history of California, and its memory should therefore be perpetuated. First in the business of the meeting came the choice of a name, and the title Pioneers of the Klondike was unanimously chosen. The eligibility of membership is confined to those who were over the summit and in the Yukon watershed on or before December 31st, 1897, or on the Edmonton trail past 58 degrees north. In the discussion of this clause it was well pointed out that those who were on the trail at the time probably suffered more hardships than those who reached here, and some provision should be made for those who were on the way at the date named.

The charter will remain open for signatures for thirty days, during which the admission to charter members will be $10. After this the admission will be higher.

At Mercy of Mob

Butler, Pa., Sept. 13.—For attempted assault upon a seven-year-old girl, Jerry Bennett was roughly handled tonight by an incensed mob. They bound him and dragged him like a log over the ties, cinders and rails of the railroad tracks in the direction of the nearest bridge, kicking and beating him as they went.

In the meantime all the police in the town had been summoned, and taking Bennett from the mob, hustled him to the county jail before the crowd realized what had happened.

When they found that Bennett was out of their hands they made a rush for the jail and demanded entrance, which Sheriff Hoon refused. Members of the mob secured planks, with which they battered down the door of the jail. A rush was made into the hallway. Deputy Sheriff Rainey and Sheriff Hoon seized a part of the splintered door and began to club the mob back.

One of the latter, James Dougherty, was probably fatally injured, and Sheriff Hoon and his deputy drew revolvers and a fusillade of shots followed. One of the mob was shot and badly hurt.

The shots had a quieting effect and the mob slowly withdrew, but returned shortly, determined this time to lynch Bennett and Sheriff Hoon. The burgess of the town, residing that affairs were beyond his control, sent a hurried appeal to the captain of Company L, Sixtieth Regiment, National Guard of Pennsylvania, asking for aid. The pastor of St. Peter's Protestant Episcopal Church appealed to the crowd to disband, and was roughly handled. One of the police who attempted to make an arrest, was dragged over the square.

A score of deputies and policemen are now standing guard inside the shattered jail door and are determined to shoot to kill should another attempt be made to enter the building. The mob had not dispersed at a late hour tonight, and some trouble seems imminent.

Bennett's victim is in a precarious condition and her recovery is doubtful. Bennett bears a bad reputation, being accused of several similar crimes in the past few months.

MINES MAY BE CONFISCATED

President Roosevelt Is Determined That the People of the United States Shall Not Suffer From Lack of Coal—Operators Remain Firm and Assert That They Will Accept Financial Ruin Rather Than Recognize the Miners' Union—Last Appeal Made to President Mitchell.

Special to the Daily Nugget.

Washington, Oct. 6.—During a dramatic conference at the White House President Roosevelt was politely informed by the coal operators that they stood ready to lose all their fortunes, sacrifice their property and go down to financial ruin, rather than recognize and deal with the mine workers' union. This statement was made so positively that President Roosevelt saw there was no use trying to bring the coal operators to a point where they would concede anything in the controversy, which is unionism and nothing else.

Hence President Roosevelt has concluded this: That there is only one man who can settle the miners' strike and that man is John Mitchell, president of the miners' union. To him representations have been made in behalf of President Roosevelt that if he will allow the men to go back to work and thus save thousands of people from suffering owing to lack of fuel, Roosevelt will go before congress and ask in every way possible that a national arbitration law be passed that will give the miners that measure of arbitration asked through Mitchell at the conference.

Roosevelt is appealing to Mitchell upon grounds of humanity alone, knowing there is a chance that he cannot secure the passage of arbitration laws, but hoping he can bring Mitchell to make sacrifices on humanitarian and patriotic grounds, it having developed that the operators will make no sacrifices whatever on any grounds. The president would like to see it settled that way better than any other, but if this fails there will be immediate action toward opening the coal mines. Roosevelt is not weakening in the slightest degree on the proposition that the mines are going to be opened if the United States government itself, as reported, has to step in and mine coal by confiscating the mines. There is absolutely no length to which the president is not willing to go in order to get an ample coal supply for the people. He would call an extra session of congress but that method is too slow. Congress could not assemble within fifteen days and probably would not be able to get together and pass any effective law within sixty days. It would require another month to pump water out of the mines and commence getting out anything like an ample supply of coal, so by that method it would be January before coal could be supplied to the people and before that date thousands of invalids and children will perish from the pitiless cold of an eastern winter.

THE PHILP STAMPEDE

Concession Opened at Noon Today

Wild Race for Recorder's Office Participated in by Men and Women.

The wild, maddening stampede to the Milne concession several months ago was duplicated today by a similar stampede to the Philp concession which was thrown open to location at noon. All forenoon men and quite a few ladies were seen wending their way toward the mouth of Bonanza and a quarter before 12 o'clock in the immediate vicinity of Lovett gulch there were all the way from 350 to 450 people each armed with a pair of stakes ready to plant them the moment the noon hour was announced. Never before in the history of the Klondike has such a scene been enacted. At the time of the Milne stampede one claim was staked by 24 different people and subsequently a grant was issued giving each of the bunch a 124th interest in the claim. It was considered marvellous that so many people should have staked one claim, but in the light of today's actions it was not a circumstance. On the lower half of No. 4 above on Lovett gulch there were over 100 pairs of stakes planted and on the upper half of No. 3 there were no less than 86. One man while recording shortly before 1 o'clock laughingly said that there was fully a cord of wood on each end of No. 4. Several ladies selected the same claim and it so happened that their number was about equally divided between those who began staking at the upper end and those at the lower end. They finished at about the same time and then each started to stake the other end, meeting midway in the claim, looked daggers 'at each other, thought nasty things but never spoke as they passed by.

J. P. O'Connor was the first to reach the recorder's office having had a mad race with Miss Maud Emery for the honor of being the first in. It was rumored about that instead of following the precedent established in the Milne stampede in dividing the claim up equally among those who had staked simultaneously, that no consideration would be shown any excepting the first 15 men who staked any one claim, which was doubtless responsible for the race, Miss Emery was neck and neck with O'Connor until her horse had the misfortune to slip and fall. The delay was but for a moment, as she is a fearless horsewoman, and swinging herself into the saddle again she lashed her horse at its best speed arriving at the gold commissioner's office the third in line. Miss Emery wore a divided skirt and rode a man's saddle.

Horses, wagons, bicycles and every odd sort of a conveyance was used, many of the stakers arriving at the office within three-quarters of an hour after the staking was done. The noonday gun was heard and the blowing of the whistles which was taken as the signal for the marking of stakes to begin. Joe Boorman arrived at the office in less than an hour, making the distance on foot. Waterford Brown, E. J. White and Ralph Richards made up a party who made the trip in a wagon with stakes nicely strapped, surfaced and all ready to mark their locations on. One entered a stand at a roadhouse and sold stakes at 50 cents each. Goetzman was on hand with his big machine and at the hour the scramble began he took a photograph of the scene.

BLUFF ROAD FINISHED

Rest of Glacier Road is Being Repaired

Has Cost About $7000—Received Much Praise From Sunday Strollers.

The statement made in the News Friday evening to the effect that the road leading up the bluff from the cable ferry was estimated to cost $10,000 and that it would greatly exceed that sum, is incorrect according to Mr. Bertrand, of the department of public works. The estimated cost of the road, said he, was $4,500 which has been exceeded by about $2,500. The work was completed at noon today, and the total cost will be found to be not over $7,000.

Yesterday afternoon there were many people who went over the ferry and along the new road. It is the finest walk near the city and will undoubtedly be very popular as a promenade. James W. Hartner, the foreman, was working about forty men, ten having been laid off. It gave him great pleasure to receive so many compliments on the road. It is all rocked, and covered with fine gravel, and will be a beautiful boulevard needing no repairs for the next seven or eight years.

The road is 2200 feet long to its junction with the old road on the creek, and here there has been a bridge put in, and the approaches corduroyed with two layers of poles over which has been laid two feet of dirt.

The whole of the road was completed at noon today, but the present gang will put in a couple of days work repairing the rest of the Glacier road for a few miles from this end.

A good many pack horses, principally for Boucher, passed over the road yesterday.

Welcome to the Bishop
Bishop Breyant, the newly-appointed Roman Catholic bishop of this diocese, arrived on Saturday afternoon, accompanied by Father Moser and Father Lefebvre. He was met on the White Pass dock by Mayor Macaulay and a committee of leading Catholics.

After the evening service at St. Mary's church last night, an address of welcome to him was read by Pierre Ledieu, and the bishop made a brief reply in which he expressed his regrets that he did not speak English and observed that he had almost forgotten his native tongue after a twenty years residence among the Indians on Mackenzie river. He went there immediately after his ordination as a priest, and is therefore comparatively young for the high position of bishop.

NEW STOCK COMPANY

McLennan and McFeely Co. Changes Hands

Roderick Chisholm the Manager, at the Head of the New Incorporation.

The long and well-established house of McLennan & McFeely Co. changes hands this morning and will shortly be the Yukon Hardware Company. Patrons of the old firm, however, will be able to notice no difference, as the business is to be conducted on the same lines and by the same people. The amount at which the business was turned over has not been stated, but as it is the largest firm of the kind in the country the consideration must represent a good deal of capital.

The Yukon Hardware Company is a stock company which will be incorporated under the Dominion companies act passed the last session of parliament. This act was passed as a recognition of the enormous growth of Canadian manufactures in the past few years, and gives more privileges and a wider field to work upon than any other. The promoters of the company who have had the wisdom to take advantage of the new act are Roderick Chisholm and Raymond Brumbaugh. The former has been the energetic manager of the business for the past two years, and to his push and ability the present high standing of the house is largely due. He is a Nova Scotian, and had gained a wide experience in the hardware business of eastern Canada before coming here. He was married last June and has made his home here.

Mr. Brumbaugh joined the house eighteen months ago coming from the Ames Mercantile Company where he had served a year. Previous to that he had for seven years been a traveller in the hardware business on the coast and is well known to all the business houses of Victoria and Vancouver and those of the coast cities across the border. He also is married and has his home here.

Mr. Chisholm will be the manager of the company and Mr. Brumbaugh the secretary and treasurer. In disposing of the business R. P. McLennan has no idea of leaving the city. He retains his large warehouse on Third avenue and in connection with his Vancouver house will devote himself entirely to the wholesale trade. He has his family here and has leased for the winter the beautiful residence of Mr. Justice Dugas.

MRS. WHITE IS GUILTY

Stole Two Pillows From Mrs Morrison

Aggravated the Offence by Deliberately Committing Perjury on the Witness Stand.

The adjourned case of Mrs. Cora M. White, charged with stealing two feather pillows, valued at $8, was tried in the police court this morning and resulted in her being found guilty and fined $10 and costs, the pillows being restored to the complainant.

Mrs. Mary Morrison, the complainant, said the accused rented a partly furnished cabin from her, in the rear of King street opposite the Nugget office. While away from town the accused left the cabin and Mrs. Morrison found that the pillows in question had been taken away. She met accused who denied having had any such pillows. She then obtained the assistance of a policeman and went to the residence of accused on Second avenue. As they were going to the house they saw a woman putting two pillows through an opening in the gable end of a shed. The policeman then went back for a search warrant.

Mrs. Morrison waited in the street watching that the pillows were not removed, and Corporal Egan returned with a search warrant and took possession of the pillows. Accused said she had never seen them before, knew nothing about them and that they were not her pillows.

Part of this testimony was corroborated by the policeman mentioned, who saw a woman putting pillows in the loft, but Corporal Egan, who found them on a search warrant, could not be called as he was out of town.

Mr. Ashbaugh, for the defence, called Edgar White, husband of accused, who said that Mrs. Morrison's pillows had been left in the bed. He had never seen the pillows produced.

Ronald M. Crawford said he had known accused from fifteen to twenty years. He had known her first husband in Seattle and had been guardian to his children and administrator of his estate. She had always borne the character of a good, hard working woman.

Accused in her own defence said it was incorrect that she had been seen placing the pillows in the loft. She had not placed them there, and she had not seen them until the constable brought them in.

Mr. Ashbaugh addressed the court for the defence, after which Mr. Justice Macaulay said that he must find the evidence very strongly against Mrs. White. The officer saw the woman placing the pillows in the loft but did not identify her. The complainant was with him at the time and did identify her. He thought there was no question that the accused did take those pillows, and that she intended to steal them. The worst feature of the case, however, was that Mrs. White should go into the witness box and deliberately perjure herself. As to Mr. White there was no evidence one way or the other. He should take into consideration the fact that the woman had previously borne a good character and would order that the property be returned to Mrs. Morrison and that the accused pay a fine of $10 and costs or go to jail for thirty days.

Strike Breaking Up

New York, Sept. 23.—John Markle, of G. B. Markle & Co., was asked today whether it was true, as President Mitchell said yesterday, that no licensed miners have returned to work in the mines since the strike began last May.

"That is absolutely false," Mr. Markle answered. "There are several hundred certified miners at work today."

Regarding the situation in the anthracite fields, President Baer, of the Philadelphia & Reading road, said that every day showed a larger proportion of striking miners returning to work.

The attention of President Underwood, of the Erie, was called to the published statement of Carroll D. Wright, that the strike must last three weeks or a month yet, but that the strikers would lose.

"The strike is breaking up," said Mr. Underwood, "and such a statement from Mr. Wright will probably help matters along. But I will not attempt to predict when the strike will end."

Ask for His Removal
Everett, Sept. 23.—At the meeting of the city council last night Irving S. Lloyd, L. L. Hamilton, J. Bro-back, Mrs. Mary Hough and J. F. Hillman petitioned for the removal of Officer Goldthorp, urging that he arrested four boys recently, sons of the petitioners, on the charge of violating the curfew ordinance, lodged them in jail, where they were kept twenty-four hours without trial or any notice to their parents, when they had not been guilty of violating any ordinance.

The city marshal was present and sustained the action of the officer. He said the officer did no more than his duty. The charge was referred to the committee on police for investigation.

Three of the same boys were arrested this afternoon for attempting to steal jewelry from Pillman & Scott's store, and sentenced to ten days in the city jail.

Mrs. Edward Stanyar, wife of Deputy Sheriff Stanyar, of Arlington, who was accidentally shot a few days ago, died this afternoon.

PRISONERS SENT OUT

Ten Convicts Shipped to the Coast

Will Serve Out Their Sentence in the Penitentiary at New Westminster.

Just before the Dawson sailed yesterday afternoon a strong body of police marched down the gang plank with no less than ten hardened convicts between them. They were handcuffed together, two by two, and a long chain. They were taken to the hold of the steamer, which had been converted into a temporary jail with ten cells of strong bars, and are being transferred from here to the penitentiary at New Westminster. The names of these criminals and their sentences are as follows:

James Slorah, murder, life sentence
John Sarga, manslaughter, has two years to serve.

Edward Harris, Dominion saloon, hold-up, ten years.
William Brophy, Dominion saloon hold-up, life sentence.

Otto Frank, attempted murder of Sanderson, fourteen years.
William Moss, housebreaking, seven years.

William Kennedy, robbery on Hunker, five years.
John Collins, robbery, three years.

William Berger, slouch box robbery, two years.
James Thornton, theft, seven years.

The prisoners were in charge of Inspector Cosby, Corporal Egan, Constables Hope, Mallett, Mapley, Laws, Taylor, Strong, d'Amour, Lindblad and Winters.

There was a rumor that the friends of Slorah, who lived for some time at Skagway, will make an attempt at his rescue there through habeas corpus proceedings.

Caisson is Replaced

Puget Sound Navy Yard, Sept. 23.—The caisson of the Puget Sound navy yard dry dock was towed back again from Moran Brothers' dry dock Saturday evening and replaced on the dock. It has received considerable repairs and not a drop of water can enter the dock through its great walls.

The cruiser Boston will leave the navy yard some time this week if she can get a large enough crew. Almost her entire crew was transferred to the battleship Oregon, thus leaving her shy of quite a number of men, both in the engineer's department and on deck. She has just completed coaling at the navy yard. Her destination will be the Mare Island navy yard, where she will undergo further repairs.
