DEATH OF THE PREMIER

Sir John Thompson Expired Suddenly at Windsor Castle.

JUST MADE PRIVY COUNCILLOR
His Body Carried in State to London—Her Majesty's Token-Regiment Service—The Body to be Brought Home.

LONDON, Dec. 13.—Sir John Thompson, Premier of Canada, is dead. He expired suddenly, and heart disease is believed to be the cause of his death. The taking off of Canada's premier occurred at Windsor Castle. He had been, not long before death overtook him, sworn in as Privy Councillor of the Empire.

Shortly after the oath was administered by her Majesty in person, the end came. The ceremony of swearing in took place in the presence of the Earl of Ripon and the members of the Court of Chivalry. Sir John had left London yesterday morning for her Majesty's residence at Windsor, and he was feeling unwell, saying he had not slept well last night. It is supposed the excitement of the ceremony through which he had passed so soon after he had broken down under the strain, for after leaving the royal presence for the ministers' lunch room in the castle, he again renewed his complaint of the morning, that he was feeling unwell. Luncheon, he said, was out of the question; he could not eat anything, and asked to be excused from table. His companions, including Lord Ripon, signified their sorrow at his state of health and he returned to the waiting room adjoining the ministers' lunch room. There Sir John sat down on a couch and leaned forward upon his hands. He appeared to be in intense pain and his agitation first increased and then, deathly sick man rose partly from his chair, he appeared to grope in darkness, when he fell back in a swoon.

Death came with terrible swiftness. The attendant gave the alarm and the ministers at luncheon came in. It was a rush for the waiting room by the ministers. When the doctor, hastily summoned, found the body cold, he pronounced that man, life had fled.

LONDON, Dec. 14.—The body of Sir John Thompson was placed in a coffin and was removed to a room in the Clarence Tower, Windsor Castle, where it will be kept until the funeral. The funeral will be held at St. Edward's church in Windsor, on Friday, Dec. 15. The funeral will be held at 11 o'clock. The coffin will be carried by the Queen's Household, and numerous other members of the royal household, as well as several colonels. The body will be accompanied by Sir Charles Tupper from London. The body was then taken to Marble Hall. It was the Queen's order that the removal of the body to the station should be made with some of the economies of state which were observed on the occasion of the late Queen's funeral. The body was taken to the station by a private train, accompanied by her secretary, went in a wheel chair to the station where the body was lying in state and laid in a coffin of laurel and white flowers, bearing the words: "A mark of sincere respect from the people of Canada."

OTTAWA, Dec. 13.—Hon. Mackenzie Bowell, Minister of Trade and Commerce, was elected yesterday by Lord Aberdeen. The acting Premier met his Excellency in his office in the eastern departmental block. They had a conference of some fifteen minutes. Although Mr. Bowell does not say so, there is no doubt but that his resignation had been accepted by the new administration. At any rate he was consulted as to what should do if he would not resign.

THE DEAD PREMIER

Sketch of the Life of the Statesman Who Has Just Passed Away.

Sir John Sparrow David Thompson was born Halifax, November 10, 1844. His father, John Sparrow Thompson, who had come to Nova Scotia from Waterford, Ireland, his native place, and was for a time Queen's printer, and afterwards superintendent of the money order system of the province, had him educated in the public schools of Halifax and the Free Church Academy. His early training, faithful intellectual endeavor. In 1860 he was articled as a student-at-law in the office of Mr. Henry Fryer, who was afterwards stipendiary magistrate in Halifax. He had already made himself a skilled stenographer reporting the debates in the Nova Scotia House of Assembly. In the official reports of that Legislature for the year 1867, which the curious may find for the seeking on the shelves of the library of Parliament, Mr. John George Bourinot, now the learned Clerk of the House of Commons, who was the official reporter, makes acknowledgment in his preface of the assistance of Mr. John S. D. Thompson. In the following year in preference to the official duties he was continued to report the debates. These years of activity on the floor of the Legislature were of his native province were of assistance to him in giving a thorough and ready knowledge of the procedure of Parliament and a complete acquaintance with the politics and political leaders of the day. He stood him in excellent stead when he himself became a member of the House of Assembly in 1872.

He was called to the bar in July, 1865, in his twenty-first year. Five years later, in 1870, he was elected to the House of Commons by the voters of Antigonish. A year after he became a convert to the Roman Catholic faith. In the practice of his profession he was notably successful from the beginning, and before many years he had established a reputation as a leader of the Halifax bar. In December, 1877, after having served as an alderman and as chairman of the Board of School Commissioners, in Halifax, during several previous years, he was elected at a bye-election to represent Antigonish in the Provincial House of Assembly. When the general election was overthrown in the general election of the following year, the portfolio of Attorney-General was conferred on him. He was in the new Government of which Mr. Simon H. Holmes was leader. It was known as the "Holmes" Government. On the eve of the next provincial election he was left at its head by the retirement of Mr. Holmes, who had held the portfolio of Provincial Secretary.

After a very hotly contested campaign the Government was defeated at the polls in July, 1882, by a majority of five members. Mr. Thompson was again elected to represent Antigonish. A Liberal Government came in and a month or two later he was, by the great acclamation of the bar of the province, appointed a Judge of the Supreme Court of Nova Scotia. He was in his 38th year. He had been a severely honest politician, and his reputation was not wholly congenial to him, he had won a high reputation in his province. It was chiefly as a result of the fact that he had been for many years among his colleagues in the cabinet. Then as now he never engaged in the expenditure of money, and he was of great knowledge of law and of the principles of law.

Mr. Thompson retired from office in 1882 and made way for the Liberals, the debt had been decreased and the regular expenditure so far lowered as to be within the limits of the income of the province. When he accepted, however, he was appointed a Judge of the Supreme Court of Nova Scotia, in the summer of 1882. It was said of him that he fulfilled the duties of his office with a fidelity which had been his chief ambition since he was a young man. More than that he restored strength to a tribunal which had been losing somewhat of its old prestige. These three years of quiet, continuous thought and study were more to his credit than any brilliant oratory which had been his wont. The treatment of his work, while he was on the bench in the Judiciary Act, which became law in 1884. It was drafted by him and it was practically the practice of the courts.

When he was called to Ottawa by Sir John Macdonald, towards the end of the year, 1885, and made Minister of Justice and Attorney-General for the Dominion. He was without exception made of his own province. Honors have crowded thick upon him since then, and his progress to the eminence on which he stood compelled the serious consideration of those who point out that conventions are superfluous nowadays and principles are a discount, and that men go fast and far in politics without them.

He climbed on the overturned boat, and in that state drifted four miles to shore and then sprang seven miles on his hands and knees to Stoke's Bay. At a meeting of the Windsor School Board, after a long debate and a lively exchange of personalities, it was decided that corporal punishment is essential to the maintenance of discipline. The decision is founded upon the punishment of Gary Johnson by Superintendent Wherry.

Provincial Fair Stock Show. GUELPH, Dec. 14.—The annual Christmas fair in connection with the fat stock show was held yesterday. Butcher's cattle were plentiful at 3 to 3 1/2. Not many really fat cattle were brought in for sale. Some of the stock on exhibition at the fat stock show brought good prices for the Christmas trade. A number of the prize sheep were also sold for the Buffalo market. The large display of dressed poultry has been disposed of. Prices were considerable below that of former years. The show closed in the afternoon. A Toronto Cartoonist Shoots Himself. TORONTO, Dec. 13.—Edward Houghton, the cartoonist on the Toronto Star, shot himself through the heart in the Star office last night. Houghton was getting over the effects of a prolonged spree. There was no one in the office at the time of the shooting, but those who heard the shot, and, rushing in, found the unfortunate man sitting on a chair, with a bullet wound in his chest. His hand held a revolver in his hand. An ambulance was summoned and Houghton was conveyed to the hospital. He will die.

IN DEEPEST DISTRESS

Destitution Follows in the Wake of Newfoundland's Crisis.

THE LEGISLATURE SUMMONED
Settlers Walk Twenty Miles to the Capital to Learn What They May Hope For—The Misery of Forty Years—Age Promotes to Be Surpassed.

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., Dec. 17.—The special session of the legislature called in consequence of the financial crisis opened on Saturday. So great is the anxiety of the people that men walked to town from settlements, twenty miles distant, to learn what hope might be held out. The Governor's speech suggested the appointment of a joint select committee to investigate the bank's report on their condition and recommend the proper steps to establish some medium of circulation. He announced that the Government had arranged for providing means for paying the interest on the colony's debt due at the beginning of the new year. The legislature took no action at the opening session although the Governor reminded the members of the existing destitution and the necessity of alleviating it immediately. The members are besieged by the people. Through the sympathy of men fill the streets. This army is recruited by school-leavers from the outports coming to exchange bank notes for food at half their face value. The northern mail steamer Virginia has been ordered to carry one hundred and fifty passengers. Their narratives show that the whole country is in deep distress. People are ruined who last year were in comfortable circumstances. The entire coast with settlements containing nearly 50,000 people is now in a state of destitution. It is almost impossible to make a list of the miseries of forty years ago when Indian men were a staple article of commerce. Bank directors and other men are accused of collecting the accounts due before the crash and drawing gold, and it is alleged that they have been taking car loads of property from their premises after midnight all the week and storing it with friends.

LEAMINGTON IN GREAT LUCK.
The New Gas Well Turns Out to Be a Gascher—It is a Municipal Enterprise.

WINNIPEG, Ont., Dec. 17.—A test was made on the new gas well at Leamington and the flow was found to be one million cubic feet per day, or equal to the great Leamington well at Leamington, Ontario. The gas company gets its supply for East Detroit, Windsor and Walkerville. It is located at Leamington, the terminus of the Michigan Central Railway branch one mile south of Leamington on the farm of Aaron Ellis. All the stock has been transferred to the corporation of Leamington and it will be run as a municipal enterprise. For two years the town has been paying large sums to the Ontario Natural Gas Company for fuel and light gas. It will now make a double stock of economy as it will not only save this expenditure but will apply all the proceeds towards local improvements and thus lower the assessment rate. An Interesting Case in Court. NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., Dec. 17.—A suit of an unusual character has been entered against the congregation of Trinity church, Chippewa. The suit is instituted by the Rev. E. J. Fessenden, Episcopal rector of Anaxator, near Hamilton, and is for the collection of salary as incumbent of Trinity church, Chippewa. The litigation is due to disagreement several years ago. While Mr. Fessenden was rector of Chippewa the vestry desired to "boycott" him. The Rev. gentleman would not go and the vestry appealed to the Bishop of Niagara. His lordship took sides with the rector and desired to remove him, and proposed the vestry stoppage of Mr. Fessenden's stipend. The Rev. rector, however, more than made up for the vestry stoppage by presenting a claim for salary which the vestry ignored. Last year he resigned to the charge of his present parish, and, having failed to make terms with the obstinate vestrymen, he now institutes a mandamus to remove him, and inquires of law and incidentally the authority of vestrymen, bishops and ministers in view of the features of the case which will come up for review.

Died Drunk at Seventeen. MONTHLY, Dec. 17.—A young French Canadian named Albert Belaire residing in the municipality of St. Henri was found in a dying condition in a back yard near his residence. By his side was found a whiskey bottle partly filled. The young fellow who is only 17 years of age was conveyed to the police station, and medical assistance was summoned but before the arrival medical aid was of no avail. Dr. Villeneuve, medical expert, certified that death resulted by exposure and alcoholic poisoning.

Attacked by a Mad Patient. QUINCY, Dec. 17.—While doing his daily round in the men's ward in the Beaumont lunatic asylum Dr. Vale was assailed by a mad patient. The department is undergoing hygienic improvements and plumbers had left a long piece of lead pipe. The maniac seized this and gave it a swing above the doctor's head. Fortunately one of the guardians prevented the pipe from striking with full force. Nevertheless Dr. Vale was hit on the left side of the head receiving a nasty gash from which blood flowed freely. His life is said to be in danger.

Disastrous Fire at Jarvis. JARVIS, Ont., Dec. 17.—Another disastrous fire and serious loss to this place has occurred by the police loss of $11,000 worth of cold storage warehouse and buildings attached. The building was nearly filled with meat. The loss of three horses perished in the adjoining building. Loss estimated about $2,000, partly insured. The fire started in the barn, cause unknown.

Robbery at Mono Mills. MONO MILLS, Ont., Dec. 17.—Burglars entered the house of John Kild through one of the back windows and succeeded in carrying off about $50 in cash and a coat.
