HOME AGAIN

Miss Lillian Pratt Chats of her Trip—Didn't Secure a European Engagement.

Miss Lillian Pratt is home again, after her European tour.

"It is so nice to come home to your friends," said Miss Pratt yesterday morning. "I believe that is one of the greatest pleasures derived from going away, but there was one thing about my return that I didn't enjoy. I travelled all over Europe and wasn't bothered by customs officers at all, and the minute I return home I am charged duty on my wearing apparel."

"I had a delightful time abroad, visiting Germany, Holland, France and Italy. I spent 10 days in London, where I met Mr. and Mrs. Roy Toboy. In the European cities we visited we saw and heard many famous musicians. In Paris I heard Samson and Delilah in the Grand Opera House. In Boston, last week, I saw the beautiful little opera, Prince of Pilsen, and was surprised to see Zella Frank, a former Chatham girl, in one of the leading roles."

"I reached London the morning after the coronation, just in time to miss the ceremony, but I saw all the beautiful decorations."

"I saw the Shah of Persia, and other celebrities, but I didn't meet any of them personally."

Edinburgh was the most beautiful city I visited. The streets are divine. Of course I enjoyed Holland and Switzerland for their quaintness and the difference in the customs and living from what I had been used to. I was delighted with Venice, nobody could help that."

"And here I am back. You might say," added Miss Pratt smilingly, "I didn't get any European engagements, and I will be pleased to see my pupils as usual in Chatham."

COMMITTED FOR TRIAL

Clarence Tickner was committed for trial on the charge of assaulting Wm. Monck and doing grievous bodily harm. William Monck, the man hit, was the only witness at the adjourned sitting of the preliminary hearing yesterday morning. Monck is still weak. He says he was older and stronger than Tickner, and he felt satisfied that he could whip the prisoner. For this reason he had invited the prisoner to throw down his club. And if Tickner had done so Monck said he would have thrashed him. Judge Houston held that there was sufficient evidence to warrant Tickner being committed for trial. Tickner was released on bail, himself in $500 and his father in $300. The case will be tried at the Fall Assizes, Oct. 27th.

NEW PAVEMENT

"Do you know we are going to have an asphalt pavement down Queen St. here," said a popular and prominent Queen street business man this morning to The Planet. "Well, we are. Of course, it won't come this year, but we will surely have it next year. We can't allow them to take all the traffic off this street to William, and that's just what will happen until we get our pavement down. I think we better have it asphalt. We'll be different from the rest and then it's the best after all."

"Well," he concluded, with a wink, "I think we'll put the men in the Council that will get it here for us."

HOTEL FOR EAU

There is a rumor on the street to-day that seemingly has the best of support. It is to the effect that a $50,000 summer hotel will be built at Erieau, Chatham's ever popular summer resort, in the spring, by Cleveland magnates. The new hotel will be built on the old athletic grounds and will accommodate from 300 to 300 persons. It has been a talked of affair for a long time, but it now seems as if it will go right ahead. It is the proposal to move the station, post office and telegraph office right there, and everything will be convenient. This will be the building up of this already international popularity.
