Supreme Court.

The King vs. Goodland and Shallow. These two men were tried on Friday last before Judge Johnson for shop-breaking with intent to steal. A special jury was sworn, as follows: Forbes Ross, Wilfred Dove, Abram Burt, James Wiseman, William Burt, James Wiseman, William Spurrell, E. M. McLean, Henry Butler, Edward Goodfellow, Henry Bartlett. John Burt, Robert Coleman, Ernest Cowan. Mr. W. A. Ellis and Detective Byrne, sworn witnesses, were examined after which the jury was addressed by Miggins, for the prisoners and Warren, K.C., for the Crown. His Lordship reviewed the evidence and directed the attention of the jury to the law dealing with the indict The jury then retired and after nearly two hours' deliberation returned with a verdict of "Guilty" recommending the mercy of the Court.

GOVERNOR'S ADDRESS. The 24th of May is an anniversary oserved throughout the British Em-Some of our holidays represer ur attachment to our Faith, others oyal House, a few represent pur-offlity or general relaxation from the umdrum round of toil. But the 24th ay is the anniversary which we have hosen as a National festival, a day f thanksgiving for the benefits which e share with 400 millions of other abjects of the King-Emperor, and of ride that we too, are members of mean state but are shareholders i

We know the 24th of May by two ames, and both have a grand signi-cance. One is Victoria Day and the ther is Empire Day. The duty fell the Transvaal of preparin law to register public holidays. And s a wonderful tribute to the lustre Queen Victoria's name that, a few onths after the long and bitter way ras ended, and with the active cor urrence and support of the Boo nerals, the pen was drawn through Majuba Day, and Victoria Day was ostituted as a public Holiday, an r gallant foes agreed that, whereas ajuba Day was a date to be forgot-Victoria Day was a date which ven by the newest nation-partner in ur world-wide confederacy. On the rst anniversary—a few months later -we agreed that the day should be elebrated by inculcating an earl

esson to our children in the duties

Victoria Day has to us the specia significance that, in the reign of the Great and Good Queen, Great Britian emerged from the old ruts of med aeval times when the privileged few held all the power and the many wer powerless and discontented. In he reign all disabilities were remove race, of caste, and of creed. To us a has been given the priceless gift c education. Knowledge has not meant as some wise-acres prophesied, content with our lot; it has mean that all who can may rise to any place of honour. It has produced citizens self-respecting, loyal and orderly rebellion only held in check by bay onets, free and equal laws have pr ed a hundred times more effective i establishing good will and in turn the hearts of the disobedient to the wisdom of the just. Great Britain ha led the way along the path of liberty and not one of our grand confederac in the abolition of irksome and repres sive legislation than this Newfou

land of ours.

We call it also Empire Day in th oride of our race, for we are immeas urably proud of our Empire. I call it logue of Photo Designs and ours, for under equal laws it is ours the King-Empire himself. Each citizen is lord of himself and owns no master but the responsible people unthe headship of our King, and the King knows under his beneficent ple of the most ancient colony I would give you figures to prove e marvellous and unequalled growth our Empire. We are four hundred llion people, and we possess twelve million square miles; more than one-fifth of the peoples of the world, more than one-fifth of the area of the world, a miracle of peaceful and harnonious working. It is the rare dis-inction of the British Empire that is tremendous fighting power and its remendous trading power are ranged on the side of peace, "Our word is eace our rights are equal laws."
but, in the pride of empire, let that ride be an honest self-respecting ride be an honest self-respecting pride, fair to all and respecting the rights of all. "No frantic boast, no foolish word." We have much to earn of other nations. The Germans may teach us the virtues of thoroughness, perseverance and simplicity. France can teach us thrift and the arts. From the United States we may strive to copy their energy, inganization. In Japan we may see the patriotism which shrinks not from any sacrifice in the cause of the na-

In these heyday times of peace and prosperity, we are apt to forget the hard lessons of adversity. We may not always remember that this worldwide anniversary was the entrance of the period, not many years ago, when our nation trod the valley of the shadow of death. It is natural that a holiday should be treated as a holiday and advantage taken of it for re-laxation and pleasure of a change from the routine of daily life. But be sure of this that all of the true stock will, when the time of stress or the time of danger approaches, display that dogged pluck and unswerving courage which built up the Empire committed to our care. Let us guard that glorious inheritance with un-tarnished honour, and let us so rear a new generation in the good ways of our forefathers that they, too, may nd on to later ages the glory of our

Evidences of Loyalty Everywhere -Rain Mars Celebration.

Empire Day which was looked forward to by the whole community as a day when pleasure would prevail turnd out to be a diappointment owing to he weather which prevailed. A S. E wind which prevailed Friday eve was followed by a thick fog and late that night there were heavy shower of rain while when Saturday morning broke the wind had veered up from the N. E. and a cold raw day was ushred in with a continuous downpour of rain. Many had made preparations to 'troll the finny deep" for the sportive mud trout and rainbow, but the weather dampened their ardor and only those who disregarded comfort went countrywards. Such persons were ! no means few and until a late Friday night vehicles of all kinds wit waltonians on board went to the try, while 200 trouters left by special train which went out at Friday night. Despite the weather fervour and loyalty could be noted to all sides. The residences of citizen public halls and buildings and the hipping in the harbour were ablazith bunting and the scene thoug lurred somewhat by fog and rain w n inspiring one. At noon the bells one flag bedecked towers of the Cathedral ran forth a merry pe which resounded through the city, as in many a home was sung with fer your "God Save the King." At nigi in the halls and clubs reunions too place, the places of amusement wer crowded and in all these resorts the roceedings had a distinctly patriot character at once appropriate, popular and pleasing. Train Strikes Express.

When the local train drawn by the big new locally built engine No. 112 was coming to the city Friday night at speed of about 25 miles an hour. Topsail Road, a tragedy was averted but how will possibly never be known Engineer Candow kept a bright look-out along the track ahead, the train blew for the crossing and everything seemed to be O.K. when the engin rounded the curve and right in front of it and crossing the track on the Topsail Road was a horse leisure! drawing an express. In an instant the train was upon it and the express was beaten into splinters. The train was quickly brought up and the train hands investigated. The express was cut completely clear of the horse which dashed off up the road with the pieces of shaft hanging to its side and was stopped by J. Walsh who, with a lantern came later to investigate The men searching found the owne of the fitout, a man named James Lawlor, drunk and asleep in a drain nearby. He had a couple of flasks of liquor in his pocket. Had he been in the express he would have been in-stantly killed. He could give no account of himself and the belief is that he fell from the car a few minutes beore he reached the crossing or that he had been guiding the horse by the ead and thus escaped and was flung

The annual procession of Corpus Christi took place , yesterday afternoon, a large concourse of children taking part. Owing to the unfavourable weather the ceremony was held in the Cathedral instead of in the grounds, as is customary. The Blessed Sacrament was borne by Rev. Fr. McDermott. The officers of the different Catholic Societies took part in the procession.
