To join a union is like planting a seed in a

You plant the seed, and go to bed at night.

You wake up in the morning and there is no change; nothing seems to have happened during

The week passes, and still there is no change. But you know the change is going on under-

You wait; you give it water, and watch it, and then, some day, a tiny little shoot comes.

You take it to the sun, you water it and watch it, and in the summer comes a beautiful blossom, the result not only of sowing the seed, but of patience and watchfulness.

The union is like that.

You have not got only to pay dues, but you have got to take an interest in your own trade and in other trades.

You have get to go about preaching the gospel of trade unionism, and persuading your fellow-workers to join, and this is not only for the sake of what they can get out of it, but for the sake of what they are going to put into it.

A CURE FOR INFATUATION BY WINNIFRED BLACK

In love with a face, infatuated with a memory-"dying for one look from a pair of wondrous eves.

That's what the woman tells me in the letter that lies on my desk, breathing a kind of sickly perfume in every line of it. And she has a good husband and three nice children, and they are all wondering what's the matter with

She saw him in a crowd, a perefct stranger-tall, dark, mysterious, with eyes that melted the heart in her breast, and she went home and mourned and dreamed and yearned, and now she's sick and abed, and nobody knows what to do with her, and what, oh, what, shall as a bottle of asafoetida-which is one of the things you need and need badly right this very insant. Have you ever spent any kind of time in a sanatarium, or at any kind of health resort? You'll find hundreds of your soul sisters there, all pining, all dying, all fading away for the want of a good sound spanking and some

Doctor?-You don't need a doctor, you need some hard times. If I were your husband I'd fail in business, I'd come home without a dollar in my pocket, I'd tell you we'd have to move, and I'd speak of selling some of the furniture to raise money to pay the rent. I'd discharge the cook and cut down the house allowance, and I'd have oldest daughter pretend to fall in love with a faker down at Coney Island, and I'd pretend to take to drink. I'd give you something to think about, something real, and you'd forget all about those soulful eyes so quick that it would surprise you Soulful eyes!-I'd rather see a daughter of mine married to the ash man than to the soulful-eyed sort of person. He isn't dreaming of kindred spirit when he looks "soulful," he's just fretting about what kind of breakfast food would be best for indigestion.

And you, the mother of three children, how can you live and be such

Haven't you learned yet that love is not all of life, it's just a part of it, the best part to be sure, but just a part of it after all? What if your husband should go into this "soulful" business? How would you like that? Fine time he'd have keeping the family going if he took to his bed and "died" for a glance from a pair of soulful eyes. Be thankful for the love of a good man, you silly woman-be thankful on

I've never seen you, but I'll warrant you are no such desperately fascinating creature that men die for want of a glance from you.
