Decidedly Dictionary Daffy

London has apparently gone "dictionary daffy," and the surprisingly rapid rate at which the craze has spread to secure copies of the beautiful $4.00 Webster's New Illustrated Dictionary (with latest Census) is a creditable comment upon the high average intelligence of the citizens.

New supplies of books have arrived and they are now ready for distribution. For the accommodation of the public the doors of the Dictionary department will not close until 7 o'clock each evening, and will be kept open until 8 o'clock every Saturday.
