CANADA NEEDS MEN LIKE KING DECLARES DEAN N. L. TUCKER

Speaks at Meeting When Pre-mier Presents Robb Medal to Winning Student.

'ACCORDED RECEPTION

Last night for the first time in the history of London a prime minister of Canada visited one of the public schools of the city and spoke to the boys and girls and their parents.

From the arrival of the Hon. W L. Mackenzie King at 8 o'clock, when the audience rose with one accord and sang fervently O Canada, to the last ringing cheers of the boys' voices as the prime minister left the building, and even past that, when the hood, Roberts' mothers' club, to present the school.

"I do not know him personally. I never saw him nor heard him speak him to the school."

"And when we are serving the King.) "And when we are serving empire we are more or less struck with the fact that we are serving household in Ottawa, and the young with the fact that we are serving humanity at large."

Gives Illustration.

To Illustrate his point, Mr. King pointed to the fact that a Canadian has just been chosen president of the League of Nations.

"This all goes to show," he said, "that the circle of citizenship is an ever-widening circle. Your training here at school will give you a larger outlook, Most public men have been made in public schools, and I hope that there is one here tonight who will take an important part in the affairs of Canada in the years to come, I hope that Allan McNaughton, to whom I have presented this medal tonight, will be among the great men of Canada some day."

Mr. King greated Allan McNaughton, the Millish of the said: "Apart from the fact that Mackenzie King is a bachelor, he is the most delightful man you can possibly meet, and he is kind and considerate to everyone."

"This week, I spent three days at a home in Toronto, in which the mistress of the house was a friend of the boy, W. L. Mackenzie King. Indeed, she knew him so well that she called him Billy King. I hesitated to do that when he was present here in the school a few ments ago, because he was the prime minister. But that is her name

"I'd much rather speak here in academic surroundings," he said. "that where Mr. Little and I are going. But there is a large political meeting waiting for me."

Mr. King was welcomed to the school by Mrs. H. T. Reason, president of the Lord Roberts Mothers' club, by Dr. J. F. Bryant, principal of the school, by S. F. Lawrason, chairman of the school board, and by Confrey Wheable, inspector-ad-

Robb medal to Allan McNaughton, winner of highest standing in the city at the recent entrance examinations, Mr. King took the opportunity to give the boys and girls a lesson in citizenship.

"It is just the sort of equipment which you are receiving in the schools here that you will need for your future life as citizens of Canada," he declared. "And citizenship means service for your country, whether it be directly for your own city or town, for your own province, or for the great Dominion of Canada. Your service does not end even there. When we are serving our own country we are serving the empire as well.
