of thefts. Morris, though young, is not un-known to the police, for only a short time ago he was mixed up in the burglarizing of a Store street restaurant. Yesterday he had five different charges against him for stealing ; the thefts included the taking of watch, chain and a couple of rings from an Indian woman's cabin on Belleville street, a watch, chain, knife and some jewelry from an employe at the B.C. Cattle Co.'s stables; robbing a pigeon loft; stealing a rifle and some knives, and making away with some cans of salmon. This last charge was withdrawn as the cans could not
