

BUY A WORLD EVERY DAY.

FRIDAY MORNING, JANUARY 5, 1883.

LOCAL NEWS PARAPHRASED.

The day is again frozen over. A pretty close shave only 5.

"The same to you, Mayor Bowell."

The Manitoba cold wave has evidently struck Toronto.

Mr. Bathurst, Q. C., leaves for England in about three weeks.

Mr. Gordon Brown is confined to the house with a severe cold.

The ball and reunion of the old fire brigade takes place at St. Lawrence hall tonight.

Assistant-Receiver-General Fraser has received $3000 in new copper coins. They fill eighty boxes.

The Canadian Baptist is issued this week with new type throughout. It is very tastefully gotten up.

There was a general caucus of delegates during the week of last night. The Union station was a continual bustle.

W. Broderick was arrested on a warrant last night by the police of No. 2 division for assaulting Patrick O'Brien.

Dr. Kelly of the Institute for the blind at Stratford, is at the Queen's hotel. The doctor is an old newspaper man.

Michael Conklin was detailed at No. 2 station last night on a charge of committing an assault on Elizabeth Brownly.

Ann Smith, aged 40, committed to jail as a vagrant on Tuesday last, when it was found that she had no money.

Another of the weekly social, musical and literary entertainments at the garden with the Shaftesbury coffee house was held last night, with a good attendance.

The stinging air of the past three days incited a little last night, when it commenced to snow, with indications that it would continue snowing for some time.

At Jewell & Clay's restaurant yesterday afternoon Aid. Italian members of the members of the city council and a number of friends in honor of the free library victory.

At the county judge's criminal court yesterday George Staley was tried on a charge of stealing $15 from Argus Pennach, while asleep on Dec. 21, at Ballantrah. The charge was not proven.

The Royal opera house was crowded last night to see Magician Hart's performance, which is, as said before, a very good one. Mr. F. B. Hayes of the Federal Bank, Yorkville, drew the prize of the gold watch.

The house of E. Lawson, 93 King street east, delighted the delegates at the garden Wednesday night by presenting each one with an entrance with a card which bore a political cartoon of the day, and a complimentary award and at the same time informed them of the address of the well known house.

The firm of Lake & Clark, estate and financial agents, has removed their business to No. 79 Yonge street, where they have opened up large, handsome offices to meet the requirements of their increasing business, and where in connection with their present business they will hold a weekly auction sale of lands only.

Mrs. Eliza Rosenstein, widow of the late Dr. Charles Rosenstein, New York, stopped at the Walker house on December 28, which she left on Christmas morning and took the Great Western division of the Grand Trunk, but was put off at Mimico, having no ticket. She got to Hamilton by a subsequent train and has not been heard of since.

Fire in a Ragin.

At 3.45 this morning Miss White, who keeps a bagnio at No. 11 Nelson street, rushed frantically to the corner of King and York streets, and told Policeman Mitchell that her place was on fire. An alarm was sounded and the brigade was soon on the spot despite the blinding snow storm. The fire originated in a fire place in a front room, and burned through to the floor below. It was put out without turning on the water from the hose. The bodies of the plates and ornaments and unguessed screams of terror, thinking the house would be burned down.

Grand Opera House.

The Boston dramatic company, which occupied the boards at the Grand last night, is made up mainly of local amateur talents. The play presented was the Firmament, and the success of the evening was not applied to the Toronto friends of the benevolent fund. With so worthy an object in view it is to be regretted that a much larger audience was not present. The play, which is one depicting the vicissitudes of a poor mother and her daughter who are beset by danger on all hands, and the ultimate inheritance by the daughter of a handsome fortune, was run off in a manner, though decidedly amateurish, still not without some creditable features. The title role was assumed by Mr. D. H. White with a great deal of success. Besides the play there was other entertainment, notably the tricks of jugglerdom by Mr. The Scott of the Grand opera house staff, assisted by Miss Letitia. The various feats attempted were cleverly performed and received deserved applause. The singing of little Eva Christoph was also much admired, but the rest of the specialist performers not so much so.

Burglars in Court.

A batch of alleged burglars, male and female, were arraigned in the police court yesterday. John Kenney, Daniel Evans, James Jordan, Ann Spring and Bella Anderson, are the names of the Lumley street chicken thieves arrested by Detective Hodgins some time ago. They are also held as the parties who burglarized the premises of Mr. A. Gordon, at Richmond and Dundas streets. The young man Connor, who is in the hospital suffering from a pistol wound, is also implicated in this affair, and until he recovers the trial will not come off.

George Pearce, Robert Pearce and William Hume were put forward on a charge of burglary at the Coopers' Arms tavern in Cherry street. It was alleged that the three broke into the house and stole $8 from a bedroom. The Peaces were discharged for want of evidence, but Hume was held until to-day for additional evidence.

CLOSE OF THE CONVENTION.

The Fifteen Printed Resolutions Adopted Winding up the Work.

The reform convention opened at 9.30 yesterday morning in the grand hall and closed up its business at 3 o'clock in the afternoon. Mr. W. C. Copp of Hamilton was in the chair. The committee on resolutions presented a draft copy of their fifteen resolutions. The movers and seconders of each of the resolutions spoke to them. Mr. Mitchell continued his special address for the previous evening. The attendance was nearly as large as on the opening day. Following are a gist of the resolutions adopted:

1. A general resolution declaring that it is the bounden duty of all true liberals to strengthen the strongest hands of the present and its colleagues.

2. That the rivers and streams act, which dealt with subjects left by the constitution to the exclusive jurisdiction of the province of Ontario, was in no manner illegal, unconstitutional, or antagonistic to the constitution of the province.

3. That the convention declares that the principle of local self-government is the only one which is consistent with the principles of the constitution.

4. The boundary award. It is asserted that the award should be final and that the government of the province should not be allowed to make any further award.

5. That the convention declares that the principle of local self-government is the only one which is consistent with the principles of the constitution.

6. That the convention declares that the principle of local self-government is the only one which is consistent with the principles of the constitution.

7. That the convention declares that the principle of local self-government is the only one which is consistent with the principles of the constitution.

8. That the convention declares that the principle of local self-government is the only one which is consistent with the principles of the constitution.

9. That the convention declares that the principle of local self-government is the only one which is consistent with the principles of the constitution.

10. That the convention declares that the principle of local self-government is the only one which is consistent with the principles of the constitution.

11. That the convention declares that the principle of local self-government is the only one which is consistent with the principles of the constitution.

12. That the convention declares that the principle of local self-government is the only one which is consistent with the principles of the constitution.

13. That the convention declares that the principle of local self-government is the only one which is consistent with the principles of the constitution.

14. That the convention declares that the principle of local self-government is the only one which is consistent with the principles of the constitution.

15. That the convention declares that the principle of local self-government is the only one which is consistent with the principles of the constitution.

CABLE NEWS.

The period of deficits is over in Spain.

Leon Ray is suffering from a violent attack of gout. His condition causes anxiety.

Montenegro has ordered several villages on the frontier to Turkey in settlement of the boundary question.

The Roumanian chamber is discussing the project of the constitution, changing the title of prince to king and principally to kingdom.

A man fired three shots before the Astor bar on a wedding day, and the morning after started his breakfast with a good appetite, a few smiles occasionally flickering about his mouth, and they went on the even line of their way.

There is a romance in figures. A young man met a girl, married her and took her on a wedding day, and the morning after started his breakfast with a good appetite, a few smiles occasionally flickering about his mouth, and they went on the even line of their way.

There is a romance in figures. A young man met a girl, married her and took her on a wedding day, and the morning after started his breakfast with a good appetite, a few smiles occasionally flickering about his mouth, and they went on the even line of their way.

There is a romance in figures. A young man met a girl, married her and took her on a wedding day, and the morning after started his breakfast with a good appetite, a few smiles occasionally flickering about his mouth, and they went on the even line of their way.

There is a romance in figures. A young man met a girl, married her and took her on a wedding day, and the morning after started his breakfast with a good appetite, a few smiles occasionally flickering about his mouth, and they went on the even line of their way.

There is a romance in figures. A young man met a girl, married her and took her on a wedding day, and the morning after started his breakfast with a good appetite, a few smiles occasionally flickering about his mouth, and they went on the even line of their way.

There is a romance in figures. A young man met a girl, married her and took her on a wedding day, and the morning after started his breakfast with a good appetite, a few smiles occasionally flickering about his mouth, and they went on the even line of their way.

There is a romance in figures. A young man met a girl, married her and took her on a wedding day, and the morning after started his breakfast with a good appetite, a few smiles occasionally flickering about his mouth, and they went on the even line of their way.

There is a romance in figures. A young man met a girl, married her and took her on a wedding day, and the morning after started his breakfast with a good appetite, a few smiles occasionally flickering about his mouth, and they went on the even line of their way.

There is a romance in figures. A young man met a girl, married her and took her on a wedding day, and the morning after started his breakfast with a good appetite, a few smiles occasionally flickering about his mouth, and they went on the even line of their way.

There is a romance in figures. A young man met a girl, married her and took her on a wedding day, and the morning after started his breakfast with a good appetite, a few smiles occasionally flickering about his mouth, and they went on the even line of their way.

There is a romance in figures. A young man met a girl, married her and took her on a wedding day, and the morning after started his breakfast with a good appetite, a few smiles occasionally flickering about his mouth, and they went on the even line of their way.

There is a romance in figures. A young man met a girl, married her and took her on a wedding day, and the morning after started his breakfast with a good appetite, a few smiles occasionally flickering about his mouth, and they went on the even line of their way.

There is a romance in figures. A young man met a girl, married her and took her on a wedding day, and the morning after started his breakfast with a good appetite, a few smiles occasionally flickering about his mouth, and they went on the even line of their way.

There is a romance in figures. A young man met a girl, married her and took her on a wedding day, and the morning after started his breakfast with a good appetite, a few smiles occasionally flickering about his mouth, and they went on the even line of their way.

There is a romance in figures. A young man met a girl, married her and took her on a wedding day, and the morning after started his breakfast with a good appetite, a few smiles occasionally flickering about his mouth, and they went on the even line of their way.

There is a romance in figures. A young man met a girl, married her and took her on a wedding day, and the morning after started his breakfast with a good appetite, a few smiles occasionally flickering about his mouth, and they went on the even line of their way.

There is a romance in figures. A young man met a girl, married her and took her on a wedding day, and the morning after started his breakfast with a good appetite, a few smiles occasionally flickering about his mouth, and they went on the even line of their way.

There is a romance in figures. A young man met a girl, married her and took her on a wedding day, and the morning after started his breakfast with a good appetite, a few smiles occasionally flickering about his mouth, and they went on the even line of their way.

There is a romance in figures. A young man met a girl, married her and took her on a wedding day, and the morning after started his breakfast with a good appetite, a few smiles occasionally flickering about his mouth, and they went on the even line of their way.

There is a romance in figures. A young man met a girl, married her and took her on a wedding day, and the morning after started his breakfast with a good appetite, a few smiles occasionally flickering about his mouth, and they went on the even line of their way.

There is a romance in figures. A young man met a girl, married her and took her on a wedding day, and the morning after started his breakfast with a good appetite, a few smiles occasionally flickering about his mouth, and they went on the even line of their way.

There is a romance in figures. A young man met a girl, married her and took her on a wedding day, and the morning after started his breakfast with a good appetite, a few smiles occasionally flickering about his mouth, and they went on the even line of their way.

There is a romance in figures. A young man met a girl, married her and took her on a wedding day, and the morning after started his breakfast with a good appetite, a few smiles occasionally flickering about his mouth, and they went on the even line of their way.

There is a romance in figures. A young man met a girl, married her and took her on a wedding day, and the morning after started his breakfast with a good appetite, a few smiles occasionally flickering about his mouth, and they went on the even line of their way.

There is a romance in figures. A young man met a girl, married her and took her on a wedding day, and the morning after started his breakfast with a good appetite, a few smiles occasionally flickering about his mouth, and they went on the even line of their way.

There is a romance in figures. A young man met a girl, married her and took her on a wedding day, and the morning after started his breakfast with a good appetite, a few smiles occasionally flickering about his mouth, and they went on the even line of their way.

There is a romance in figures. A young man met a girl, married her and took her on a wedding day, and the morning after started his breakfast with a good appetite, a few smiles occasionally flickering about his mouth, and they went on the even line of their way.

There is a romance in figures. A young man met a girl, married her and took her on a wedding day, and the morning after started his breakfast with a good appetite, a few smiles occasionally flickering about his mouth, and they went on the even line of their way.

There is a romance in figures. A young man met a girl, married her and took her on a wedding day, and the morning after started his breakfast with a good appetite, a few smiles occasionally flickering about his mouth, and they went on the even line of their way.

There is a romance in figures. A young man met a girl, married her and took her on a wedding day, and the morning after started his breakfast with a good appetite, a few smiles occasionally flickering about his mouth, and they went on the even line of their way.

There is a romance in figures. A young man met a girl, married her and took her on a wedding day, and the morning after started his breakfast with a good appetite, a few smiles occasionally flickering about his mouth, and they went on the even line of their way.

There is a romance in figures. A young man met a girl, married her and took her on a wedding day, and the morning after started his breakfast with a good appetite, a few smiles occasionally flickering about his mouth, and they went on the even line of their way.

There is a romance in figures. A young man met a girl, married her and took her on a wedding day, and the morning after started his breakfast with a good appetite, a few smiles occasionally flickering about his mouth, and they went on the even line of their way.

There is a romance in figures. A young man met a girl, married her and took her on a wedding day, and the morning after started his breakfast with a good appetite, a few smiles occasionally flickering about his mouth, and they went on the even line of their way.

There is a romance in figures. A young man met a girl, married her and took her on a wedding day, and the morning after started his breakfast with a good appetite, a few smiles occasionally flickering about his mouth, and they went on the even line of their way.

There is a romance in figures. A young man met a girl, married her and took her on a wedding day, and the morning after started his breakfast with a good appetite, a few smiles occasionally flickering about his mouth, and they went on the even line of their way.

There is a romance in figures. A young man met a girl, married her and took her on a wedding day, and the morning after started his breakfast with a good appetite, a few smiles occasionally flickering about his mouth, and they went on the even line of their way.

There is a romance in figures. A young man met a girl, married her and took her on a wedding day, and the morning after started his breakfast with a good appetite, a few smiles occasionally flickering about his mouth, and they went on the even line of their way.

There is a romance in figures. A young man met a girl, married her and took her on a wedding day, and the morning after started his breakfast with a good appetite, a few smiles occasionally flickering about his mouth, and they went on the even line of their way.

There is a romance in figures. A young man met a girl, married her and took her on a wedding day, and the morning after started his breakfast with a good appetite, a few smiles occasionally flickering about his mouth, and they went on the even line of their way.

There is a romance in figures. A young man met a girl, married her and took her on a wedding day, and the morning after started his breakfast with a good appetite, a few smiles occasionally flickering about his mouth, and they went on the even line of their way.

There is a romance in figures. A young man met a girl, married her and took her on a wedding day, and the morning after started his breakfast with a good appetite, a few smiles occasionally flickering about his mouth, and they went on the even line of their way.

There is a romance in figures. A young man met a girl, married her and took her on a wedding day, and the morning after started his breakfast with a good appetite, a few smiles occasionally flickering about his mouth, and they went on the even line of their way.

There is a romance in figures. A young man met a girl, married her and took her on a wedding day, and the morning after started his breakfast with a good appetite, a few smiles occasionally flickering about his mouth, and they went on the even line of their way.

There is a romance in figures. A young man met a girl, married her and took her on a wedding day, and the morning after started his breakfast with a good appetite, a few smiles occasionally flickering about his mouth, and they went on the even line of their way.

There is a romance in figures. A young man met a girl, married her and took her on a wedding day, and the morning after started his breakfast with a good appetite, a few smiles occasionally flickering about his mouth, and they went on the even line of their way.

There is a romance in figures. A young man met a girl, married her and took her on a wedding day, and the morning after started his breakfast with a good appetite, a few smiles occasionally flickering about his mouth, and they went on the even line of their way.

There is a romance in figures. A young man met a girl, married her and took her on a wedding day, and the morning after started his breakfast with a good appetite, a few smiles occasionally flickering about his mouth, and they went on the even line of their way.

There is a romance in figures. A young man met a girl, married her and took her on a wedding day, and the morning after started his breakfast with a good appetite, a few smiles occasionally flickering about his mouth, and they went on the even line of their way.

There is a romance in figures. A young man met a girl, married her and took her on a wedding day, and the morning after started his breakfast with a good appetite, a few smiles occasionally flickering about his mouth, and they went on the even line of their way.

There is a romance in figures. A young man met a girl, married her and took her on a wedding day, and the morning after started his breakfast with a good appetite, a few smiles occasionally flickering about his mouth, and they went on the even line of their way.

There is a romance in figures. A young man met a girl, married her and took her on a wedding day, and the morning after started his breakfast with a good appetite, a few smiles occasionally flickering about his mouth, and they went on the even line of their way.

There is a romance in figures. A young man met a girl, married her and took her on a wedding day, and the morning after started his breakfast with a good appetite, a few smiles occasionally flickering about his mouth, and they went on the even line of their way.

There is a romance in figures. A young man met a girl, married her and took her on a wedding day, and the morning after started his breakfast with a good appetite, a few smiles occasionally flickering about his mouth, and they went on the even line of their way.

There is a romance in figures. A young man met a girl, married her and took her on a wedding day, and the morning after started his breakfast with a good appetite, a few smiles occasionally flickering about his mouth, and they went on the even line of their way.

There is a romance in figures. A young man met a girl, married her and took her on a wedding day, and the morning after started his breakfast with a good appetite, a few smiles occasionally flickering about his mouth, and they went on the even line of their way.

There is a romance in figures. A young man met a girl, married her and took her on a wedding day, and the morning after started his breakfast with a good appetite, a few smiles occasionally flickering about his mouth, and they went on the even line of their way.

There is a romance in figures. A young man met a girl, married her and took her on a wedding day, and the morning after started his breakfast with a good appetite, a few smiles occasionally flickering about his mouth, and they went on the even line of their way.

There is a romance in figures. A young man met a girl, married her and took her on a wedding day, and the morning after started his breakfast with a good appetite, a few smiles occasionally flickering about his mouth, and they went on the even line of their way.

There is a romance in figures. A young man met a girl, married her and took her on a wedding day, and the morning after started his breakfast with a good appetite, a few smiles occasionally flickering about his mouth, and they went on the even line of their way.

There is a romance in figures. A young man met a girl, married her and took her on a wedding day, and the morning after started his breakfast with a good appetite, a few smiles occasionally flickering about his mouth, and they went on the even line of their way.

There is a romance in figures. A young man met a girl, married her and took her on a wedding day, and the morning after started his breakfast with a good appetite, a few smiles occasionally flickering about his mouth, and they went on the even line of their way.

There is a romance in figures. A young man met a girl, married her and took her on a wedding day, and the morning after started his breakfast with a good appetite, a few smiles occasionally flickering about his mouth, and they went on the even line of their way.

There is a romance in figures. A young man met a girl, married her and took her on a wedding day, and the morning after started his breakfast with a good appetite, a few smiles occasionally flickering about his mouth, and they went on the even line of their way.

There is a romance in figures. A young man met a girl, married her and took her on a wedding day, and the morning after started his breakfast with a good appetite, a few smiles occasionally flickering about his mouth, and they went on the even line of their way.

There is a romance in figures. A young man met a girl, married her and took her on a wedding day, and the morning after started his breakfast with a good appetite, a few smiles occasionally flickering about his mouth, and they went on the even line of their way.

There is a romance in figures. A young man met a girl, married her and took her on a wedding day, and the morning after started his breakfast with a good appetite, a few smiles occasionally flickering about his mouth, and they went on the even line of their way.

There is a romance in figures. A young man met a girl, married her and took her on a wedding day, and the morning after started his breakfast with a good appetite, a few smiles occasionally flickering about his mouth, and they went on the even line of their way.

There is a romance in figures. A young man met a girl, married her and took her on a wedding day, and the morning after started his breakfast with a good appetite, a few smiles occasionally flickering about his mouth, and they went on the even line of their way.

There is a romance in figures. A young man met a girl, married her and took her on a wedding day, and the morning after started his breakfast with a good appetite, a few smiles occasionally flickering about his mouth, and they went on the even line of their way.

There is a romance in figures. A young man met a girl, married her and took her on a wedding day, and the morning after started his breakfast with a good appetite, a few smiles occasionally flickering about his mouth, and they went on the even line of their way.

There is a romance in figures. A young man met a girl, married her and took her on a wedding day, and the morning after started his breakfast with a good appetite, a few smiles occasionally flickering about his mouth, and they went on the even line of their way.

There is a romance in figures. A young man met a girl, married her and took her on a wedding day, and the morning after started his breakfast with a good appetite, a few smiles occasionally flickering about his mouth, and they went on the even line of their way.

There is a romance in figures. A young man met a girl, married her and took her on a wedding day, and the morning after started his breakfast with a good appetite, a few smiles occasionally flickering about his mouth, and they went on the even line of their way.

There is a romance in figures. A young man met a girl, married her and took her on a wedding day, and the morning after started his breakfast with a good appetite, a few smiles occasionally flickering about his mouth, and they went on the even line of their way.

There is a romance in figures. A young man met a girl, married her and took her on a wedding day, and the morning after started his breakfast with a good appetite, a few smiles occasionally flickering about his mouth, and they went on the even line of their way.

There is a romance in figures. A young man met a girl, married her and took her on a wedding day, and the morning after started his breakfast with a good appetite, a few smiles occasionally flickering about his mouth, and they went on the even line of their way.

There is a romance in figures. A young man met a girl, married her and took her on a wedding day, and the morning after started his breakfast with a good appetite, a few smiles occasionally flickering about his mouth, and they went on the even line of their way.

There is a romance in figures. A young man met a girl, married her and took her on a wedding day, and the morning after started his breakfast with a good appetite, a few smiles occasionally flickering about his mouth, and they went on the even line of their way.

There is a romance in figures. A young man met a girl, married her and took her on a wedding day, and the morning after started his breakfast with a good appetite, a few smiles occasionally flickering about his mouth, and they went on the even line of their way.

There is a romance in figures. A young man met a girl, married her and took her on a wedding day, and the morning after started his breakfast with a good appetite, a few smiles occasionally flickering about his mouth, and they went on the even line of their way.

There is a romance in figures. A young man met a girl, married her and took her on a wedding day, and the morning after started his breakfast with a good appetite, a few smiles occasionally flickering about his mouth, and they went on the even line of their way.

There is a romance in figures. A young man met a girl, married her and took her on a wedding day, and the morning after started his breakfast with a good appetite, a few smiles occasionally flickering about his mouth, and they went on the even line of their way.

A Three Days' Bride Deal.

Mr. J. W. Brown, who was married in this place, accompanied his friend, Mr. John R. Chapman, to Maryland to serve him in the capacity of "best man" at his marriage.

The marriage took place on Thursday of last week, according to appointment, and on the following Sunday the bride died.

There is a romance in figures. A young man met a girl, married her and took her on a wedding day, and the morning after started his breakfast with a good appetite, a few smiles occasionally flickering about his mouth, and they went on the even line of their way.

There is a romance in figures. A young man met a girl, married her and took her on a wedding day, and the morning after started his breakfast with a good appetite, a few smiles occasionally flickering about his mouth, and they went on the even line of their way.

There is a romance in figures. A young man met a girl, married her and took her on a wedding day, and the morning after started his breakfast with a good appetite, a few smiles occasionally flickering about his mouth, and they went on the even line of their way.

There is a romance in figures. A young man met a girl, married her and took her on a wedding day, and the morning after started his breakfast with a good appetite, a few smiles occasionally flickering about his mouth, and they went on the even line of their way.

There is a romance in figures. A young man met a girl, married her and took her on a wedding day, and the morning after started his breakfast with a good appetite, a few smiles occasionally flickering about his mouth, and they went on the even line of their way.

There is a romance in figures. A young man met a girl, married her and took her on a wedding day, and the morning after started his breakfast with a good appetite, a few smiles occasionally flickering about his mouth, and they went on the even line of their way.

There is a romance in figures. A young man met a girl, married her and took her on a wedding day, and the morning after started his breakfast with a good appetite, a few smiles occasionally flickering about his mouth, and they went on the even line of their way.

There is a romance in figures. A young man met a girl, married her and took her on a wedding day, and the morning after started his breakfast with a good appetite, a few smiles occasionally flickering about his mouth, and they went on the even line of their way.

There is a romance in figures. A young man met a girl, married her and took her on a wedding day, and the morning after started his breakfast with a good appetite, a few smiles occasionally flickering about his mouth, and they went on the even line of their way.

There is a romance in figures. A young man met a girl, married her and took her on a wedding day, and the morning after started his breakfast with a good appetite, a few smiles occasionally flickering about his mouth, and they went on the even line of their way.

There is a romance in figures. A young man met a girl, married her and took her on a wedding day, and the morning after started his breakfast with a good appetite, a few smiles occasionally flickering about his mouth, and they went on the even line of their way.

There is a romance in figures. A young man met a girl, married her and took her on a wedding day, and the morning after started his breakfast with a good appetite, a few smiles occasionally flickering about his mouth, and they went on the even line of their way.

There is a romance in figures. A young man met a girl, married her and took her on a wedding day, and the morning after started his breakfast with a good appetite, a few smiles occasionally flickering about his mouth, and they