

ARTICLE II

Canada and the Argentine Republic shall grant each other reciprocally treatment not less favourable than is accorded to any other foreign country in all matters pertaining to the rates and the allocation of foreign exchange made available for commercial transactions and to the allocation of quotas either in respect of foreign exchange or in respect of the quantitative control of imports. There shall be excepted from this undertaking, however, any special advantages in the granting of foreign exchange which are extended as a consequence of a financial or payments arrangement concluded by the Government of either country with the Government of another country or which the Government of the Argentine Republic may accord to imports from contiguous countries and from Peru.

ARTICLE III

If imports of any article into either country should be regulated either as regards the total amount permitted to be imported or as regards the amount permitted to be imported at a specified rate of duty, and if shares are allocated to countries of export, the share allocated to the other country shall be based upon the proportion of the total imports of such article from all foreign countries supplied by that country in past years, account being taken in so far as practicable in appropriate cases of any special factors which may have affected or may be affecting the trade in that article.

ARTICLE IV

If either country establishes or maintains a monopoly for the importation, production or sale of a particular commodity or grants exclusive privileges, formally or in effect, to one or more agencies to import, produce or sell a particular commodity, the Government of the country establishing or maintaining such monopoly, or granting such monopoly privileges, agrees that in respect of the foreign purchases of such monopoly or agency the commerce of the other country shall receive fair and equitable treatment. To this end it is agreed that in making its foreign purchases of any product such monopoly or agency will be influenced solely by those considerations, such as price, quality, marketability, and terms of sale, which would ordinarily be taken into account by a private commercial enterprise interested solely in purchasing such product on the most favourable terms.

ARTICLE V

Articles the growth, produce or manufacture of Canada or the Argentine Republic shall, after importation into the other country, be exempt from all internal taxes, fees, charges or exactions, other or higher than those payable on like articles of national origin or any other origin, except as otherwise required by laws in force on the day of the signature of this Agreement.

ARTICLE VI

1. In the event that the Government of either country adopts any measure which, even though it does not conflict with the terms of this Agreement, is considered by the Government of the other country to have the effect of nullifying or impairing any object of the Agreement, the Government which has adopted any such measure shall consider such representations and proposals as the other Government may make with a view to effecting a mutually satisfactory adjustment of the matter.
