

the only way to make the Department a valid participant in this work with vastly different and demanding clienteles, domestic and foreign, and to deal with opportunities and problems attending rapid scientific development in the current technological revolution.